IN MEMORIAM

The following poem was written in memory of my beloved husband and our beloved father, Omer (Jack) Humberson, who passed away ten years ago May 2, 1965.

We cannot see the wind,
And yet we know it is there.
We marvel at a dove,
As it glides gracefully through the air.
We cannot grasp a star,
For they are far too high.
We can only stare in wonder,
As they twinkle in the velvet sky.
We hear the song of a bird,
Each note so pure and clear.
No musician has ever written
A Rhapsody as delightful to hear.
We hold a rose in our hand,
Its beauty fills us with rapture.
The delicate color and fragrance,
No artist has been able to capture.
We catch a snowflake as it falls,
To yearn to copy it is in vain.
For the pattern of lace is perfect,
And no two are made the same.
Love is greater than all of these,
And goes beyond time and space.
The joys we shared are a memory.
That even the passing of years can't erase.

Lovingly Remembered by Wife, Thelma (Frantz) Humberson; Daughter, Gina Renai; and Sons, Ivan Jay and Dana Ray Humberson

Oakland Eligible Flood Insurance

Senators J. Glenn Beall, Jr., and Charles McC. Mathias announced that Oakland has been declared eligible for federally-subsidized flood insurance.

The two Maryland senators explained that the low-cost insurance became available on April 18 as a result of agreement by local officials to adopt land use and control measures that would minimize flood damage to future construction.

The flood insurance, which homeowners and businessmen can obtain through their regular insurance agents, costs 25 cents per $100 coverage on residential buildings and 40 cents per $100 for nonresidential buildings. Coverage for the contents of residential buildings is 35 cents, while the rate for nonresidential building contents is 75 cents per $100.

Weather Service Device Is Found

A radio sonde, an instrument used by the National Weather Service is gathering weather data, was recovered on a Mt. Storm farm Tuesday, April 29, and returned to Tim Thomas, NWS observer at Cumberland.

The sonde was probably launched from Pittsburgh, Mr. Thomas said, noting that about 300 such devices are sent up by the NWS each day.

The instrument collects and relays such information as temperatures, wind velocity and barometric pressures.

The device was found by Hazel Hawk on the farm of Bud Hawk east of Bismarck Rd. near Stony River at Mt. Storm. Mr. Thomas asked that any other area residents finding a radio sonde return them to the NWS.

Co. Commissioners Continue Budgeting

The County Commissioners continued in budget work sessions with the Board of Election Supervisors and Board of Library Trustees. Both agencies were given tentative approval to their requests pending finalization of the budgets when the levy is set.

The Board of Library Trustees is responsible for the operation of the Ruth Enlow library and its branches throughout the county. Increases in the budget requests were attributed to increases in salaries and inflationary factors for supplies and materials.

George Browning, Board of Election Supervisors, documented his request for a conversion of the voting machines to include the printomatic system of vote counting. Citing the fact that all government begins with the voter, Mr. Browning told the Commissioners that the voter deserves the best system available to them. Decisions by the Commissioners as to funding of the print-omatic is pending.

The Commissioners also received an updated report on the Garrett Bus System. Plans are currently being made for putting the new buses in service.

Also to be discussed will be location for county council meetings, whether to continue holding them at various schools as in the past, or arrange to find a centrally located meeting place.

New officers elected at the March meeting, to be installed include Mrs. Vincent (Bobbie) Genco, president; Mrs. Hubert (Mary Ellen) Harmon, vice-president; Mrs. William (Carma) White, second vice-president; Mrs. Robert (Ruth) Glotfelty, secretary; William C. Learn New Way To Extinguish Fires

William G. Ashby and James McCartney, from the Ashby Fire Equipment company in Oakland, were in Newark, N. J., last Thursday where they attender a conference of the Fyre-Fyter company to witness a liquid chemical reaction to heat and oxygen when applied to the atmosphere.

The chemical extinguishes a fire by chemically interrupting the chain reaction of combustion. A fireman can breathe in it but it will still put out a fire, according to those who witnessed the demonstration.

Park Concern . . .

There is concern on the part of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland and other interested area citizens about the future of the Broadford Dam and municipal park. It's a beautiful spot. We hope it remains so.

The city has a financial obligation in regard to upkeep and maintenance and thus has arranged a charge for the use of the park and for fishing privileges. Expenses should not have to be taken from the general treasury. For citizens who use the facility the charge is not exhorbitant.

There are those, however, who are taking advantage of the fact that the lake borders the county highway and they do their fishing from the ground adjoining the roadway. Fishermen are obligated to observe state fishing laws in regard to creel limits which is not being done at the present time in many instances. The county is being asked to prohibit parking in that area to prevent traffic hazards, which may relieve the problem.

Nothing will aid the problem, however, any more than the resolve of citizens generally to abide by the regulations, and operate "above board" at all times, and not take advantage of a good thing.

The town of Oakland has a wonderful park. Let's support it in an acceptable manner.

OUTSTANDING ATHLETES at Southern High were recipients of trophies at Awards Banquet last Thursday evening. Guest speaker was Joe Retton, basketball coach at Fairmont State.

Deep Creek Zoning Law Begins June 1

Permanent Ordinance To Regulate Development Along Deep Creek Lake

A permanent zoning ordinance to regulate development along Deep Creek Lake was unanimously passed by the County Commissioners at their meeting on Monday. The ordinance which will become a law on June 1, will replace an interim zoning regulation which had been in effect for the past three years.

Approval of the ordinance marks the first county zoning law placed on the books under the county's comprehensive development plan adopted by the commissioners a year ago.

The zoning law was passed because of concern that the resort and recreation area might become overdeveloped and overcrowded. Monday's approval accompanied by three amendments to the ordinance which deal primarily with front footage requirements along the lake.

The County Planning commission had studied the existing land use pattern, natural features and current usage of lake before voting on a recommendation for a zoning law for the lake. They then sent the recommendation to the commissioners who in turn held a public hearing on the proposal on April 26 at Garrett Community college, McHenry, attracting some 250 persons.

The most controversial aspect of the ordinance deals with the one-acre per single family dwelling restriction. Some developers had sought to have the requirements reduced to three quarters of an acre.

Enforcement of the zoning ordinance will be in the hands of Marshall Rickert, county planning director.

The county will expand its three member zoning appeals board to five members to handle the workload of hearing special cases under the ordinance. Appointments are set for next month.

Members of the planning commission who worked on the ordinance were Wayne B. Hamilton, county commissioner; Charles C. Bender, president; George E. Brady, Jr., Merle A. Garletts, Robert O. Glotfelty, Col. J. Haig Jackson and Thurl W. Tower.

Man Dies Of Burns In Gas Tank Explosion

Lowell Edward Sines, 28, Friendsville, Was Critically Burned April 24

Lowell Edward Sines, 28, of Friendsville, who was severely burned when a fuel storage tank exploded and caught fire early Thursday afternoon, April 24, at Oakland, died at 4:45 a.m. Wednesday in the Burn unit of West Penn hospital in Pittsburgh.

The man had been a passenger in the truck operated by Samuel Eugene Thomas, 50, also of near Friendsville, who died at the scene.

The truck explosion and resultant fire were blamed on gasoline, which had leaked from the tank, falling on a muffler, according to Robert H. Shimer, fire investigator for the state fire marshal's office in Allegany and Garrett counties.

The storage tank had been loaded onto the truck at a storage area about a mile from where the explosion occurred.

Mr. Sines had told a physician he was riding in the cab of the truck which was traveling east on Liberty street when he said he thought the truck had backfired. When he looked around and saw the tank engulfed in flames he tried to get out of the cab when the explosion occurred. Mr. Sines then ran through a yard, his clothing burning, and was found about 98 feet from the scene with burns over 70 percent of his body.

He had been listed in critical condition at the Burn center since the accident.

State To Observe May 30, Holiday

While most of the nation will celebrate Memorial Day on Monday, May 26, this year, the State of Maryland has returned the official holiday to its original May 30 date.

The Maryland Legislature passed a bill last year which made the official holiday in the state May 30, after the federal government had switched Memorial Day to the last Monday in May of each year.

The move to change the date back to May 30 in Maryland was sponsored by various veterans' organizations who felt that we owed it to the veterans to observe the day originally set.

West Virginia and Pennsylvania will go by the federal guidelines. Post offices in Maryland will mark the observance May 26. On the other hand Maryland state, county and city offices, schools and banks, will be closed on Friday, May 30.

Charles (Chick) Briner Honored With Retirement Dinner

Some 120 well-wishers gathered at McHenry House, Wisp Recreational area, Saturday evening to attend a retirement dinner honoring Charles L. (Chick) Briner, who retired April 30 after 35 years with the Employment Security Administration.

Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill, brother-in-law of the honored guest, served as master of ceremonies. Dr. Lawrence Sherwood, pastor of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, gave the invocation and benediction.

Fellow employes at the office sponsoring the dinner were Mrs. George (Mary) Browning, who is the new acting office manager; Verna Harvey, Robert Stanton, Pat Kerns, Gladys Anderson, Mrs. Janet Tichnell, Herbert Wildesen and Heidi Sylvester.

Following the meal, Judge Hamill recounted a brief resume of Mr. Briner's career and his contributions to his community, and read letters and telegrams from well-wishers who were unable to attend, including James Phillips, executive director of the Employment Security Administration; Richard Batterton, ESA secretary; and Clint Englander.

Mr. Briner first joined the ESA in Baltimore in 1937, when it was called the Unemployment Compensation Board. Prior to World War II, he was transferred to the Oakland branch, where Milburn Mann was manager. Others on the staff included Mrs. Mary Browning and Bill Owens, who was later transferred to the Cumberland office and who was present for the dinner.

Mr. Briner was in the South Pacific three years during World War II with the Red Cross, working in Guadalcanal and Iwo Jima.

"DON'T BLAME ME" sings Charles L. (Chick) Briner, left, as he entertained over 120 friends and well-wishers at his retirement dinner Saturday evening at McHenry House, Wisp. Mrs. Belle Lamont Gosnell, right, at the piano, prompted Mr. Briner with words and also regaled the group with several songs from the 1930's, when Chick was an entertainer before going to work for the Employment Security Administration in Maryland. Mr. Briner retired April 30, his birthday, after 35 years with the ESA.

When he returned to work at the Oakland office, the name was changed to the Department of Employment Security, and more recently was re-titled the Employment Security Administration. His jobs included working as a clerk, claims examiner and, since 1963, manager of the Oakland office.

The community's debt of gratitude to Mr. Briner was compounded over many years by his civic and church interests. His list of accomplishments includes president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, secretary of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce; secretary-treasurer of the Oakland Country Club, member of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club since 1955, with participation in the annual minstrel shows; board member at St. Paul's Methodist Church and former board chairman; campaign director of the March of Dimes 25 years; chairman of the annual Christmas treat for many years; and worker for the Heart Fund for 15 years.

He also was instrumental in establishing the local Maryland Classified Employes chapter; Garrett County Community Action committee, and the Garrett County Playhouse, where he is a member of the Board of Governors and has been influential in obtaining the continuing presence of director Gene Yell.

Special guests who made presentations and speeches included Mrs. Katy Bennight, director of Employment Security Administration, who presented Mr. Briner with a Governor's Award and a state citation in recognition of his helpful service; Dr. John Cobun, assistant superintendent of the Maryland State Department of Education and director of the Vocational Rehabilitation division, who is a former guidance counselor at Northern High School and has been a personal friend for over 25 years.

Donald "Pinky" Ebersole, ESA field supervisor presented a gift from the office, friends and employers, Mrs. Beverly Beard, member of the Maryland Classified Employes Association, also presented him with a gift, Mrs. Gladys Anderson and Mrs. Janet Tichnell, fellow employes, presented him with a memory book compiled over the years and the guest book for the dinner. Mr. Briner's daughter, Mrs. Robert (Gretchen) Shaffer, also gave him a gift.

Robert Stanton presented a gift to Mrs. Briner, and read a letter from Milburn Mann.

Entertainment was provided by Mrs. Belle Lamont Gosnell, who sang several songs and performed a duet of "Don't Blame Me" with Mr. Briner which brough a standing ovation from those present.

In his closing remarks, Mr. Briner noted that it had been a pleasure to work with the agency and the staff and concluded, "This moment may be temporary but the memories will last forever."

He was honored on his last day, also his birthday, with a party at the office on Alder Street given by his co-workers.

Following last Thursday morning's rain, skies were mostly cloudy the rest of the day. After some showers early Friday skies became mostly clear. Clouds gathered Saturday morning with rain by afternoon. Showers continued into Sunday morning with occasional clearing but still an occasional shower. Monday was much the same as Sunday with some clear skies by evening. A thunder storm started Tuesday's weather with another series letting loose by late afternoon. Yesterday was mostly sunny. The wettest day was Sunday with 1.06 inches of rain. There was some rain recorded every day but yesterday. The total for the week was 1.83 inches or 6.5 inch above the normal.

The wettest day was the 24th with 1.27 inches followed by 1.08 inches the next day. There was rain on all but three days the last half of the month. There was a thunder storm on the 19th. The wettest day the first half was the 3rd with .57 inch falling as 2 inches of snow. There was light snow on five other days. The total snowfall for the month was 3.6 inches, .8 inch below normal. The total snowfall for the 1974-75 season is 101.5 inches. The normal is 71.2 inches.

April's temperature averaged 4.8 degrees below normal, or 42.4 degrees. Highs averaged 54.5 degrees or 5.9 below normal. The highest occurred on two days, 71 degrees on the 23rd and 29th. Insurance FACTS

An early step toward standardization of the fire insurance contract was undertaken by the New York Board of Fire Underwriters. Long before the state government took over, this board appointed a committee which drew up and presented a policy that seemed fair and met the needs of the time. Massachusetts was the first state to adopt a standard policy form. In 1873, the legislature drew up a form which enacted into a statute. This was the first step toward country-wide state action in the field of fire insurance.

For information on fire insurance, call us at GONDER INSURANCE AGENCY, 203-205 South 2nd St., Oakland, 334-3343. We handle every type of insurance and we pride ourselves on the completeness of our service. We've been serving Garrett County for 54 years but our perspective is on today and tomorrow. We know how to get you the most for your insurance dollar.

Western Lodge 99, FOP, Holds Dance

Members of Western Lodge 99, Fraternal Order of Police, realized $148 profit from a dance the group sponsored Saturday evening at the American Legion home and has earmarked the money to help with club projects such as the organization of a boys' club.

Other fund-raising activities, including an archery shooting match, are being planned for later this year.

Lodge 99, formed last September and affiliated with the state lodge organization, is headed by Hobert Shillingburg, president; William Ferry, vice president; Ward Ashby, chaplain; Tom Gowans, secretary-treasurer; John Walters, trustee to the state lodge; Robert Finch, guard; Chester Evans, conductor.

The lodge meets on the first and third Thursdays of each month at the Elks lodge in Oakland. There are presently over 40 active members and 150 associate members. Anyone 21 or older may join as an associate member by paying a $5.00 initiation fee and $10 yearly dues. Active members are comprised of all police officers with a commission or the ability to make arrests or give summonses. Associate members now have the opportunity to attend meetings.

A banquet for active and associate members will be held annually, beginning this September.

Members of the lodge are available to address clubs and organizations upon request, to explain the Lodge, police functions and procedures, or bicycle safety.

Plan Workshop May 16 At Resource Center

A workshop on the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) will be held on Friday, May 16, at the Western Maryland Vocational Resource center on U.S. route 220, south of Cumberland, near Cresaptown, beginning at 10 a.m. and continuing until 3:30. A buffet lunch will be provided at a cost of $2 per person.

The workshop has resulted from the desire of educational institutions to determine ways to meet the severe economic crisis. Among persons invited to participate are members of the Board of Education, officials at Garrett Community college, Tri-County council executive director, and others. William Stemple, Garrett County CETA administrator, will be a member of a panel discussion.

Convict Pa. Man In Robbery Case

An Allegany County Circuit Court jury Monday found Ronald Eugene Firestone, 23, of route 1, Scottdale, Pa., guilty of robbing a Grantsville man at the westerly edge of Frostburg last September 4.

Three other counts in the indictment charging assault with intent to rob, assault and battery, and petty larceny, were nolle prossed by the state at the close of the trial.

Associate Judge Harold G. Naughton, who presided at the trial, asked for a pre-sentence investigation before passing sentence.

Wendell Loy Wilburn, a Grantsville coal truck driver, was robbed of $42 early in the morning of September 4 on the lot of the Frostburg Tastee-Freeze.

The Grantsville man was one of five witnesses called to testify for the state. Mr. Wilburn said he had stopped to make a phone call while enroute to Frederick with a load of coal when a man whom he identified as Firestone approached him at the booth. Mr. Wilburn said the man forced him to lie down on the parking lot, robbed him, and struck him several times on the back of the head.

Other prosecution witnesses were Sgt. Edward Bevan, Frostburg police, Cpl. Willia, foreman of the state police, who had arrested Firestone earlier that morning on two motor vehicle charges; Lt. Kenneth Morrison, Cumberland detective; and Donald Peck, deputy county investigator.

Allan M. Gerson called the defendant, his wife, Mrs. Sherl Firestone, and his mother, Mrs. Mary Firestone, Mrs. Nellie Allen, Shaft, was foreman of the jury of eight women and four men which deliberated about an hour before returning its verdict.

Garrett Lakers Nip California

Jim Bosley squeezed home Dan Slifko in the last of the 17th inning as Garrett Community college scored a 4 to 3 win over the California State freshmen in the longest game in the Lakers' history last Friday at McHenry.

The winning run was set up when Slifko singled and went to third on a two-bagger by John Raszka. The Lakers jumped to a 2-0 lead in the fourth only to see the visitors push over single runs in the sixth and ninth to knot the contest.

In the top of the 13th Brhka singled home Steele to give the Vulcans their first lead of the game. In the bottom of the frame Slifko provided his first heroics with a two-out solo homer to again tie the contest.

Ernie Shotwell, the third Laker twirler, got the win. The Lakers are 21 to 3 on the campaign.

Rams Defeated By Vikings 10-5

Petersburg, fighting back twice to overcome Southern leads after the first two innings, capitalized on eight Ram errors to defeat previously unbeaten Southern 10 to 5 last Saturday on the Viking diamond. The Vikings had also beaten the Moorefield Yellow Jackets on Friday, 3 to 1.

Southern had gained a 9 to 8 victory over the Vikings in an earlier game. Southern slipped to a 4-1 record in the PVC.

Southern had appeared to repeat its performance by jumping out to a 2-0 lead after the first half inning, but the Vikings scored four runs in their half of the opening frame. The Rams went ahead 5 to 4 in the top of the second but Gary Welch couldn't stop the Viking attack and was pulled for Dan Bosley after two outs in the second inning with the Vikings up 9 to 5.

Only the first of all 10 Viking runs was earned as Welch gave up nine of them while also allowing eight hits and four walks. Bosley finished for the Rams and shut off the pillage with just two hits and five strikeouts.

Dave Shotwell had a triple and a single for three RBIs for Southern.

Councilman Recounts Beauties Of Broadford Dam City Park

The citizens of Oakland can be proud of owning one of the finest and most beautiful recreation parks in Maryland, the Broadford recreation area which opened three weeks ago, it was pointed out by Gordon (Sandy) Douglass, member of the Oakland city council and fishing enthusiast, "It's delightful," he says.

He continues: "One hundred forty acres of beautiful lake stocked with fish, a wooded park equipped with outdoor tables, grills for picnicking, a sand beach and bathhouse for swimming, a boat launching ramp and parking area, a park designed for all the family."

The mayor and remaining councilmen agree with "Sandy's" feelings about the area.

He continues: "The Broadford Recreation Area is a part of the Broadford Dam Project co-sponsored by the Federal, State and Town for flood control, water supply and recreation. It has brought us the flood protection of the dam, a new source for clean and better-tasting water, and the Bausch and Lomb plant which is providing hundreds of jobs and bringing millions of dollars into the County. And it has given us the beautiful new park for all of us to enjoy.

"But along with the many benefits, the Town of Oakland has had to assume responsibility of operating and maintaining the park, and this is a major undertaking. It is expected that when the park is running at full capacity, including operating the swimimng beach and bathhouse when the sewer system has been completed, a staff of about fifteen persons will be required. The upkeep and maintenance alone will be a big job. All of this will require a budget conservatively estimated at some $50,000 per year in addition to fixed payments to FHA amounting to $26,000 annually to be paid by the Town.

"It is hoped that the entrance fees will help cover the costs of operation. Otherwise the money will have to come from local Town taxes. It is therefore in the interest of all of us to support the Recreation Area by using it and by talking it up to out-of-towners. And by willingly paying the modest entrance fees.

Broadford Lake has been stocked with fish and the fishing is excellent! But remember that the fishing is made possible by the lake and the park which are the property of the Town of Oakland and operated at Town expense, and it seems only right for the Town to expect those using the lake, those catching the fish, to contribute their share toward the cost of maintenance.

'There is a modest fee for using the park, and the park cannot be maintained without the support of those using it. Since the Town owns all of the land around the lake anyone fishing outside the park is trespassing on Tow property. Let's be fair about it. Just remember that it is OUR park and we can't expect something for nothing"

Action concerning projects in Garrett County was taken by the Health Plannig Council of Appalachia Maryland, Inc., at meetings on April 8 and 28.

Appointment of Richard W. Janney of this county as a member of the advisory committee, was approved.

Approval of a Garrett county health department ARC grant proposal entitled "Garrett County Preventive Health Services for Pre-School Children," and approval of the Commissioner's ARC grant entitled "Garrett County Health Department Communications,"; and approval of Western Maryland Health Care corporation's ARC grant entitled "Grantsville Health Center Service Expansion", and appointment of Dr. Gilson Meadors III, to the committee from Garrett County, were also acted upon.

Forest Service Expects Overflow Of Persons To Area

The Forest Service of Maryland's Department of Natural Resources is preparing for an expected heavy overflow of visitors to the county's 70,000 acres of forested lands.

Three state forests managed by MFS in the county are Swallow Falls, Potomac and Savage River. Biggest is the latter with some 52,000 acres. Three major mountain ridges, Big Savage, Meadow and Negro mountains lie within the forest. Headquarters is adjacent to New Germany state park.

Two state parks, operated by the Maryland Park Service, are located within its boundaries, New Germany and Big Run. Deep Creek Lake State Park is not far away.

Next largest state forest is Potomac, with over 12,000 acres located along Backbone mountain and at the headwaters of the Potomac river. Headquarters is at route 3, Deer Park.

Swallow Falls State forest, with some 7,000 acres, is near the West Virginia border. Within its area are two state parks, Swallow Falls and Herrington Manor, the latter with a 53-acre recreational lake.

The 3 state forests offer a variety of recreational activities including hunting, fishng and primitive camping. Last year nearly 250,000 people visited. There is no admission fee but registration with the forest superintendent headquarters is required for campers. There are 22½ miles of hiking trails in the state forest preserves.

This month the dogwood, azalea, serviceberry or shad bush, hawthorn and red bud will put on their annual show. The rhododendron display comes in July, with a big display in the Savage River forest area.

Last year over 36,000 primitive campers checked into the state forest system. Stocked trout streams abound, the best being Muddy Creek, Savage River, Puzzley Run and Big Run. Savage River reservoir is also stocked with trout. Other native trout streams are popular. Licenses are required and the daily limit is seven.

Stocking of Bear Creek and Savage River will occur around May 11 when these streams will be closed for two weeks. Many bird watchers also come to watch the massive hawk migrations which occur in the Backbone Mountain area up until mid-May.

The U.S. economic activity declined slightly in March.

Pen-Mar Opens Sunday, May 11

The Keyser Merchants will be back to defend their regular season and playoff titles when the Pen-Mar baseball league launches its 27th season with three double headers Sunday, May 11.

The Merchants won the pennant last year with a 16-1 record when the league operated with 6 teams and went on to beat Cumberland and Mt. Savage in the playoffs.

The league has expanded to seven teams with the addition of Romney and each team will play a 24-game schedule. Returning along with Keyser are Cumberland, Mt. Savage, Everett, Hyndman and Oakland. Each team is scheduled to play 12 doubleheaders and all games will be seven innings.

The openers Sunday will have Keyser at Everett, Mt. Savage at Cumberland, and Oakland at Hyndman. Romney drew the opening day bye.

The Oakland team will play three double headers on Saturdays during the season and nine double headers on Sunday.

Oakland home games will be played at Garrett Community college field.

Partial Solar Eclipse

A partial eclipse of the sun will occur on Sunday at 2:05 a.m. The eclipse will be visible in North Africa, Europe, North Asia and the edge of the Northeastern corner of North America.

During a partial eclipse, the moon does not pass directly between the earth and the sun. It moves so that it is partly between these two celesial bodies and only partly covers the sun. This is because the moon must be at the point in its orbit at which the Lunar orbit crosses the earth's orbit for a total solar eclipse to occur. The moon's orbit crosses the earth's orbit at two places. When the moon is not exactly at one of these places, but near it a partial eclipse occurs.

The moon passes through its New Moon Phase at 2:05 a.m. on Sunday morning. By Tuesday a crescent moon will be visible in the early evening sky. Moon set varies from 5:59 p.m. to 11:42 p.m. during the week.

Five planets are easily visible. Mercury is visible just above the Western horizon for an hour after sunset. Venus is bright enough to be seen during the daylight. It sets three hours after the sun. Saturn is among the stars of Gemini. It is moving closer to Venus during the week. Jupiter is very bright for an hour before sunrise. Mars is to the upper right of Jupiter.

The daylight continues to lengthen each day. Sunrise was at 7:11 a.m. this morning. Sunset will be thirteen hours six minutes later. Wednesday sunrise will be five minutes earlier and sunset will be six minutes later. Wednesday will have eleven minutes more daylight than today.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I would like to reply to Eugene Herndon's complaint about the charges at Broadford Dam. First of all, Mr. Herndon's $7.00 for a state fishing license hardly covers the cost of the fish he already has caught so far this year, and the season is just opening. Our tax money pays for the fish, yes, but over the state relatively few taxpayers fish and the fisherman, such as Mr. Herndon, gets his fish paid for by the taxes the rest of us pay.

$15.00 is too much to pay for a season's use of the Broadford Recreation Area? Ten or fifteen cents a day, with free fish, is too much? Then he should go to Deep Creek Lake where it's free, but how much will he spend for gas and travel? The charge is $1.50 to go in at Herrington, and only $1.00 at Broadford. And has Herrington a season pass?

The charge at Broadford is for the lake which is owned and maintained by the Town of Oakland, and if the fishermen don't pay their way the rest of the taxpayers will have to make it up. And without the lake there would not be any fishing there. Those who fish from the road trepass on Town property because according to the map the Town owns all the land around the lake.

John Reckner, Jr.

Dear Sir:

This is in reference to an article in The Republican, May 1st. The title of the article was "Mountain Club Clears Items of Differences". Of course this article pertains to plans for building a large dam on Muddy Creek approximately two miles above beautiful Muddy Creek Falls.

I beg to differ with the idea expressed that the opposition came from just a few people who attended the hearing July 20, 1974. More than six hundred citizens of Garrett County voiced their opposition by means of petitions which were delivered to the Water Resources Administration.

We are glad to note that another hearing is being planned for May or June this year. It is to be hoped that it will be well publicized and that the general public may be well represented. This matter deserves careful, unbiased consideration.

Sincerely yours,
B. O. Aiken

Dear Editor:

I think this Vietnam thing has been made too much of. As citizens of America we could not feel guilty as we lost 50,000 top grade, healthy, strong men and boys, with thousands more crippled, blind and diseased as our reward. I believe in helping people but our people first.

A friend of mine in the Accident area lost her son in Vietnam. All she got was broken health. People who could have helped her, sat by and saw her lose her new trailer home with three children in school. I think this is the tragic part of Vietnam.

We in America will help strangers who don't know us, but we will let our neighbor's children starve, across the road, and have them arrested if they walk in our yard. God help us as a country to look out for the way we fool ourselves and others of how we love our neighbors. Are any of us truly Christian or just talkers.

Court Affirms Ruling On Deed

The Maryland Court of Appeals has filed an opinion affirming a decision of Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill, in Garrett County Court which he decided that there was no valid delivery of a deed.

Frank Thomas, a widower, owned eight acres of land in this county upon which his home was located. On June 4, 1963, he executed a deed prepared by his attorney, conveying this land in fee simple, to Mrs. Wilma Belle Fike, his eldest daughter, and one of the petitioners in the case.

"She was said to have been a natural object of his county since, after the death of her mother in 1931, she remained at home for 12 years to assist in the rearing of the remainder of the children," the Court of Appeals wrote.

Mrs. Helen Harshbarger, one of the respondents in the case, aided her father in some of the business affairs by handling bank deposits and other affairs. She said she knew of the existence of the deed "for two or so" prior to its delivery to her.

Mr. Thomas died on May 23, 1972. The exact circumstances under which the deed passed into the possession of the grantee are not considered important to the Court of Appeals decision.

The deed was recorded in the office of the clerk of Garrett County Circuit Court on June 5, 1972. On September 11, 1972, the personal representative of the estate of Mr. Thomas and all of the heirs at law other than the grantee brought suit to have the deed declared null and void.

Juge Hamill concluded the opinion in the following words:

"The sole issue in this case is whether or not there was a proper and legal delivery of the deed from Frank Thomas to Wilma Belle Fike. I am of the opinion that since the deed was delivered to Mrs. Harshbarger, a daughter of the grantor, without any evidence whatsoever to indicate that Mr. Thomas surrendered control over same during his lifetime, it was not a valid delivery of the deed under the laws of the State of Maryland."

The Court of Appeals cited an opinion of 100 years ago.

"One hundred years ago our predecessors, through Judge Robinson, stated that to constitute delivery of a deed the grantor must do some act putting it beyond his power to revoke, that there can be no valid delivery so long as the deed is within the control and subject to his authority, although delivery need not be to the grantee, but may be to a third party authorized to receive it, or even to a stranger for the use of the grantee.

"We are unable on this record to say that he (Judge Hamill) erred in his conclusion from the evidence that the deed was not irrevocably placed by the grantor in the hands of the third party and thus there was no valid delivery of the deed."

William W. Grant was attorney for Mrs. Fike, and W. Dwight Stover was attorney for Mrs. Harshbarger.

Southern Rally Trims Piedmont

With two out in the bottom of the last inning, catcher Paul Glotfelty singled in the winning run which gave undefeated Southern High a 4 to 3 victory over Piedmont last Friday at Oakland, The Potomac Valley Conference victory kept the winning Rams perfect in four starts.

Piedmont took a 3 to 0 lead in the top of the third, moving ahead on three walks, one run scored on an overthrow to third, and another on a wild pitch, and the third tally scored on a fielder's choice.

With two out in the bottom of the third Southern cashed in on a walk and a chain of three singles to cut the Lion lead to 3-2. Still trailing by one run Southern gave up two outs in the bottom of the final inning. Center fielder Bob Fletcher singled, stole second and third and scored when the Piedmont catcher overthrew third. Then Dave Shotwell walked and also stole second and third, setting up the situation for Glotfelty's winning single.

PONDER AWHILE

by Thomas E. Doyle

What is YAF?? It's getting around quite a bit and it's good. It means YOUNG AMERICANS for FREEDOM. Who can join? Any American who thinks America, the flag and apple pie are still good. I'm a member and I urge anyone, who thinks along the conservative lines, to consider joining.

It just so happens that YAF is introducing a new committee this Saturday night at 7:30 at the First National Bank Community Room in Oakland. You'll hear a few words from the new state chairman of YAF Elwood Groves. He's a young man that Garrett Countians can be very proud of, to call their own.

Have you heard of Ronald Reagan or John Wayne? They're members. Read just a few of the principles outlined in The Sharon Statement: THAT foremost among the transcendent values is the individual's use of his God-given free will, whence derives his right to be free from the restrictions of arbitrary force.

That liberty is indivisible, and that political freedom cannot long exist without economic freedom; —— They go on, and they are words put together by good people who seek to preserve our freedoms, our God given rights which too many government bureaucrats are trying to take.

Drop me a line and I'll send you a copy of the Sharon statement. Read it then decide for yourself. My address is Box 165, Oakland, Md. 21550.

Do you care about Freedom? Take a stand with us and be proud to be an American — and know why you should work for conservative causes, such as protection of our free enterprise system, strong national defense, constitutional government which provides justice for all.

PONDER THAT AWHILE — then join with us.

A TRIBUTE

We honor the memory of Mrs. Kathryn Jane Frazee, mother of Mrs. Icie Huff, on this Mother's Day.

The beauty of her character was that of a Christian lady, always ready to lend a helping hand, to comfort, to uplift, and as her suffering drew to a close, a Heavenly voice seemed to speak to her, "It is enough, tired soul! What is unfinished I will finish for you, and you may repay me with service in the brighter world." Welcome to her was the morning bright on the golden hills beyond the river. The spirit took its flight and the tired soul went home to God to finish her work. She has gone, but from the brink of the river where the throne light and sunlight is blending, in colors of Heavenly delight she calls back to us, do not mourn because I died.

WHAT IS THE CHURCH?

The word "church" means many things to many people. To some it is a particular historic denomination. Others use the word of an invisible family, consisting of the devout in all denominations. Still others speak of a particular historical movement or religious association, even though it might lack official denominational structure. And then there are those, unlike those just mentioned, who use the word "church" in a Biblical sense. For Jesus personally promised: "Upon this rock I will build my church and the gates of hades shall not prevail against her" (Matt. 16:18). If we can learn from Jesus and His apostles how to define what He has here promised to construct, then we will have learned just what the "church" is.

Our word church comes from a Greek word meaning "the assembly". In the New Testament the church or assembly always refers to people, not to an impersonal institution to which the people belong, nor does it refer to a building. This term stresses the togetherness of God's people; each of whom is part of a group larger than himself. It also distinguishes these people from those not included in the group so distinguished.

The church is being "built" throughout this present age by the preaching of the Gospel. This "building" began on Pentecost when the first announcement was made of Jesus' position at God's right hand and the first offer of salvation was extended in His name (Acts 2:1-47). Three thousand believers responded to the offer by repentance and baptism. It continues to be built through the present age as the same Gospel is preached, the same announcement is believed and the same offer is accepted in the same manner.

The church consists of every individual since Pentecost who has responded to the Gospel and has maintained a personal relationship with Jesus Christ.

Today, this church is resting on a very solid foundation: the divine person of Jesus Christ. "Upon this rock" refers to Jesus Christ, who is confessed by faith to be the Son of God. Peter had just made this confession concerning Jesus in Matthew 16:16. Those who are built on Christ will never be disappointed in their confidence or betrayed in their trust.

By the very fact of its presence, the church is assured of ultimate victory over all opposition: "The gates of hades shall not prevail against her." The very Gospel message, by which the church is gathered, announces Jesus' personal victory over death and the power of satan (Acts 2:23, 24).

The church, according to the very terms of Jesus' own promises, is simply that group of people, who, throughout this present age, are called by the Gospel, into a personal relationship with Jesus, and who are therefore assured of a solid foundation and ultimate victory.

You don't need to know much about polar bears to get the message here. This cub hasn't a worry in the world. But one day he'll grow up to know all the frustrations of life in captivity.

Motherhood is security...but only for awhile. And the human mother is no more able to perpetuate the bond of total protection than is her wild counterpart.

Some parents today have abdicated their responsibility to guide their children. They have broken the family bonds too soon. Their children pay for this negligence: They age—but they don't mature.

Whims are fickle...and momentary. The Church strives to replace such elusive goals with something more substantial, something more stable. The inner values of character and faith remain as vital today as ever.

In our turbulent society, tranquility can only be found inside a person. Such stability and serenity could be your greatest gift to your child.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

RECOGNIZING "HOLY PEOPLE"

Lesson for May 11, 1975

Background Scripture: Leviticus 19.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 24: 1-6.

Several months ago I led a tour to the Holy Lands of the Middle East. On the itinerary were visits to Greece, Egypt, Lebanon, and Israel. Although the purpose of our pilgrimage was to focus on Christianity, we also had an opportunity to observe the relics of other ancient religions: those of the Egyptians, the Greeks, the Romans, the Canaanites, and the Phoenicians.

Rev. Althouse

Particularly impressive were the pyramids in Egypt, the Parthenon in Athens, and the colossal Roman ruins at Baalbek in Lebanon. Even if Herod's temple in Jerusalem had survived today, Judaism would still have no architectural monument to even come close to competing with these. The Jews were not builders of monuments.

"You shall be holy"

Yet, it seemed to me, that great and amazing as these monuments are e. today, Judaism—and ultimately Christianity—have something else that greatly overshadows the greatest of all religious monuments: a moral imperative! By contrast, the ancient religions of the Greeks, Egyptians, Romans, Canaanites and Phoenicians were primarily religions of ritual. Their focus was the use of ritual and sacrifice to influence capricious gods. Winning the favor of the gods was primarily a matter of what one did in the temple. Religion had very little to do with affecting the moral tone of society.

By contrast, [illegible] very much concerned with the morals by which people lived their daily lives. Although for many years Jewish worship was centered in the temple at Jerusalem, the prophets and others emphasized the primacy of the moral laws. Right living, they said, was much more important than right worship.

We can see this same thrust in the early law codes of Israel. In Leviticus, for example, God lays it on the line: "You shall be holy; for I the Lord your God am holy" (Leviticus 19:2). The term "holy," means "special," "set apart." They are not to be like all others; they are to be unique. And their uniqueness will be their morality, just as the uniqueness of the Hebrew God, in contrast to the pagan gods, is in his holiness, or moral perfection.

"All my ordinances"

The Jewish concept of holiness was revolutionary. It indicated, for example, that there must be a concern and provision for the needs of "the poor and the sojourner" (19:9,10). Something extra should always be left in the field and vineyards to feed those who cannot provide adequately for themselves. A portion of what everyman harvests should be set aside for the needy. Helping others was never an optional matter.

It is clear that God also requires truthfulness in dealing with others and honesty in all business matters. Particularly, let there be no shortweighting of the customer (19:35). Also God is concerned that we do not take advantage of or cause any harm to those who are at a disadvantage. Coercing our neighbor is no less dishonest than robbing him. Finally, we are to live peaceably with our neighbor, avoiding all hate and vengeance.

One cannot choose and pick which of these moral laws to observe. We will be recognized as God's "Holy people" if we faithfully keep "all my statutes and all my ordinances."

Melvin Baker Now On CB Airwaves

Melvin Baker, Crellin, has a new name for his friends to remember. He is now called "Whirly Bird" and is in contact with the other CB radio operators in the area.

Melvin, who is 30, has been handicapped for 15 years following a bout with polio, and joined the ranks of CB'ers through the help of concerned friends.

The problem of getting a radio set was presented to the Local United Women's Christian Society which checked into the possibilities of purchasing one.

The CB radio Club of Oakland was contacted about various types of sets and prices, then the club discussed the problem at a recent meeting and decided to donate a base radio which was not being used by their members.

The United Women's Christian Society purchased extra crystals and coaxials which the set needed.

Other local people, Darl Friend of Crellin and Eugene M. Paugh and son Mike, Boiling Spring road, Deer Park, donated the antenna and were responsible for putting it up.

On Saturday, April 19, at approximately 3:45 p.m. Whirly Bird went on the air and opened a door to better communication with the world.

Melvin is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Worley Baker, Crellin. In addition to his radio, he enjoys reading, listening to records and his talking book machine, and watching television.

Some of the Vietnamese children are not 'orphans' but children of wealthy families and Saigon officials who wanted them flown to safety.

Motorcycle Wreck Causes Injury To Friendsville Man

A Friendville man was treated and released from the hospital after having been thrown from his motorcycle in a mishap in Friendsville last Thursday evening. Several non-injury accidents were noted.

Melvin Gene Kahl, Friendsville, was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

William Edward McCombie, also of Friendsville, was traveling west on Maple street as Kahl was traveling east, in the process of making a left hand turn on Second Avenue. Kahl struck the McCombie car. Apparently the motorcycle was dragged under the McCombie car as Kahl was thrown on top. Tfc. Dale K. Williams charged Kahl with operating without a license and failing to grant the right-of-way when making a left turn.

A two-vehicle mishap occurred on Kings Run road last Friday morning. Elsie Bowers, RD 2, Deer Park, was traveling west, as Robert S. Murphy, of Friendsville, was traveling east, failed to keep to the right side of the road and struck the Bowers' car. Murphy was driving a half ton truck and was charged by Cpl. S. M. Russell with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Fog was the apparent cause of a one-car accident on U.S. 40, 1.3 miles west of Green Lantern road early last Wednesday. Mark D. Wharton, Glen Burnie, was following the yellow line in fog and came to a spot where the road was repaired and had not yet been lined. Wharton could not follow the road, ran off the left side, recrossed the road to the right side and struck the guardrail. Trooper R. C. Georg investigated.

Two hit and run accidents were noted.

Karen Sue Collins, Bradley Manor, Oakland, was traveling west on the Crellin-Hutton road the afternoon of April 28, preparing to make a right turn into the Oakland-Rosedale road. Robert H. Stemple, RD 1, Oakland, following, ran into the left rear of the Collins car and failed to stop. The license number was obtained and Stemple was later apprehended. Tfc. R. S. Lewis charged Stemple with failing to stop following a vehicle damage accident and failing to display registration plates properly.

The properly parked, unattended car of Ward D. Clemens was on a parking lot just off U.S. 219 about two miles south of Thayerville the morning of April 27. The car was apparently struck some time during the night and the driver left the scene. Tfc. E. J. Upole investigated.

Since the advent of television, professional wrestling, which had previously lost public favor in the United States, has gained enormously in popularity. However, most modern professional wrestling bouts are more properly exhibitions, not contests. These may be highly entertaining, full of ludicrous antics, but they are certainly not representations of classical wrestling skills. These pseudo-wrestlers even bring the referee into the act, sometimes including him in the fight, as well.

This New Polyester Cord Tire Helps Hold The Line On Price

All-Weather 78

Goodyear's new All-Weather 78 is built with polyester cord that's first tempered in an exclusive Goodyear process to set the cord at optimum strength and resilience. The wide 78-series tread is "reverse molded," a technique borrowed from race tire production. In reverse molding, the contour of the tread surface is slightly concave as it comes from the mold — so that when the tire is inflated, the tread makes full, flat contact with the road. And the rib-type tread design is well grooved, with plenty of traction edges to provide decisive grip. In every detail, this new All-Weather 78 gives you honest quality, at a price that's in step with the time.

Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

Pv-3 Joyann Louise Ayres, formerly of Oakland, and U. S. Marine Corporal John Fred Weltner, Sheridan, Wyoming, were united in marriage on Friday evening, April 4, at 7:30 o'clock in the chapel at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds, by Major James Grant, base chaplain, in a double ring military ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. (Patty) Ahern, route 2, Swanton, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Weltner, 713 Carrington street, Sheridan.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride wore the traditional wedding gown of French and Chantilly lace, with a four-foot train, handmade and first worn by her mother, June 2, 1973. The train was carried by her six year old cousin, Lisa Warnick, who wore a dress and headdress of pink and green. The bride carried a corsage of pink roses and baby's breath, with pink streamers.

Bridesmaid was Pfc. Faith Troutman, of Arizona. She wore a green dress and accessories, and carried a corsage of yellow daisies and green baby's breath with green streamers. Best man was Gunnery Sergeant Gordon, of Mexico.

Mrs. Ahern, mother of the bride, wore a pink lace suit, street length, with a white carnation.

In attendance were army and marine recruits from the Proving Grounds. Also in addition to the bride's parents were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther R. Warnick, a younger sister, Ruby Ayres; her uncle and aunt, Delmos and Ruth Warnick and three daughters, Lisa, Vickie and Paula Warnick, Oakland.

A reception was held at the base apartment of Pfc. Phil and Pfc. Linda Shrepe where cake and punch were served.

Corporal Weltner is making a career of the service. He served two enlistments in South Vietnam, winning campaign and service ribbons, also the presidential unit citation, the meritorious unit citaton, two purple hearts and the bronze star. He will be stationed at Aberdeen until the last of May and after a thirty-day leave he will leave the last of June for an assignment on Okinawa. His grandparents are from Pennsylvania.

The bride attended Oakland Elementary and Southern High before going to Texas. She worked for the Selective Service board in Hagerstown for one year and was graduated from John Tyler high school, Tyler, Texas, at which time she registered for the service. She was attending John Tyler College at the time she entered the army. She also will make a career of the service.

An opn house wedding shower is planned at the home of her parents, on Green Glade road on Saturday evening, May 10, from 7:30 to 10 o'clock.

Quite an Impact . . .

The dream of the late George Loar in visualizing a hospital in Oakland in the late 1940s, sparked by his initial gift of $175,000, has resulted in quite an impact on the community during the twenty-five years of its existence.

Garrett County Memorial hospital has been open since 1950 and during the quarter century has had thousands of patients, and a lesser number of births. It has been a most valuable asset to Garrett county.

The original hospital had 35 beds and 15 employees when it opened. Capacity of the hospital was increased to 54 beds in 1955 and another expansion program, completed in 1971, brought the bed capacity to 72.

The original gift was augmented by $102,000 through public subscription and additional money was received through the Hill-Burton Act, and additional gifts.

An appropriate program in observance of the 25th anniversary is to be held Sunday in Southern High cafetorium. It will mark a significant milestone in the growth of Oakland. All citizens should be justly proud.

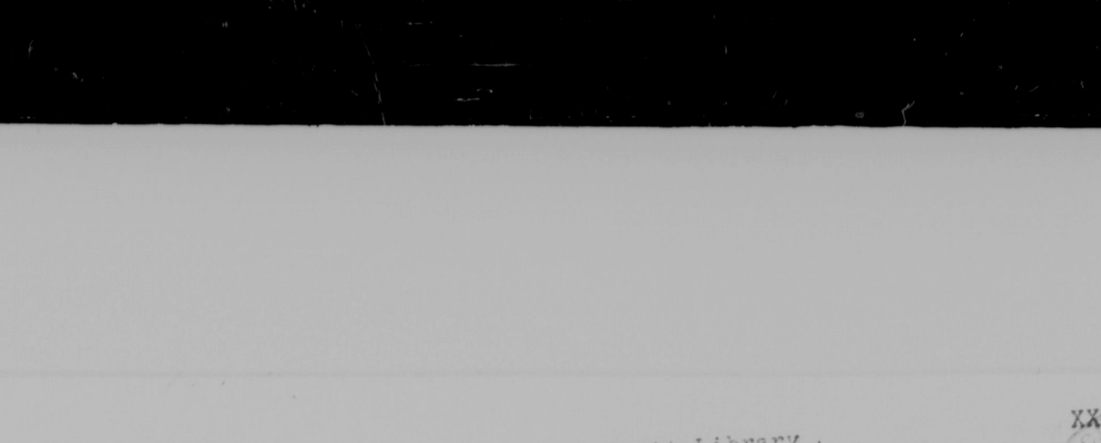
School Health Advisory Committee Discusses Proposed New Program

A progress report from the county's School Health Advisory committee was received by the Board of Education at a regular board meeting last Thursday.

Albert Ringer, director of instruction and curriculum, reviewed the six major health areas as defined by the Maryland State Department of Education.

Richard Travis, chairman of the committee, indicated general support by the majority of the committee for most of the suggested curriculum areas, with less general agreement on the area of Family Life and Human Development (By-law 321-1-. Mr. Travis said for this reason much of the committee's time in the nine meetings to date had been spent examining proposed curriculum guidelines and resource materials in this area. The by-law was adopted in 1970 by the state department following extensive hearings in which proponents and opponents of sex education programs were heard.

The local Board of Education appointed this committee on April 12, 1973, the membership representing educational and health services, students, parents and a cross section of citizens.



In order to insure the public that the Board is following a legal, reasonable and practical approach for this county, as its members study this aspect of the curriculum, the board reaffirmed its position and adopted the following sequence of procedures and events to be followed as the board considers the adoption of new programs in this area.

The health advisory committee will complete its review of materials and media and provide tentative guidance to the professional curriculum writing committee in health education which meets this summer.

The writing committee will then present its product in working form to the health advisory committee.

The advisory committee will

Mrs. Elisabeth Thayer, immediate past president, second from left, presented the crib to Mr. Feather. The crib's total cost was $1,700.

Evans Qualifies Sat. As Cardiac Rescue Technician

Dave Evans, senior student at Southern High school, was notified last Saturday by the Maryland Board of Medical Examiners that he had qualified as a cardiac rescue technician.

Evans had previously been certified an emergency medical technician in 1973, and at that time he was one of the youngest charter members of the Southern Rescue Squad. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Evans, of Oakland.

Dave is also active in extra curricular activities at the school. He has been a drum major of Southern High band for four years and placed third in drum majoring at a recent band camp at Ogiebay in Wheeling. He also has received a medal for all-state band. An honor roll student, he is listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students," and also the "Society for Distinguished American High School Students." He has been cited by Optimist International during Youth Appreciation Week. He is one of the students nominated for the Danforth award this year.

Evans has been accepted at West Virginia university for the ensuing term and plans to go into the medical curriculum.

Child Critically Burned Monday

Four-year-old Jeffrey Lewis remains in critical condition at the Pittsburgh Burn Center intensive care unit following an accident at his home in Coriath Monday evening.

Jeffrey, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Paul Lewis, was burned over 50 percent of his body and also sustained burns on the inside of his mouth. His parents are not sure how the accident occurred, as the child was not in the kitchen of his home at the time.

A neighbor, Lewis Keener, took the child to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and members of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad made the transfer to Pittsburgh.

DRUG INFORMATION was dispensed by Detective Sgt. Joe Newman, right, of the Baltimore City police department narcotics division, to the high schools and police departments in the county this week. Heat, Light Costs Exceed Budget In County Schools

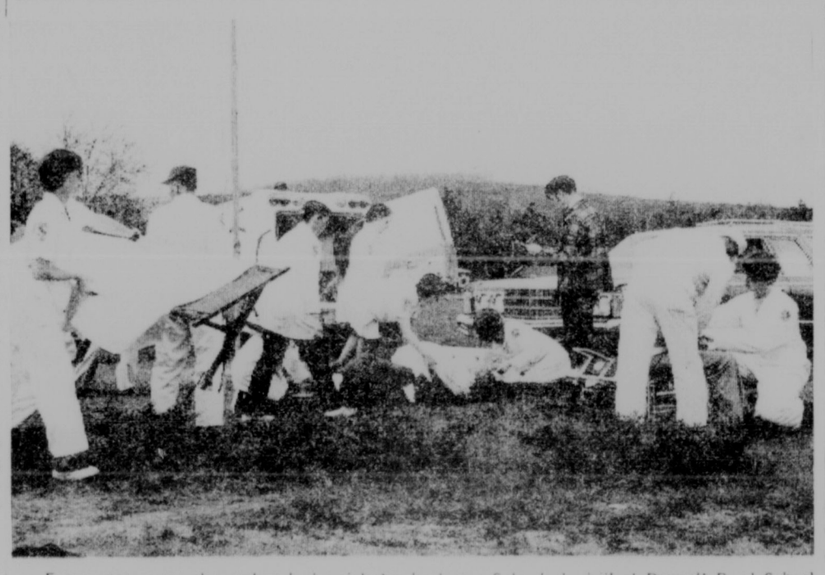
At the May 8 meeting of the County Board of Education, in reviewing the monthly financial statement, Dr. William Buser, county superintendent of Schools, pointed out that it would be necessary for the first time in three years for the Board to request of the County Commissioners that permission be granted to transfer funds from budget categories which will not be expended to a budget category that exceeded the budget estimates, specifically expenses for heat and electricity.

The Operations category of the school board budget which contains custodial services, oil, coal and electricity costs, will be exceeded by possibly 20 to ceeded by possibly twenty to thirty thousand dollars.



Dr. Buser said an up to date estimate will be presented to the Board of Education for its action and action by the County Commisisoners at the June meeting. Dr. Buser said that while many conservation measures had been taken, the great increase in costs the past year were not anticipated to this extent. Estimated budget expenditures in the areas of heating and electricity costs for fiscal year 1976 will require at least a 50 percent increase in budget funds, according to current estimate developed by the Board of Education staff, he stated.

Many of the "victims" were boy scouts who volunteered.

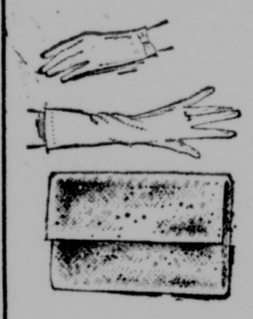
Project To Eliminate Sludge Underflow At Lake



A $300,000 project to eliminate sludge underflow (river mud) return to the Potomac River is ready for shakedown operation at Westvaco's Luke mill, according to an announcement by David G. McMaster, mill manager.

This project, one of the few of its kind to be tried, took 8 months to complete. Shakedown operations will begin this week and full operation will start soon.

The project will collect underflow sludges (river mud) from the Luke mill water filtration plant as it processes water from the Potomac River into drinking water. Westvaco produces some 30 million gallons of potable water daily.

These sludges will be used as a sluice medium for fly ash collected from boiler stacks. The fly ash and backwash material will be sluiced to a settling basin across the Potomac River, from which the settled solids will be removed and disposed of by landfill method.

Billy Craddock To Perform May 25

by Carol Canan

A country and western show featuring Billy "Crash" Craddock will be held Sunday, May 25, at 3 p.m. and at 7:30 p.m. in the Southern High School gymnasium to raise funds for the Child Development and Head Start handicapped programs.

Also featured will be local talent, including the "West Virginia Bootleggers" and "Ray and the Ridgerunners," with Pam Workman as vocalist. Miss Workman is a member of the Child Development center at Bradley Manor.

Planning the shows were Mrs. Peggy Lambert, resource coordinator, and Judy Lewis, an employe at the center.

There are over 120 children from babies through age five in 80 families who participate in the weekly Child Development program, which is divided into 2 parts, Bradley Manor family center and an Outreach program.

Workers at the center include supervisor Sally Klotz, Brenda Butts, food worker; Mabel Jones, Judy Lewis, Pam Workman, Louise Harvey, parent involvement coordinator; Patty F. Wright, child development director. In the Outreach home visiting program, employes are Donna Cook, Juanita Stonebraker, Junell Shulata, and Linda Beeghly.

This year, funds from the Appalachian Regional Commission to continue the Child Development programs were decreased, with the ARC now contributing 75 percent of the needed funds. A budget is before the Board of County Commissioners now requesting funds for one-half the amount required from the county and state.

Funds from the Billy "Crash" Craddock show will be used to help purchase a needed school bus for the program. Approximately $400 has been raised so far by parents of the children in the program. Total cost of the Type II vehicle is $9,400. The vehicle presently used, a Scout travelall, does not meet March 1975 regulations for transporting children.

The new bus will be used primarily at the family center, with home visitors to share the vehicle on Mondays for field trips or health appointments.

A mini-parent child center open Wednesdays and Fridays is now operating in the Ross Building in Friendsville. Mrs. Carolyn Garlitz is director. An afternoon group of children and parents is scheduled to begin next month.

The Entire Child Development program is designed to provide various services, including educational stimulation, health and social services, art, motor, movement education, rhythm band, science, social and interaction skills. Parent involvement and participation is stressed and encouraged in all areas. In the Outreach division, puzzles, games and homemade equipment for stimulating learning are given priority.

All children participating in the Childhood Development program are given annual physicals and developmental screenings as well as dental examinations and follow-up treatment.

Beginning July 1, the entire program will be administered through the Community Services division of Garrett Community College rather than Community Action. It was felt that more resources are available through the college.

In a recent questionnaire sent to parents of children participating, statistics indicated that responding parents for the most part were pleased with the were generally pleased with the program regardless of the program in which their child was enrolled.

They were also pleased with the benefits that their families have received as a result of the program.

A typical response to the question "What do you like more about the program," was that parents really liked field trips, the growing experience, and children learning how to express their ideas. Several also commented that there is always someone to talk to when troubled, or that the program gives the child a chance to meet new children and to be able to make the break from home.

Many also indicated that they would like more services than can be provided at present.

Temperatures Are More Near Normal For Past Week

Temperatures averaged more near normal during the past week. Even though it has been wet recently, the week's precipitation fell far short of normal. Several thunder showers were noted.

Mostly sunny skies of last Thursday gave way to some cloudiness later in the day and continued mostly into Friday. Following the afternoon thunder shower skies were partly cloudy. Variable cloudiness existed Saturday with an occasional light shower. This condition continued through Sunday but with less rain. There was another thunder shower Monday shortly before noon. Skies were then mostly cloudy with more thunder showers on Tuesday morning. Cloudiness remained until a clearing trend began about sunset. There was heavy fog yesterday morning until skies cleared. High thin clouds then moved in with some haze. Precipitation for the week totaled only .44 inch. This week's shortage just about eliminated last week's surplus leaving the month's fall just about normal with 2.27 inches.

Temperatures averaged 55.3 degrees or 1.6 below normal. Daytime highs averaged 69.1 degrees. Temperatures hit 70 or above every day but Saturday and Tuesday. The highest was Sunday with 72 degrees. Lows averaged 41.5 degrees with the lowest being 35 degrees yesterday. The mildest was 50 degrees Friday morning.

Lakers End Year With Twin Wins

Garrett Community College, rebounding from a close 1 to 0 loss in the first round of NJCAA region 20 play last week, on Saturday, took its frustration out on Dundalk CC in a season ending twin bill at McHenry

Bowing to CC of Beaver County, Pa., in their first region trip ever last Thursday the Lakers Saturday wasted no time in putting Dundalk away. The twin victory ended the season for the Lakers at 23 wins, four losses, including the 7-2 record posted during the fall semester last year.

Freshman hurler Mark Deutsch started the ball rolling for the Lakers in the opener by gaining the win over five innings, leaving the game with an 11-2 lead. The southpaw had given up only four hits and no walks while fanning eight in posting his seventh victory in eight starts.

Jim Kostyak finished and didn't allow a baserunner, while striking out two in his two innings. Whitfield had a pair of singles good for runs. Overall he went six for eight and four runs batted in. Craig Bosley and Bob Ingram hit a double and single. John Raszka had a pair of singles.

In the nightcap freshman Mike Brady, out of Southern high, made good on only his second start of the spring by posting an 11 to 3 lead before exiting again for Kostyak who blanked Dundalk once more in relief. Greg Humberson had three for four with three RBI's while Wrzesinski drove home five runs with a pair of hits. Dave Cullen, Ernie Shotwell and Randy DiSimone added two hits each.

Coal Diggers Drill Group Parades At Kentucky Derby

Members of the Coal Diggers Drill group, some 63 strong, participated in the festivities at the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs some two weeks ago. The group includes members from Oakland, Kitzmiller and Mt. Storm communities.

The group had bake sales, washed windows and other activities to raise money for the trip to Louisville, Ky. The members and chaperones left April 30 for Ashland to spend the night. They viewed the young colts with their mothers, stopped in Frankfort, capitol of Kentucky, and met Governor Carroll, to Louisville for the second night.

The following day the Coal Diggers marched in the Derby's Pegasus parade, of six miles in length. Their director, Marie Weatherholt, later displayed to the members the trophy that the corps had received for their excellence in the parade and a certificate for her outstanding achievement while working with the youth, presented by the city of Louisville.

A visit was made to the Harris horse farm, Colonel Sanders home, a visit to the Philip Morris plant, the race track. They also had a guided tour of the Hillerich and Bradsby company in Indiana. Each member was presented with a 16 inch bat as a souvenir. They saw the railroad museum, zoo, and the burial ground of Zachary Taylor, 12th president. Saturday was spent in Camden park. The Coal Diggers returned to Mt. Storm Sunday evening.

120 Attend Meeting On Integrity, Decency

Some 120 persons attended a meeting of the Citizens for Integrity and Decency meeting held under the sponsorship of the local unit of Young Americans for Freedom.

Speakers were Mrs. Barbara Morris and Mrs. Jackie Lawrence, from Montgomery and Howard counties. Mrs. Lawrence explained sensitivity training in changing values of students and claimed some of the modern teachings as immoral. Mrs. Morris urged parents to beware of "Open Education," which she claimed promoted disrespect for authority, permissiveness, and other ills. She defined the method of education as "Humanism," a philosophy which she said was contrary to traditional Christian-American values.

Table Setting Highlights

Glassmaking is one of America's oldest industries. Jamestown colonists were handcrafting glassware as early as 1608. Today, some of the finest crystal in the world comes from the United States.

Fine crystal is handblown from a molten mixture of white silica sand, lead and other ingredients. The highest quality crystal depends on pure raw materials, constant furnace temperature and the skills of a team of artisans.

The bowl, stem and foot of stemware are made individually, then fused together. For strength, the crystal passes through an annealing oven which heats and then cools the glass, in order to soften it so that it is less brittle. Artisans cut or etch designs after edges are smoothed. Some pieces are handpainted with gold or platinum bands.

When selecting crystal, check its clarity. High quality crystal is sparkling clear while inferior grades often have a cloudy bluish or greenish cast. Feel edges for smoothness and uniformity. Tap the rim of a goblet. Lead crystal has a clear, bell-like ring.

Another handmade type of crystal is handmolded. Here, the molten glass has been shaped in a hand-sculptured mold. It is pressed rather than blown into shape and is generally heavier and more durable.

Machine-made glass is blown or molded automatically in large quantities and in a continuous mechanical operation. It is much less expensive than handmade crystal, but lacks clarity, brilliance and the creativity of artisans. This glassware is usually sold in sets.

Crystal is made to be used and enjoyed. With proper care, it will retain its original beauty for years.

Use a rubber mat or plastic dishpan, a rubber camp on the faucet and a rubber coated dishrack for draining when hand washing crystal. This will avoid possible chippage or breakage.

Hand wash crystal pieces one at a time in the hottest water comfortable to hands, using detergent or soap suds. Hold stemware from the base of the bowl rather than the stem and avoid plunging cold glasses into hot water since uneven heat may cause damage. Towel dry. Or, rinse pieces with hot water and allow them to air dry after draining; a method which dries crystal spotlessly.

Most modern crystal is safely washed in a dishwasher. Use the china-crystal or gentle setting, if available. This cycle is designed to provide a gentle washing action. Automatic dishwashing is not advised for antique or handpainted crystal.

Care when storing crystal will prevent chipping and scratching; don't stack glasses. Instead, stand them straight up without touching each other. As a safety precaution, if glasses are stored above eye level, use a sturdy stepstool or ladder to take them down.

Garrett County Memorial Hospital - 25 Years Of Growth

Garrett County Memorial Hospital, as it appeared in the early 1950's, is little changed from its construction. The hospital, celebrating its 25th anniversary this week, opened its doors May 15, 1950 following donations from the late George Loar and from county residents, as well as federal funds. The hospital has undergone two major remodeling and addition programs, one in 1955 and the most recent in 1971. Bed capacity is now 72, up from the 35 beds in use when the facility opened.

Garrett County Memorial Hospital has been open 25 years this week, spanning years of growth and expansion in many areas.

A program observing the anniversary is planned this Sunday afternoon, May 18, at the Southern High School cafetorium at 2:30 p.m.

Those taking part in the program will include Irvin Feld, president of the Board of Governors; Dr. James H. Feaster, president of the medical staff; Mrs. Elisabeth Thayer, president of the Loar auxiliary; and Merritt H. Feather, hospital administrator.

Invocation will be given by Rev. Manning L. Smith, pastor of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Oakland, and benediction will be given by Rev. Martin Feild, rector of St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland. Mrs. Anna Jane Sharpless will be pianist for the musical numbers, which will include a solo by Daniel B. Wilson, Kitzmiller.

A social hour will be observed at the conclusion of the ceremonies, sponsored by the Loar auxiliary members.

The Hospital has grown and grown, although few changes are visible from the front of the building. A long portico is the only addition in the front, and permits patients to arrive or leave without facing the weather. Two new wings and expanded emergency room facilities have made decided changes in the profile of the building from either side.

It was noted this week that during its first year of operation, the hospital had 1,543 admissions; 9,466 patient days, and an average census of 19. In the emergency room 643 patients were treated. The laboratory performed 6,000 tests and there were 960 x-ray examinations.

Figures for the year ending June 1974 showed 17,918 days of care; 2,362 admissions; 10,551 emergency room visits; 44,753 laboratory tests; 7,159 x-ray examinations and 84,436 meals served.

The hospital dedication ceremonies May 14, 25 years ago marked the realization of a dream of George Loar, who gave $175,000 to being the project in February, 1946. His estate contributed an additional $20,000 and $102,000 was obtained from public subscriptions and federal funds.

The facility is located on the former Harry Helbig property, north Oakland. Preliminary plans were drawn up by James J. Baldwin, Washington architect, but were completed by Frederick Tilp upon the illness of the first architect.

First Board of Governors included J. Edward Helbig, Rev. Jonas Sines, Stewart Stahl, Dr. Thomas F. Lusby, A. G. Gortner, Mrs. L. F. Tower, Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, and Lester Yutzy. First attorney was E. Ray Jones.

Present day members of the Board are Irvin Feld, A. G. Gortner, Carlton Bowser, Dr. Joseph Alvarez, Arthur Savage, Wayne Hamilton, Mrs. Norma Hesen, George C. Edwards, Don S. Bender, David A. Burdock, and Willis T. Shaffer. Attorney is Jack Turney.

First administrator was John F. Gallagher, followed by Miss Irene S. Sharpe, Henry W. McComas, and Mr. Feather, who has been employed at the hospital since 1953. He became administrator in 1962 upon the death of Mr. McComas.

The original dedication ceremonies held May 14, 1950 at 2:30 p.m. on the hospital grounds featured such notables as Dr. Joseph Harned, Oakland; Dr. R. H. Riley, head of the State Department of Health; and Benjamin Wright, consultant for the hospital.

Miss Grace Loar, sister of the late George Loar, cut the ribbon across the doorway. Other special guests were Judge M. W. Watkins, Grafton, executor of the George W. Loar estate, and Mrs. W. W. Grant, representing the women of the county.

Over 550 persons toured the hospital on the first day it was opened to the public, on May 10, and a total of 3,902 persons visited the first week. Four "patients" were treated on May 10 when students from Oakland High School fainted on third floor near the operating room.

First patient in the hospital was Mrs. Martha Comp, Route 2, Swanton, who was treated for a heart condition. First baby to use the nursery was John Boyd Schenk, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Schenk, Deer Park. The Schenk baby was born at 10:14 a.m. Tuesday, May 16.

There were 35 beds and 45 employes at the facility when it opened, including nine nurses under the direction of Miss Vauda McLuckie. Charlotte Elizabeth Shirer was first laboratory and x-ray technician.

In 1955, the hospital expanded to include a new wing, at a cost of $358,000, which increased the adult bed capacity to 54.

The latest expansion and remodeling program was completed in 1971, bringing bed capacity to 72. Cost of construction and equipment was $1,500,000.

The U.S. has been warned by North Vietnam to withdraw from Korea.

Insurance FACTS

Many car owners feel that collision insurance is a waste of money on a car more than two years old. They think that it is more sensible to act as their own insurer, paying for damages out of their own savings, rather than buying protection from an insurance company. The rule of thumb is usually this: if you can afford to replace your car without borrowing money, you will probably save by doing without collision coverage. You may of course regret this decision if you have a bad accident shortly after dropping the coverage.

Let us at GONDER INSURANCE AGENCY, 203-205 South 2nd St., Oakland, 334-3343, explain the advantages of having collision insurance on your car. We never use any high pressure tactics in any of our operations and give only the finest in helpful and friendly insurance services. Established since 1920, we pride ourselves on the completeness of our service.

Handy Hints: A shoe bag in the hall closet is a great place to store hats and mittens.

Congressman Goodloe Byron

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks —

How did you vote last week on the congressional legislation appr ving a $70 billion budget deficit?

I voted AGAINST the measure because I firmly believe that one of the best ways to reduce federal spending is to balance the budget.

What amount of revenue do States receive from mineral leases of public lands within their boundaries?

According to the Mineral Leasing Act of 1920, States receive 37½ percent of the revenue. For your information, most of the known oil shale reserves in the United States are located in Colorado, Utah and Wyoming and these reserves are thought to contain the equivalent of the entire known world reserves of oil — 600 billion barrels.

I heard that the upcoming tax rebate to citizens is not going to be subject to income tax. Please verify.

The IRS informs me that cash rebates are not considered to be income and therefore no income tax must be paid on such rebates.

When is a person considered "disabled" with regards to obtaining supplemental security income.

The SSI definition of disability generally matches social security's retirement, survivors and disability insurance definitions. In short, an individual is considered "disabled" if he has a physical or mental impairment which, 1) prevents him from doing any substantial gainful work, and 2) is expected to last at least 12 months, or is expected to result in death.

Who can I get in touch with at the State level concerning consumer laws?

I suggest you contact John N. Ruth, Assistant Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division, Office of Attorney General, One South Calvert Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21202.

Do you have any booklets available that provide a non-technical outline of the steps involved from origination of legislation to the point it becomes law?

Copies of "How Our Laws Are Made" are ideal for classroom or personal study and may be ordered through my office in Washington.

Have you received any citizen reaction to off-shore drilling proposals?

Tabulation of my February survey showed that 84% of all respondents support development of off-shore drilling facilities, even with the realization that this could include drilling off the coast of Maryland.

What is the status of the social security income eligibility bill?

Recently, I joined with Congressman Kenneth Holland in co-sponsoring legislation which would raise the amount of outside income a social security recipient may earn and still receive benefits. This measure is currently pending before the Ways & Means Committee. Under the proposal, the outside income limitation would be hiked to $3,600 from the present $2,520, giving the average recipient an additional $90 a month.

Where are your district offices located? How can I get in touch with them?

Local district offices are located in Cumberland (Telephone 729-0300), Hagerstown (Telephone 797-6043), Frederick (Telephone 662-8622) and Columbia (Telephone 997-8131).

Please explain the small business relief bill recently passed by the House. How does it affect our contracts with the Federal government?

Last month the House approved emergency relief for small businesses pinched by fixed price contacts with the federal government. The proposed measure authorizes federal agencies to renegotiate or terminate government contracts with small businesses that were unable to meet commitments because of rising costs or shortage of necessary materials beyond their control. The bill applies only to contracts signed between August 15, 1971 and October 31, 1974, the period in which federal price controls were in effect.

Where does the money come from to pay supplemental security income (SSI)?

The money to make supplemental security income payments comes from general funds of the U.S. Treasury — personal income taxes, corporation taxes, and other taxes. Social security funds are not used to finance SSI payments.

Why did you vote against the recent foreign aid appropriation?

It is difficult for me to conceive a continuation of our foreign aid program in its present form, especially at a time when we are trying to balance the budget, hold down inflation, help the jobless at home, and prevent a future tax increase. I feel we cannot afford to continue an annual policy of approving such financial assistance without an overdue and thorough review of the foreign aid program by Congress. How do we decide who gets what money? What is the money earmarked for? What assurance do we have that the money will be used for the intended purposes? Does money equate with 'friendly relations' and a 'balance of power'? These are the kinds of questions that should be asked and examined in detail.

Byron Opposes Land Use Bill

Citing budget considerations and "questionable federal intrusion into local affairs", Rep. Goodloe Byron (Md-6) has indicated he will oppose the Federal land use bill currently before the Interior Committee of Congress.

As a member of the House Interior Committee, he also feels the bill may retard the search for new energy sources.

Byron, former Chairman of the Maryland Planning & Zoning Law Study Commission, believes the way to better land use plannning lies in localities and states making the land use decisions rather than the federal government.

Community growth requirements and questions on how an owner can use his land are often sensitive and complex matters that are best settled at the local level," Byron said.

Referring to the "higher priority" of cutting federal spending Byron sees the $500 million land use proposal as only adding to the federal deficit and resulting inflationary pressures.

"In these economic times Congress can only afford to approve high priority programs, of which this is not one. bureaucratic entanglements and reexamine our apparent philosophy that the federal government should fulfill all citizen needs, regardless of cost," Byron concluded.

Hit, Run Mishap Noted In Oakland

A hit-and-run and one other accident occurred in Oakland during the past week.

The pickup of Lawrence B. Frazee, Frostburg, was parked along Memorial drive near the American Legion Home shortly before 2 a.m. Tuesday. It was struck by an unidentifed vehicle which failed to keep to the right side of the road. The vehicle proceeded on without stopping. Cpl. J. E. Thomas, of the Oakland Police, investigated.

Joan M. Bashore, Bethel, Pa., was traveling west on Alder street Sunday afternoon and had slowed and proceeded. Daniel I. Cutlip, Hacker Valley, W. Va., was traveling north on 6th street and had also slowed and proceeded when the two vehicles collided. Patrolman Richard Rinker of the Town Police charged Cutlip with failing to grant the right-of-way.

Receive Certificate In Advanced Studies

Fifty-eight area high school students have been awarded certificates for their successful completion of course work this semester in the Advanced Studies Program for high school students at Frostburg State College.

The program is designed to give selected high school students additional study opportunities as well as a preview of the demands of future college work.

From this county were Sandra J. Conant, Bloomington, receiving a certificate in a course, "Alternatives to Change: Violence or Non-Violence"; and Sharon Glass, Grantsville, a certificate in a course, "Underside of American History."

Wendi Sims Has Music Scholarship

Wendi Sims has been granted a music scholarship from Fairmont State college, accomplishing a first for the Hampshire High School chorus.

Her major instrument is the piano. For her audition she played major and minor scales and Arpeggios, the No. 8 two-part Invention, by Bach, the first and second movement from Beethoven's "Pathetique Sonata," a Chopin "Prelude" and "Gloria Tibi," from Leonard Bernstein's Mass.

She was one of four chosen from Hampshire High school to participate in the all-state chorus in Morgantown in April. She sings alto.

On May 6 Romney High presented a spring concert and an operetta and Miss Sims accompanied for both programs. For the last two years she has been pianist for the high school choir.

Wendi is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Sims, of Romney, formerly of Oakland. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Sims, Mt. Lake Park and Mrs. Mabel Fike, of Crellin.

Northern Rallies To Score Victory

Ron Teets of Northern threw eight innings of no hit ball as the Huskies rallied for two runs in the seventh and one in the eighth to slip past Kingwood 3 to 2 last Thursday afternoon at Accident.

Teets who fanned nine in twirling the game, had control problems and issued 12 free passes in the contest. The wildness almost proved to be the downfall as the Stags took advantage of the walks and two Northern miscues for a pair of gift runs in the the opening inning.

It was a Kingwood gift in the seventh that enabled the Huskies to knot the contest. Tim Frazee reached base on an error and scored on an error following a double by Mark Russell, with Russell moving to third on the miscue. Don Paul followed with a sacrifice fly to plate Russell and send the game into extra innings.

In the eighth Ken Sines singled, moved to second on a walk to Roger Sines, and scored on a one-base rap by Ed Sisler. Buddy Fauber had two hits and Dave Bender a double for the Huskies.

Tax Relief, Police Bills Are Passed

The Maryland General Assembly Monday passed and sent to the governor a $31.2 million property tax relief and police aid package and then adjourned sine die.

It took the House of Delegates less than five minutes to act on the 2 measures, passed earlier by the Senate after a 34-12 vote to limit debate over the four cent cigarette tax increase, which will provide most of the funding for the two measures.

The House adjourned after enacting the two measures, the Circuit Breaker tax relief bill by 90-17 and the police aid measure by 104-14.

Senate approval of the property tax relief bill came after some two and one-half hours of debate during which tie leadership defeated attempts by opponents to shift more of the benefits to the smaller counties.

The special session was called to provide funding for police aid and for tax relief for the state's subdivisions after Gov. Marvin Mandel threatened to veto a proposed compromise bill during regular session that would have imposed a two cent cigarette tax increase and a one percent boost in the insurance premium tax.

Sen. Edward J. Mason, an organizer of the fillibuster during the regular esssion, called the vote Monday "a sad commentary on the way they did this. You don't have to be that xxxxxx ruthless."

Sen. Mason had offered an amendment to the tax breaker bill, that would have made it mandatory that persons now getting county tax credit would never get less than they are now receiving. However, the amendment was defeated.

He also attempted to attach an amendment that would include disabled persons in the circuit breaker, explaining that in many cases the disabled are more in need of tax breaks than senior citizens. That measure also was rejected.

A third amendment requiring that local aid money go strictly for police aid in subdivisions also met with defeat. Sen. Mason called the police bill a "fraud on the public and police."

He called the whole situation "power politics and irresponsible fiscal spending."

Anthony R. Crowley, Rockville, forfeited collateral in the amount of $15 for fishing without a license at New Germany.

Oakland Man Guilty In Motorcycle Theft

An Oakland man was found guilty of larceny of a motorcycle in District Court in Cumberland Monday by Judge Milton Gerson.

Ronald David Bittinger, 19, Oakland, and Joseph Gregory Diehl, 24, Pekin, were found guilty of larceny of the cycle from Virginia Ann Brumage, and each was given a 60-day suspended sentence and placed on probation for one year.

They also were charged with breaking and entering the building that housed the motorcycle, but that charge was dismissed.

Urges Oakland Stop

U.S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, Jr., has sent a letter to Paul Reistrup, president of Amtrak, requesting that Oakland be among the stops of an Amtrak passenger train from Washington to Denver.

In his letter Senator Beall pointed out that Garrett County had facilities for year 'round recreation activities.

Park Service Has Ranger, Seasonal Interpreters Meet

Some 27 seasonal interpreters and Ranger Naturalists were at Herrington Manor State Park over the weekend for their fourth annual state meeting, sponsored by the Maryland Parks Service.

A series of workshops and slide presentations were held Friday evening through Sunday morning, ranging through such topics as "Techniques of Guided Walks" to audio visual workshops.

Seasonal interpreters are hired for the summer throughout the state to work in state parks arranging programs for park users. Such programs usually consist of self-guided nature trails, nature hikes and walks, evening campfires and programs, or in some state parks, such as Fort Frederick, historical presentations appropriate to the area.

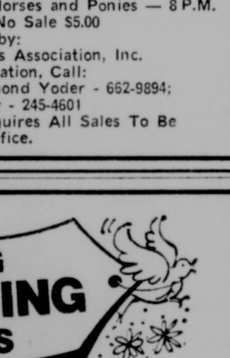
The public is welcome to make use of these facilities at all parks.

There are three seasonal interpreters scheduled to work in this county this summer, including Noni Zollinhofer, Baltimore, at Herrington Manor-Swallow Falls; John VanAckern, Frostburg, New Germany; and Bob Jackson, Westernport, at Deep Creek State Park. Ranger naturalists here are Robert Friend and Jackie Torres, and Charles Thomas is superintendent of Swallow Falls-Herrington Manor. An educational background in natural sciences or history is usually required for seasonal interpreters.

Weekly schedules of planned activities are posted in local parks. Schedules often include demonstrations such as a sawmill demonstration or lifeguard rescue demonstration.

Although the Park Service interpretive program has been in existence since 1963, the seasonal interpreters program was formed only four years ago.

Last year, a Junior Park Ranger program is planned this summer, with a series of conservation activities children may participate in. Upon completion of the summer activities, youngsters receive certificates and Junior Park Ranger patches.



There is also a volunteer program in the parks, and interested persons may help as nature center attendants, or with research or other projects as needed.

Approximately 200,000 persons made use of the seasonl interpreters program throughout the state last year.

James Mallow, supervisor of interpretive services for the Maryland Park system, participated in the weekend program. Special guests included two men from the Pennsylvania Bureau of Parks.

American Freedom and Christian Responsibility

By Rev. W. H. Leake, Deer Park, Md.

Women's Lib

from Times-Journal Magazine, Jacksonville, Florida
"Letters to the Editor"

I would like to offer a few comments on the "Glossary for Liberated Women", which appeared in your February 4 edition. For cross checking purposes, I have upper cased those words in this letter which were also defined in the Glossary.

While some items in the article left me confused, it did clear up one thing. I know now why so many of the N.O.W. FEMINISTS, Ms's, or females (take your pick) aren't married. Anyone who "treasures body odor" and refuses to shave her legs need not worry about becoming a trapped HOUSEWIFE. No man in his right nose would get close enough to propose anything, much less MARRIAGE. Of course, the B.O. and BODY HAIR will serve as a great BIRTH CONTROL measure, and isn't that right on!!!

Personally, my FULFILLMENT comes from loving and being loved by my husband and children. Yes, we have HOMEMADE everything. Clothes, food and even babies. Certainly I am trapped. Anyone who assumes any responsibility, is in turn trapped by that responsibility; but women are not alone in this. I am no more trapped in my ROLE than my husband is in his.

Why shouldn't he expect me to care for our children, clean our home, and prepare our meals? I expect things of him. He pays the bills, paints the house, keeps up the car, comes home worn out only to romp with three children under seven years of age. And sometimes, he washes the dishes because he loves me. (Or kisses me on the neck while I try to wash them.)

About the housewife salary business — we put "our" money in "our" account, and "we" spend it. I don't receive a salary, but I have a check book at my disposal at all times. Who needs a salary?

I noticed your glossary didn't contain the word "love". Perhaps even the FEMINISTS realize that it has no definition. Love is that indescribable thing that means a tender FULFILLMENT for man and woman. Love is also that which provides an environment for little children that CHILD CARE CENTERS can't quite match. Life isn't just for fighting social ills. Pity the woman who fights all her life for her "rights" only to miss real FULFILLMENT.

I definitely believe in equal rights for women in the area of salary and positions (and qualification); but I honestly can't say that I would like to have my daughters drafted into the Army. Check out the EQUAL RIGHTS AMENDMENT. On the other hand, I wouldn't want them to be MISS AMERICA (I believe Ms. McPhee referred to it as the cattle auction.) I do, however, hope my girls will be feminine, honorable, and charitable. And as long as they live in this house they will wear deodorant.

During the course of this letter, I have stopped to fix breakfast, to pick up a collection of BARBIE DOLLS, and to change the diaper of a little son that I didn't plan, and now love beyond measure. Thank goodness for an old-fashioned mother who instilled Christian principles into her daughters. ABORTION has never entered my mind.

I could say more, but I must clean this DOLL HOUSE, and what's wrong with that? In the Bible in Titus Chapter 2, we read that women are to be keepers at home (it also says to be obedient to their own husband.) I realize that reads a little strong, but if I have to go by a book, I prefer the Bible to Betty Friedan's FEMININE MYSTIQUE.

Incidentally, I am in my twenties, so this isn't from a woman of another generation. For six years, I worked as a secretary, so I've seen both sides of this situation; neither is so bad.

Respectfully,
(Mrs.) Jan Beasley

Mrs. Beasley is a real LADY, we need more like her.

Friendsville Boy Hurt in Bicycle Accident Recently

A Friendsville boy was treated and released from the hospital as the result of being thrown from his bicycle in Friendsville April 30. Another person was slightly injured in a recent accident.

Robert Glenn Nazelrod, 8, of Friendsville, was taken to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital by his mother the day following the mishap where he was treated and released. Robert was traveling east in an alley as a car driven by Larry E. Harding, Friendsville, was traveling south on Second street. The boy darted from the alley into the path of the Harding car which hit the rear wheel of the bike throwing the boy from it. Tfc. Dale K. Williams made no charges.

Janet E. Hardesty, Mt. Lake Park, was slightly injured in a motorcycle-car mishap just past noon May 3.

Lois C. Wilson, RD 3, Deer Park, was traveling south on Md. 560 near the Garrett road and had slowed her speed. Janet Hardesty following on the motorcycle failed to note the reduction of speed and ran into the rear of the Wilson car. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater charged Janet Hardesty with failing to reduce speed.

Robert G. Platt, Berlin, Pa. was leaving a parking lot along U.S. 40 just west of Green Lantern road shortly after midnight May 3, to go west on Rt. 40. The operator accelerated the vehicle rapidly on the parking lot, causing tires to spin. Platt came onto Rt. 40 then back onto the parking lot where he struck a sign, spun around and returned to Rt. 40. Tfc. G. A. Berkebile charged Platt with negligent driving.

Michael J. DeWitt was traveling east on I street in Mt. Lake Park about 2:10 a.m. May 4. A vehicle was approaching him in the middle of the street. This forced him off the roadway causing him to lose control, skid around with the rear of the car striking a large tree. The other vehicle was not located. Tfc. Ronald Lewis investigated and made no charges.

The operator of the rig which spilled the sawdust on the Crellin road at the west end of Oakland recently was William L. Bays of Kingwood, W. Va. He was traveling at a speed greater than reasonable and prudent for conditions and charged on that count by Tfc. C. H. Hinnant. The rig belonged to the Grimm Lumber Co., Terra Alta, W. Va. The trailer loaded with sawdust overturned but the tractor remained upright.

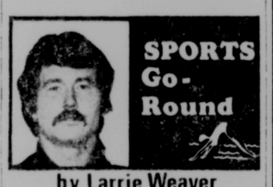
The station wagon of Barbara J. Fishel, RD 1, Gormania, was parked on the Grange Supply parking lot, Mt. Lake Park, just past noon on May 3. Mary J. Jones, Elk Garden, W. Va., in a pickup, pulled from the loading dock to in front of the Fishel car, started backing and struck it. Tfc. Broadwater charged Mary Jones with improper backing.

Jerry Hoover, RD 2, Accident, was headed south on U.S. 219 near the Leo Friend road, when a dog came from the west shoulder and ran into the right side of the vehicle. It was a shepherd dog of Donald Maust. Tfc. Broadwater made no charges.

Hearing Is Set For Gary Miller

A hearing in Allegany County circuit court has been scheduled for July 24 for Gary Lee Miller, now 23, under the Post Conviction Procedure Act.

Miller, from Somerset county, Pa., has been in custody almost eight years for the murder of Judy Lee Ziegler, then 20, of Pocahontas, Pa., who was killed near Eckhart on May 27, 1967.



Monday Associate Judge Harold E. Naughton signed an order instructing the warden of the Maryland penitentiary to have Miller in court in Cumberland for the hearing at 2 p.m. on that date.

Miller was found guilty of first degree murder on October 31, 1967, by Judges Naughton and James S. Getty. On November 16, 1967 they sentenced him to death in the gas chamber.

His conviction was affirmed by the Maryland Court of Appeals. On December 8, 1972 the Court of Appeals ordered the Miller case be returned to Allegany county for imposition of a life sentence.

SPORTS Go-Round

by Larrie Weaver

Various forms of hockey were well known among the ancient Greeks and Persians. Similar games were played in Europe during the Middle Ages. The game was called hoquet in France and was adopted by the English, who altered the name to "hockey". Early forms of hockey were played on open fields. Ice hockey probably arose in Europe during the 18th century, but its present form originated in Canada during the 19th century. Ice hockey is the fastest of all hockey games.

Ram Golfers Nip Beall In Meet

Jeff Hile chipped in for a birdie on the first hole of sudden death to enable Southern to edge Beall in a triangular golf match Monday afternoon at the Maplehurst Country club.

The Rams and Mountaineers had ended in a tie at 342 each, setting up the sudden death playoff. Smithsburg was a distant third with a score of 413.

Jeff Jackson, Beall, was medalist for the day with a 79. Mike Griffith led the Rams with an 80 and Hile fired an 83 before edging Jackson in the sudden death. Randy Sine was runner-up for Beall with an 86.

The Potomac Valley meet is set for today at Canaan Valley.

No-Hitter Wins For Huskies 13-0

Buddy Fauber twirled a no-hitter, the second for Northern High pitchers in as many games, sparking the Huskies to their sixth victory of the season, an easy 13 to 0 verdict over Rowlesburg Monday afternoon at Rowlesburg.

Fauber allowed only three baserunners, two on walks, and another on a teammate's fielding miscue. He struck out eight batters.

Last Thursday Ronnie Teets fired a no-hitter at Kingwood, although he issued 12 bases on balls in a 3-2 Northern victory.

The Huskies are now 6-2 on the season. Tim Frazee and Mark Russell led Northern's 14-hit attack both hitting two-run doubles. Teets had a two-run single while Donnie Paugh knocked in a pair of runs. Kenny Sines had the game's only three bagger, and he also singled twice.

Monday's game was called after six innings by mutual agreement.

Correction Noted

A correction is to be noted in reference to charges involved in a motor vehicle accident noted in the Republican for May 8.

Melvin E. Kahl was noted charged on three counts but these should have referred to, and apply to the other party involved, William E. McCombie and his wife, Wilma McCombie, as shown in the motor violations in today's issue.

Items had been reversed on the records from which the information was originally taken, from state police files.

COMPILES OUTSTANDING RECORD — The Southern Highlander Marching Band Color Guard, head unit, has compiled an outstanding record this year. Led by Sue Tasker, head captain, and Diane Coppola, gun captain, the unit has scored 98 percent in each of its appearances. Judging is based on alignment, spacing, general appearance, formation, precision drill, manual of arms, and flag positions. The unit is composed of two banner girls, six gun carriers and six flag bearers. The flags include the national, stage, county and school flags plus the ones presented the band for marching in the Kentucky Derby parade and Macy's Thanksgiving Day parade.

In its sixth year of performing the color guard has proven its value to the Southern Highlander Marching Band. This year marks the first time the unit has always practiced with the band. Until now it had practiced after school as a separate unit. The girls attended a week of camp training last summer at West Chester State college, Pennsylvania. In the Apple Blossom festvial feature parade they placed 4th with a national rating. At the Baltimore Preakness parade they scored 25 out of 25, leading the band to a 5th place. The unit is under direction of Richard D. Clever.

"More heat than light". This apt phrase well describes much of the talking, writing and arguing on various Bible Subjects, including that of "the church". Some avow that the church really doesn't matter, and others affirm that it matters almost more than anything else. Yet, "the church" is a Bible topic, and those who study the Bible both ought to and may learn what the Bible has to say about it. We are seeking to put the right kind of emphasis on "the churches" while showing, from Scripture, an over-all perspective in which this topic ought to be viewed.

Christianity is primarily an individual matter between a person and God through Christ. The Bible teaches us in such places as Romans 14:10-12 and II Corinthians 5:10, that God will judge men individually. Therefore, responsibility is ultimately an individual matter (Ezekiel 18:1-30).

Yet, the Scripture deals not with isolated individuals, but with a people of God. The Old Testament presents a "People" of God, composed of individuals (Deuteronomy 9). This People came into existence through the gracious act of God on its behalf and was bound together in a covenant relationship with God (Exodus 19:3-6; 24:3-8). The New Testament also presents a "People" of God composed of individuals (I Peter 2:9-10; Ephesians 2:11-22). This People came into existence through God's acts in Jesus Christ on its behalf, and is bound together in a covenant relationship with God through Christ (Romans 4:24,25; Acts 13:23-39; Hebrews 3:6; 8:6-13). This is the "one body" of Ephesians 4:5. It includes every saved person in the world since Pentecost. It is not A denomination, or ALL denominations combined, or the BEST church in a denominational sense. It has no visible manifestation other than each local congregation and the individual Christian.

Christianity is primarily an individual matter. But God has, throughout Scripture, dealt with a People, created by His own gracious deeds and bound to Him in a covenant obligation. The term "church" is one term used of the People. There are good Biblical reasons behind the "togetherness" described by this word. We must carry our personal responsibility, but we do so in company with others.

WHERE THE BUCK STOPS

Lesson for May 18, 1975

Background Scripture: Ezekiel 18. Devotional Reading: Ezekiel 14:12-20.

It is said that the late President Harry S. Truman had a plaque on his desk that proclaimed: "The BUCK STOPS HERE!" To him it was a daily reminder that ultimately all responsibility for the conduct of the affairs of the United States government resided with him. There was no other person to whom he could rightly pass off that responsibility.

Rev. Althouse

"Sour Grapes"

This is true not only in politics, but also in religion. The dictum, "THE BUCK STOPS HERE," is religiously expressed in the teaching that each person is responsible for his or her own soul. It is the one responsibility we cannot cast off on others, although we may try!

As Adam blamed Eve and Eve blamed the serpent, so God's children are gifted in the ancient art of "passing the buck." In the days of Ezekiel the prophet, there was a popular proverb fondly quoted by the buck-passers in the days of Israel's Babylonian captivity: "The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge." The Jews in exile blamed all their misfortunes on the evil deeds of their fathers in Israel.

To a certain degree, there was justice in this allegation: the prophets themselves had proclaimed that the Babylonian captivity was caused by the unrepentant rebelliousness of Israel. But the Jews in exile continued to blame everything on their forefathers who had become convenient scapegoats.

People today still are influenced by this "sour grapes" attitude. Collectively they may blame their misfortunes on previous generations. Individually, they will seek to transfer their personal responsibility to their parents, their environment, the ethnic or religious background, their economic class, their educational opportunities, or just plain "bad breaks." Something or someone else is responsible for our problems!

"A new heart and a new spirit"

As Ezekiel indicated, however, that is never an adequate defense: "As I live, says the Lord God, this proverb shall no more be used by you in Israel. Behold all souls are mine; the soul of the father as well as the soul of the son is mine: the soul that sins shall die" (Ezekiel 18:3,4).

The proverb is a cop-out: God is the Lord of each generation, not just a selected few and he judges each man for his own sins. If a man is righteous in God's sight—if he lives by God's commandments — God will not punish him for the sins of someone else. "Therefore I will judge you, O house of Israel, every one according to his own ways..." (18:30).

This does not mean, however, that we might not suffer because of someone else's sins, but that we will not have to bear someone else's guilt. If I am burning rubbish and the fire gets out of control, burning down my neighbor's house, he obviously will suffer for my negligence, even though I alone am guilty.

Instead of the "sour grapes" attitude in life, we must realize that it is not so much a matter of what happens to us, but what we do about the things that happen to us. "Sour grapes" is really no defense and instead of trying to "pass the buck," let us acknowledge where it stops and do something worthwhile with it.

Sharps, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Sharps, Oakland, who was on Southern High's undefeated golf team for four years, is a member of Towson golf team, and its youngest player.

Under direction of Terry Wonless, coach, the Towson team of six finished with a record of 10-8. The team traveled to High Point, Winston-Salem, N.C., for four days at the beginning of the season. After losing their first four matches the team rebounded to a successful season. Highlighting the play were two tournaments.

In the first annual Maryland Intercollegiate golf tournament Towson placed second out of seven teams, behind a strong University of Maryland team. Dave's score was 2nd best for Towson that placed him 12th in the tourney. In the Mason-Dixon tournament, Towson placed third, the best ever for the college. Dave shot rounds of 81-77 to place him 3rd on the team and 18th in the tourney, out of 12 schools and 70 players. In this tourned they beat four of the teams they lost to in regular season play.

Beaver Community Drops Lakers 1-0

Beaver Community college, of Beaver, Pa., scored a 1 to 0 shutout victory over Garrett Community college Thursday afternoon to advance in the Maryland Region 20 baseball tournament at Frederick.

With two out in the bottom of the seventh, Beaver right fielder Mike Bosco doubled to start the defeat of Garrett. With Bosco at second designated hitter Bob Latsko singled to drive in the only run of the game.

Garrett, however, posed a threat in the top of the final inning when it briefly loaded the bases against Beaver. The game ended on an unusual note as Beaver went to second on a fielder's choice to end the the contest.

The BCC defense successfully nailed Garrett first baseman, Glen Wrezesinski at second on the force but the Beaver second baseman dropped the ball. Unaware that the second baseman had bobbled away the baseball, Wrezesinski stepped off the base and was tagged out again to end the game.

"It was our first trip to the regional tournament," said Dennis Fearnow, Garrett Coach. 'I was pleased with our effort. We had some good chances but just couldn't come up with the hits when we needed them."

Garrett was held to four hits, all singles. Garrett hurler Ernie Shotwll, went the distance. He fanned three and allowed nine hits in nine innings.

In other games Baltimore CC defeated Essex 3-1, and Prince Georges dropped Catonsville 7-3.

Garrett is now 21-4 on the season.

Retires From Kelly

Four employes of the Kelly Springfield Tire company in Cumberland retired, effective in April, wth 112 years of combined service, Karl R. Feise, plant manager, announced.

McKenzie and his wife, Pauline, live in Grantsville.

Man Balks From Leap Into River

One of two Piedmont, W. Va., men who were presumed missing last Friday and located the following day in the Kitzmiller area, stood on the outside of the rail of the interstate bridge between Piedmont and Westernport Sunday afternoon as if he planned to jump into the Potomac river.

However, Carl O. Evans, 26, climbed over the rail and back onto the bridge and was taken into protective custody on an open charge about 5 p.m. by police. He was taken to the Mineral county jail in Keyser.

Passersby apparently talked Mr. Evans out of jumping from the bridge. Westernport police and Maryland State police responded.

Paul Evans, 21, a brother, also was presumed missing but the two men were located Saturday morning around Kitzmiller.

"SERVICE IS OUR MOST IMPORTANT PRODUCT"

Retires After 47 Years In Gov't

Charles I. Bevans, who was born in Grantsville and was graduated from its High School in 1926, has retired from the United States Civil Service. He was employed by the Veterans Administration two years and by the Department of State forty-five years. In 1935 he became a member of the treaty office of that department and in 1949 director of that office, serving in that capacity until his retirement. His duties included all aspects of treaty work, including participation in numerous international conferences, and in meetings at which the Secretary of State or the President signed international agreements.

In January, 1975, he received the Department of State's John Jacob Rogers Award which reads: "In recognition of over 47 years of service with unusual dedication and distinction to the Government of the United States. As Assistant Legal Advisor during an era of unparalleled activity in treaty making, you have resolved innumerable complex and novel problems relating to the negotiation, signature, interpretation and implementation of international agreements. Your experience, knowledge and understanding of treaty law are recognized throughout the world and have been vital factors in the successful conclusion of over two-thirds of the agreements to which the United States has become a party during its history, including such important agreements as the convention on the law of treaties."

In 1972 he received the Department's Distinguished Honor Award "In recognition of a unique role during this era of unparalleled activity in treaty-making in which you serve as Assistant Legal Adviser for Treaty Affairs . . . ."

He and his wife, Ruth, will celebrate their forty-first wedding anniversary this autumn.

The U.S. recently showed a record trade surplus.

Accepts Position With Maryland Dep't of Education

Ronn E. Friend, reading resource teacher with the County Board of Education, has accepted a position with the State Department of Education as a staff co-ordinator for migrant education programs for Spanish-American children throughout the state. Mr. Friend will assume his new position on Thursday, May 15, under the Division of Compensatory, Urban and Supplemental Education.

Born and raised in Sang Run, Mr. Friend is a 1964 graduate of Northern High School. He took his bachelor of arts degree in Christian Education and English from West Virginia Wesleyan College, and his master of arts degree in inter-cultural education at the University of the Americas, Cholula, Mexico. He is presently completing requirements for a master of education degree in reading through Johns Hopkins University.

During the 1968-69 school year, Mr. Friend was a first year teacher at Dennett Road School, where he was a fifth grade instructor. From July, 1969, to July, 1973, Mr. Friend served as a rural educational coordinator in Mexico with the Board of Global Ministries of the United Methodist Church. Attempting to seek out new alternatives and directions in education for rural villages in Mexico, he founded a kindergarten, created head-start type programs, coordinated youth club activities, and initiated classes in family planning, and arts and crafts. He also developed an adult literacy curriculum and program. Mr. Friend's master thesis topic, "The Role of the Cross-Cultural Educator as an Agent for Change", focuses upon his work in rural Mexico; his accomplishments there have been cited in educational and Methodist publications.

Upon his arrival back from Mexico in 1973, Mr. Friend accepted a teaching position at Route 40 School, where he was a 6th, 7th and 8th grade instructor of English and Science, until he became a resource teacher in reading with the County Board in November, 1974.

Mr. Friend is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Friend, Sang Run

AFTER TWO BOUNCES, A SPIN and another bump, the pick-up, with the hood knocked off, came to rest. It was driven by William G. Friend, Friendsville, headed east on Md. 135, just east of the Oakland town limit, last Tuesday evening. Friend crossed the center line of the road, struck the westbound Jeep station wagon of John E. Miller, Oakland, bounced off, struck a GMC pick-up of Malcolm C. Pickering, Mt. Lake Park, also westbound, spun around and struck the westbound Ford pick-up, shown, driven by Douglas L. Schenk, McHenry. Pickering was reported slightly injured but no others. Tfc. C. H. Hinnant investigated.

State's Attorney's Office

My Fellow Garrett Countians:

Since taking office as your State's Attorney, I have been very concerned about the illicit and illegal sale and use of drugs in Garrett County, which has affected all of our lives. The disastrous and tragic consequences of such drug use has recently made its impact with the news of events in our criminal courts.

It is necessary that we now act in concert to stop ALL drugs from entering into our county and into the lives of our young people. Everyone must be involved in this task.

To accomplish this, the State's Attorney's Office and our law enforcement officials need YOUR help. For this reason, the State's Attorney's Office has established a new telephone number which will be available to all who have information which might be helpful to the fight against illegal drugs. The phone number is: 334-8280. The State's Attorney's Investigator as well as the State's Attorney are always available at this number. Any parent, teenager, student, or citizen who has information about illegal drug use or sales, can phone this number at any time during regular working hours, and there will be no demand for the name of the caller or the source of his or her information.

Because this program is being coordinated with the Sheriff's Office and the Maryland State Police, people wishing to help this fight against drugs with information, may call these agencies and give such information.

The average citizen may not feel the information he possess to be of sufficient importance to warrant phoning in. But, remember, that most information will not lead to immediate arrests, but will help in building and structuring the total picture of drug trafficking in Garrett County, which hopefully and ultimately will lead to the arrests of the large dealers of drugs. In this light, any information received will be helpful.

Some people may not feel it is honorable to inform or "rat" on a drug user or seller, but I ask you to reflect on what honor is involved in selling Marijuana, Cocaine, or LSD to a school child. Help your county police officers arrest the seller and user. If you have information, no matter how small, give it to the police by phoning 334-8280.

Thank You.

The Nearest Stars

There are about sixty stars within seventeen light years of the sun. Seven of these have unseen components. Only four of these stars are brighter than the sun. Most of them are small, cool, insignificant objects.

Bernard's Star is the most interesting star with an unseen companion. Professor van de Kamp has shown that the changes in the motion of Bernard's Star could be caused by one object twice the size of Jupiter, or by two objects each about the size of Jupiter revolving about the star. This star may have the first planetary system to be discovered outside of our solar system.

The moon passes through its First Quarter phase at 6:29 a.m. Sunday morning. Moonset ranges from twenty-six minutes after midnight tonight to 3:22 a.m. next Wednesday morning.

Tuesday the moon will be 368,290 kilometers (228,890 miles) from earth at 3:00 p.m. This closest approach of the moon to the earth is called a perigee of the moon.

All five of the innermost planets are visible. Mercury is above the west horizon for almost two hours after sunset. Venus continues to dominate the western sky for three hours after sunset. It and Saturn are seen moving closer together among the stars of Gemini. Jupiter and Mars are visible in the predawn of the east sky. Jupiter is very low. Mars is to the upper right of Jupiter.

Daylight increases by eleven minutes during the week. Sunrise was at 6:05 a.m. this morning. Sunset will be fourteen hours nineteen minutes later at 8:24 p.m. Wednesday the sun will rise six minutes earlier and set five minutes later than it does today.

Looking on from above, left to right, are Holly Foley, Mark Arnold, Terry Arnold, Teresa Dressman, Lou Ann Gregg and Beth Ann Ashby. During the month cyclists were given written, oral and road tests. A film on bike safety was shown at Southern High on April 30 by Tfc. Charles H. Hinnant, state police. This was narrated by Bill Cosby which also showed origin of bicycles.

Maryland state law requires that all bikes now should have front lights and/or reflectors on rear. A bell or horn should be attached. Licenses were issued by the Oakland police department and are still available at the city hall.

4-H'ers Back From Citizenship Tour

Some 35 county 4-H'ers, leaders and parents attended the 1975 state citizenship tour in Talbot county on Saturday, May 3.

The day's activities included a citizenship ceremony, a boat ride, a tour of the maritime museum, a visit to Wye Mills to see the Wye Oak, Maryland state tree, an old water powered mill, the oldest Maryland Episcopal church and Orrell's Beaten Biscuit company.

The tour's 547 participants represented 4-H programs in the 23 counties and Baltimore city. Friday evening the Garrett countians were hosted by Kent county 4-H families.

The annual Citizenship tour is hosted by a different county each year. Next year the tour will be planned for Baltimore city.

A new Federal tax bill is to aid home buyers.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of John C. Helms, who passed away one year ago on May 17, 1974.

We miss you more as the days go by,
You went away before we could say goodbye.
But God he always knows best,
He took you home where there is peace and rest.
But some day we will meet on the golden shore,
Where we can be together for evermore.

Sadly missed by Mother

County To Observe Sr. Citizen Day

Garrett County Senior Citizens Day will be observed at the Garrett County Fair on Friday, August 8th.

W. Dale Ellis, Director of the Senior Citizens Programs, said he expects some 500 people to participate from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the various activities.

Included will be reduced admission at the gate, a free dinner at the Crellin United Community Services booth, a horseshoe pitching contest, an old-fashioned spelling bee, an arts and crafts display, free entertainment, a talent show and a square dance.

The first Senior Citizens Day last year found more than 300 attending.

The director indicated that the food for the free dinner will come from the county's hot meals program. He added that a coupon will appear in the Republican in the near future for Senior Citizens to make application for the dinner because the cooks will need a count to determine the amount of food to be prepared. A list will be compiled of the elderly who have returned the coupon and the name must be given to one of the waitresses at the Crellin booth. No meal will be served to anyone not registered in advance.

Applications will also be available at the 3 hot meal centers: Crellin, Jennings and Kitzmiller for the free meal.

To gain the reduced admission to the grounds, Ellis stressed that Senior Citizens will have to produce one of the canary yellow discount cards.

Most of the day's activities will be staged near the stage area.

Ellis added that he is in the process of trying to work out details of shuttle bus service from all sections of the county by the Garrett Bus System.

Without Reason . . .

Proposals to force the 14½ million civil service employes of all levels of government to join a labor union and to strike against a unit of government if so ordered by union officials, is being debated in Congress and those listening thought they were in another country.

According to Dr. George S. Benson, president of the National Education program, of Searcy, Ark., these bills actually propose the establishment of another equally sovereign branch of government in addition to those branches already authorized by the Constitution. Mayors, state legislatures, governors and county commissioners would be compelled to negotiate with labor union officials and compelled to accept the demands of the union, or accept a strike.

The proposed bills would destroy the Right to Work laws of 14 states, and the ban against compulsory union membership in 31 others. It is a case of federal power being urged to create a labor union with strength to dispute the authority of elected local, state and federal officials. Dr. Benson feels it has a good chance of becoming the law of the land under the present Congress, and that is bad. Labor unions have many good points, but labor officials now seem to be going overboard.

In 1935, when the National Labor Relations Act sanctioned exclusive and compulsory unionism in private industry, President Franklin D. Roosevelt utterly rejected the same thing for government employes in these words: ". . . . militant tactics have no place in the functions of any organization of government employes. . . . A strike of public employes manifests nothing less than an intent on their part to obstruct the operation of government until their demands are satisfied. Such action, looking toward the paralysis of government by those who have sworn to support it is unthinkable and intolerable."

It is still unthinkable and intolerable, and citizens better become alive to the problem and complain to their representatives in Congress.

Walter Dawson Dies Today

Walter Wyatt Dawson, 81, who retired from his practice of law some fourteen years ago, died about 5 o'clock this morning at the Cuppett-Weeks Nur[illegible] Home in Oakland where he has been a patient for several years.

A former cashier of the First National Bank in Oakland, where he served 15 and one-half years, he had entered law practice in 1930 after graduating from Cumberland University in Tennessee.

Mr. Dawson was formerly active in Boy Scout work, and in the Masonic order, being a former Senior grand warden of the Grand Masonic Lodge of Maryland. He also served on the Masonic Board of Managers for a number of years and was a former district grand inspector. He was a past master of Oakland Lodge No. 192, and was a 32nd degree Mason and a member of the Shrine, at Cumberland.

Mr. Dawson was a charter member of the Oakland Volunteer Fire department and served actively until his retirement fourteen years ago. He was a member of St. Paul's United Methodist church.

He was married to the former Lula Belle Friend, who survives, in Oakland; also one son, Walter E. Dawson, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., two grandchildren and one great grandchild.

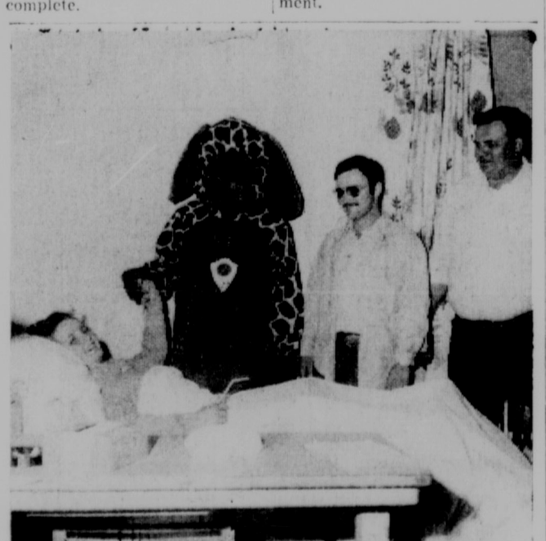
The body was taken to the John O. Durst funeral home on North Second street, Oakland. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Pa. Woman Drowns Tuesday In Deep Creek

Police Are Investigating Drowning Of Nealie Fox,

Authorities are continuing their investigations into the drowning death Tuesday of a 39-year-old Scottdale, Pa., woman.

Nealie Jane Fox, 39, was dead on arrival at Garrett County Memorial Hospital where she was taken by members of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad after being pulled from the lake.



According to Richard Fox, 42, the deceased's husband, they had been traveling north on Route 219 and had stopped approximately one-half mile south of the 219 bridge near the Trading Post for a closer look at the lake. They had stepped into a private dock and were standing there when Mrs. Fox apparently became ill and fell into the water.

Mrs. Fox, who wore leg braces, was unable to save herself, and Mr. Fox, who reportedly has a cardiac condition, was unable to pull her from the water. He ran to Route 219 and attempted to flag down passing motorists but was unsuccessful until Arthur Butler, Accident, stopped. They pulled Mrs. Fox from the water and resuscitation attempts were made by Mrs. Sarah Garner, McHenry, a member of the Southern Rescue Squad. Mrs. Fox had been in the water approximately 10 minutes before Mr. Butler arrived to help.

Dr. James H. Feaster, deputy state medical examiner declared the woman dead at the site. An autopsy was performed by Dr. Benedict Skitarelic showing the woman died as a result of drowning.

Cpl. Harry Miller, of the Natural Resource Police and Tfc. Robert E. Friend, assistant county criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, are investigating.

Several mailboxes and road signs along Garrett Road in the Bethlehem area were knocked down by vandals this week, according to the sheriff's department.

FUN FOR KIDS, and some older folks, too, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital was the aim of the committee formed by the new Southern Garrett Jaycees chapter when they visited the hospital Wednesday evening. One of the patients they visited was Bobby James, 13, who underwent an appendectomy Tuesday morning but who was able to fully appreciate the antics of the six-foot hound and his friends. Above are Bobby, who was treated to a soft drink by the Jaycees, "Gus", the dog, Christopher Donley and Danny Otto, Jaycee members. The newly-formed organization plans several community-benefit projects in the near future.

Study Approved For Separate Sewage Plant

Oakland May Get Its Own Plant With Gravity Flow Available

A study will be approved by the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene to determine whether or not a separate plant should be built to dispose of the Oakland area sewage rather than pumping it to the Mountain Lake Park area Lagoon as heretofore planned. This information was learned in a meeting on Wednesday, May 14, attended by Earl S. Quance, Chief of the Division of Water and Sewage of the Health Department and members of his staff with the Garrett County Sanitary Commission.

The town officials of Oakland have long maintained that greater efficiency and lower costs would result from a separate sewerage disposal plant for the Oakland area. However, the Department of Health had maintained a rigid position of having only one disposal plant for the Little Youghiogheny River area and had insisted that the Oakland sewage be pumped to the already-approved Lagoon near Mountain Lake Park. However, Mr. Quance said the rising construction costs of the pipeline to pump the sewage and the spiraling costs of energy has caused the Department to take a second look at the matter. A separate sewerage disposal plant for Oakland would be served essentially by gravity flow pipes and only a limited amount of pumping would be required. It is anticipated that the necessary studies could be completed in order to permit construction to commence in the spring of 1976.

In a related development, the Town of Oakland filed an appeal in the Circuit Court from the Health Department Order of April 7, forbidding further hookups to the Oakland sewer system until the Sanitary Commission had constructed a line to pump sewage from Oakland to the Mountain Lake Park Lagoon. The appeal stated that the action of the Department was improper in-

By
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks —

How do I apply for a Health Professions Student Loan?

The Health Professions Student Loan program provides long-term, low-interest loans to assist students undertaking the course of study required to become a physician, dentist, osteopath, optometrist, pharmacist. podiatrist, or veterinarian. Interested individuals should consult the Director of Student Financial Aid at the school where they intend to apply. An information booklet is also available from my office in Washington.

What percent of State land is devoted to farming?

According to the Maryland Department of Agriculture, nearly 50 percent of the State's total 6.3 million surface acres are in the hands and care of agriculturists.

Why do you oppose the land use bill?

I believe the way to better land use planning lies in localities and states making the land use decisions rather than the federal government. Experience as former Chairman of the Maryland Planning and Zoning Law Study Commission has shown me that community growth requirements and questions on how an owner can use his land are often sensitive and complex matters that are best settled at the local level. I also feel we must cut federal spending and that the half billion dollar price tax on the land use proposal will only add to the federal deficit and resulting inflationary pressures.

Does the government publish any pamphlets on home vegetable gardens?

A brochure entitled "Growing Vegetables in the Home Garden" is available for 80 cents from Consumer Information, Pueblo, Colorado 81009. Apartment dwellers can order "Minigardens for Vegetables" at 30 cents. Interested citizens can also obtain a complete list of gardening books by requesting the "Shoppers Guide" from my Washington office.

Do Congressmen have individually assigned seats on the floor of the House?

No. They did until the 63rd Congress (about 1913), but now any Member may sit where he chooses.

My mother applied for black widow lung benefits in Dec. Can you please check on the status of her claim since we have heard nothing?

The Social Security Administration in Baltimore was contacted upon receipt of your letter. As you are now aware, your mother's black lung claim was approved based on the additional material you provided your local social security office. Citizens experiencing similar difficulty obtaining government benefits justly due them should feel free to contact my office in Washington.

asmuch as Oakland had repeatedly indicated its desires to have its own disposal plant which could be served from existing sewer collection lines and that it was not fair to penalize Oakland for the absence of a pipeline to the Lagoon.

William W. Grant, attorney for Oakland, stated that steps would be taken to attempt to obtain an administrative resolution of the problem without the necessity of a trial since a number of builders have applied for sewer hookups. He said that the possibility of the construction of a separate disposal plant for Oakland has put an entirely different light on the matter.

Dan Slifko and Oren Yoder were named co-winners of the basketball defensive player of the year trophy, donated by Bausch and Lomb, Inc. Yoder was also named the most improved player and the MVP trophy, donated by First National Bank of Oakland went to Mike Saturday.

John Raszka received recognition for his being named to the Maryland JUCO first team.

In women's basketball, MVP went to Brenda Sines, earning the State Farm Insurance trophy from agent Clyde Michaels. Top defensive player was Kathy Fauber.

Pat Andrews distributed the women's awards and Dennis Fearnow, athletic director, the men's. School cheerleaders were also recognized.

An evening highlight was the presentation of an appreciation gift to Dr. Luther Shaw for his contribution and support to the athletic programs.

Head Starters Complete Program

Sally Klotz, Wanda Hinebaugh, Naomi Harvey, & Cheryl Cohee of Garrett County Head Start Program, recently completed Project PUSH's fourth institute entitled, "Teaching the Handicapped Pre-Schooler." The program focused on teaching and therapeutic techniques that can be utilized when working with handicapped children ranging in age from birth to eight years.

Topics presented included Child Development Principles, Task Analysis, Speech and Language Development, Early Identification of hearing disabilities and the Psychological Implications of Handicapping Conditions. The participants became involved with the institute through directed observation of actual classroom situations and through problem solving workshops and discussions.

A session on Early Identification of Children with Handicaps was conducted by Dr. Robert Forestandi and John Charonko of the West Virginia Early Childhood Development Program. Emphasis was placed on identifying possible handicaps early in the child's life because the preschool years are when the child develops and learns the fastest, improper habits or behavior can be more easily modified or prevented.

Norma Gray, Occupational Therapist for Project PUSH presented a session on "Special Treatment Techniques for the Handicapped." One such technique discussed, Mouth Facilitation, or the stimulation of the mouth area to induce correct movement of the eating mechanism in children with Cerebral Palsy. Mrs. Gray stated, "The close association between patterns of eating and the ability to speak give a dual reason for developing and refining movement of the mouth and tongue." She also said, "Mouth Facilitation techniques are powerful and have the ability to strongly influence muscle function."

Kevin Ridder, 10, receives a $25 Savings Bond and congratulations from Bradley Stewart and his wife Patsy for submitting the winning name for the new county magazine which will make its first appearance in July. Kevin's name for the publication is "Mountain Heritage", chosen out of the more than 70 names submitted. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart are two of the organizers of the magazine which will have articles concerning area people and places. Kevin is a fifth grader at Dennett Road School and is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ridder, Silver Knob Road.

Back To Bible Truth

In a day when people are crying for something new I would like to plead for something old — nineteen hundred years old — yet as needed today as the day it was revealed. It is something that is as applicable to our needs now as it was to the people in the first century.

Lets go BACK TO THE BIBLE and re-establish genuine NEW TESTAMENT CHRISTIANITY upon the earth! Why? Because the spiritual needs of man never change. Sin is still the same as it has always been. It still takes the same thing to cleanse a man of his sins it did nineteen hundred years ago.

"Stand ye in the way and see, and ask for the old paths, where is the good way; and walk therein, and ye shall find rest for your souls" (Jer. 6:16).

The truth of God was revealed completely during the lifetime of the apostles of Jesus Christ in the first century of our era. Christ promised to guide the apostles into all truth. This He did through the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, John 16:13.

Inasmuch as Christ guided these men into all the truth, there is no more truth to be revealed! (Heb. 1:1-2). Truth is always truth and can never change. When we go back to the truth revealed in the first century, it is the truth today as much as then.

But for nearly a thousand years the truth of God was hidden by an apostate church. Then, about 1517, was started the "reformation" movement which brought people closer to the truth. After this, in the nineteenth century, there was started a "restoration" movement, a movement to restore the church of the New Testament.

To get back to the truth takes work, hard study, and self-sacrifice. But the reward is worth the effort. It means our eternal salvation. What is a few months or even a few years of study, if in the end we know the truth, and save our soul? John 8:32, I Peter 1:3,4.

If we approach God's Word without prejudice, we can return to the original truth revealed in the first century. We are earnestly trying to return to these original truths that were revealed in the first century. Will you come and study with us that we might have the "unity of the spirit" in one body?

American Freedom and Christian Responsibility

By Rev. W. H. Leake, Deer Park, Md.

Today much controversy rages over education. Personally, I am of the old fashioned Christian American Philosophy which was known as "Reading, writing and arithmetic taught to the tune of a hickory stick." But today people who feel as I do are looked upon as "old fogey, Sticks in the mud", and according to the So called modern educator, people with my philosophy should be set in the pillory; and if they ever have their way, I am sure we will be placed in prison or shot. Be that as it may, America became the best educated nation in the world under the old fashioned kind of philosophy; but with just a few years of this so-called progressive education our schools on a national level are a little above the jungles. And God only knows where it will take us in the next few years, unless the schools are returned to local control and people with common sense.

If you really want to know what is already happening in many of our schools (and it seems that the powers that be will never be satisfied until they can get it in Garrett County schools). Read this column next week.

STOREY'S LANDING — McHENRY, MD

We're going across the ocean to get you more clean-burning gas.

In just a few years, huge ships with specially designed, super-cold compartments will be bringing additional natural gas supplies—in liquid form—from across the ocean. Natural gas can be liquefied by reducing its temperature to minus 260°F., making it possible to reduce 625 cubic feet of gas to 1 cubic foot of liquid. That means LNG can be shipped in cryogenic tankers from places we can't reach with our pipelines.

Each ship, carrying enough gas to supply more than 14,000 homes for a full year, will deliver LNG to a special receiving terminal that Columbia Gas is helping to build on Chesapeake Bay. There, the LNG will be revaporized for delivery to Columbia's pipelines.

Although its cost will be higher, LNG will give Columbia's customers more clean energy. And with scarcity and mounting expense affecting all types of energy, your gas bill will still represent one of your most economical purchases.

COLUMBIA GAS is doing something about the energy crisis.

Teacher Salary Data Released

tion is provided for 20 and 25 years of teaching service with 70 percent of the service spent in Garrett County schools.

Based on negotiated beginning salaries for next year from all Maryland subdivisions, Garrett will maintain the lowest starting pay for public school teachers in the state. The maximum pay negotiated will also have this figure, according to Mr. Flinn.

Presently Garrett's starting pay of $7,500 ranks lowest in the state and is $655 less than the state average. Only Allegany, Caroline, Somerset, Washington, and Queen Anne's counties have lower than $8,000 starting pay figures.

Garrett's maximum pay this year with a Master's degree and 16 years' experience is $12,050, 23rd of 24 subdivisions in Maryland. Although Somerset county teachers reach $11,600, the lowest maximum pay, they reach it after only 13 years' teaching experience.

Mr. Shaffer announced that recent figures supplied by the state association and the state department of education indicate that the county's ability to support schools do not support such standings.

In a compilation of assessed value of real and personal property plus net taxable income per capita, Garrett's $7,217 per person ranks 16th of Maryland's 24 subdivision, Mr. Shaffer noted, which he said indicates a greater ability towards funding than is indicated in the county's teacher standing in Maryland.

Garrett's total disbursement for current expenses and instrucuctional salaries and wages within the county school system ranks 20th of 24 subdivisions. County's cost per pupil for current expenses is $732.31 excluding the state's share of teachers' retirement, social security, and transportation. It is the lowest of Maryland's school systems while cost per pupil for current expenses in administration is $23.27, or 17th in Maryland.

Revenue for current expenses during the 1973-74 school year came primarily from state sources, 57.6 percent; federal, 10.8 percent; local, 30.5 percent; non-revenue sources, 1.1 percent. Only two other subdivisions (Caroline and Somerset) receive less in percentage funding level into its total school budget from local sources than Garrett.

In basic state aid for current expenses in 1973-74, Garrett's wealth per pupil ranks 19th in Maryland with $23,311. This figure is arrived at by taking total local wealth divided by number of pupils enrolled.

Professional staff assigned to schools in Garrett for the 1974-75 year is 306 or 53.4 per 1,000 pupils enrolled and ranks 20th in Maryland.

Ann Smith First Woman On Indiana Ambulance Crew

Paramedic Ann Smith has become the first woman to ride with the ambulance crews in South Bend, Indiana.

Miss Smith, who will graduate this month from St. Mary's College Notre Dame, Indiana, with a Bachelor of Science degree in Biology, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Smith, Pittsburgh, and granddaughter of Mrs. Fulcher P. Smith, Oakland and the late Fulcher P. Smith.

Ann works two days a week, often twelve hour shifts, for no pay. She prepared for her ambulance work-study program last summer by taking emergency medical training at the Police and Fire Academy in Pittsburgh, where she had 81 hours in class and 40 hours of practical training. At the end of the course she was certified by the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation.

After graduation, Ann hopes to stay in the paramedical field, and would like to further her training and become involved in regional health planning.

Miss Smith has been active in school and community activities as well, serving as hall president; member of Executive Board of Student Government; Red Cross Volunteer and coordinator of the Red Cross Blood drive. She is also an associate member of the Southern Garrett County Rescue squad and was a Girl Scout leader from 1969 to 1971.

Among her educational experiences have been two trips to France, one to Strasbourg and one to Cannes.

Judge Hamill Finds Two Men Guilty Of Larceny Monday

Two persons found guilty of larceny of shrubbery have been released on continuation of bond pending a pre-sentence investigation ordered by Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., following a trial Monday. The removal of four charges was denied in another case.

Ted Moreland, Gorman, and Oren Martin, Red Oak, both pleaded not guilty of larceny of shrubbery from Arborvale Corp. at Weber's Crossing, valued at $825 on February 27, and receiving stolen goods in the same incident. Judge Hamill found them both guilty on the count of larceny. The charge of receiving stolen goods, in both cases, was dismissed and merged with the larceny count. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered. Moreland was released on continuation of property bond and Martin was released on continued cash bond.

Charles Paugh, Deer Park, charged on the same two counts, requested postponement of trial and was ordered remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department pending posted bond of $500.

The motion of removal of four charges against Roger Lee Mattingly, Oakland, was denied by Judge Hamill at a hearing on Monday. The suggestion of removal of charges of burglary at the residence of Isabell Ackles, larceny of a rifle there, daytime house breaking and grand larceny, was made May 13. The charge of rape against Mattingly was not involved in this hearing.

New officers elected: James Driscoll, judge advocate; Earl Boyce, chaplain; Rodney Pike, post surgeon; Delone Brown, three-year trustee.

The third district VFW meeting in Cumberland on Sunday, May 4 was attended by several of the local post.

Installation of officers will occur at the armory in Oakland on Sunday afternoon, May 25, at 2 o'clock.

Northern Baseball Team Wins Again

Northern High baseball team captured its ninth win of the season in 11 outings, blasting Oldtown High 21 to 0 Tuesday afternoon at Oldtown.

Ron Teets whose no-hitter was broken up by a fourth-inning single by Bill Slider, got the win over Steve Brown.

Ken Sines had four hits for the Huskies while Paugh had three. Mike Cooper and Kevin Steckman had Oldtown's only other hits.

Fire Doused At Red Run Inn, Theatre Saturday

Deep Creek Volunteer firemen were called to Red Run Inn and Theatre Saturday evening about 8:55 when a gas stove in the kitchen overheated.

Fourteen firemen from Deep Creek responded to the call, and Oakland stood by for an assist. Damage was slight and was confined mainly to a wall behind the stove.

Although patrons were evacuated for approximately one-half hour, business was able to be resumed Sunday as usual.

The Deep Creek company was also called to a grass fire May 11 east of McHenry along Bumblebee Road, but there was no damage.

The fire is thought to have been caused by a downed electric line.

Off-Road Vehicles Fun For Drivers, Rough On Wildlife

Owners of an estimated 7.5 million off-road vehicles --snowmobiles, trail motorcycles, dune buggies, mini-bikes, all-terrain vehicles and hovercraft — attest to the unique pleasures derived from their use. The "ORVS," as these recreational machines are known, enable their owners to "get back to nature."

But ironically, some ORV drivers are unwittingly, and others wilfully, destroying the very thing they set out to enjoy: the natural world around them.

When improperly used, ORVs can inflict irreparable damage on nature's ecosystem. They can destroy wildlife habitat, cause soil erosion, create noise and litter, disturb wildlife, and seriously disrupt other types of recreation.

Because of this growing problem, the National Wildlife Federation is pressing the Bureau of Land Management to adopt new regulations that will limit the use of ORVs on public property.

27 Get Degrees At 3rd College Commencement

in the General Studies curriculum.

The graduates, members of their families and guests heard the college's founding president, Dr. Luther G. Shaw, speak of education and opportunity in the commencement address, "The Door Not Taken." As vice-president of Student Government Association, Douglas L. Sites, gave the class farewell address and presented Dr. Shaw with a portrait which will be displayed in the entrance lobby of the administration building.

Guests were welcomed to the commencement by Dr. Bruce G. Jenkins, Associate Dean of Instruction, who presided over the ceremony. Invocation and benediction were given by Rev. Arthur J. Gotjen, adjunct professor of biology. Members of the faculty who served as marshals were C. Dennis Fearnow, Dr. Lillian R. Mitchell, Raymond Alexander, and Randall Harman. Student flagbearers were Robert Crone, Kathleen Russell, and Gregory Eberhart.

On behalf of the Board of Trustees, Herbert Harman and Mr. Diehl presented Dr. Shaw with a plaque and expressed appreciation for his leadership and achievements during the 5 years of his presidency. They also announced that the college Learning Center will be named in his honor.

Platform guests for the commencement were State Senator Edward J. Mason, County Commissioners Wayne B. Hamilton and Don Bender, Dr. William Buser, Superintendent of County Schools, William Goldsborough, Maryland State Board of Education, and Dr. Wesley N. Dorn, Executive Director, Maryland Council for Higher Education.

Organist Ms. F. Marcella Kerns played the tradition strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" for the academic processional of robed graduates, administrators, faculty members, and honored guests. The ceremony closed with the recessional to Verdi's "Grand March from Aida."

Commissioners To Receive Keys To Buses At Program

A Key ceremony, during which time the keys of the new buses of the Garrett Bus system will be presented to the County Commisioners, has been planned by Fred G. Mullich, director of the system.

The date was set for Tuesday, June 3, at 1:30 p.m., and the program will commemorate the putting into service of the new Transcoach vehicles for the system.

A tentative place for the ceremony was scheduled for the National Guard armory in Oakland, High and Eighth streets, but the place could not be confirmed until the return of the commander from summer training.

Refreshments will be served prior to the ceremony with one of the vehicles on display. There will be a statement by a county commissioner and introduction of guests, a statement by representative of the local Commission on Aging, Inc., and a statement by a representative of the Maryland Department of Transportation, culminating in presentation of the vehicle keys to the county commissioners.

A short ride on the new vehicles will then be taken through the Pleasant Valley area.

Third graders in Mrs. Jean Noel's art class at Dennett Road School stand between displays of art work which will be exhibited next Wednesday in conjunction with a P.T.A. meeting and the annual spring band and choral concert. Left to right above are Timmy Tharp, Sally Dillsworth, Gordon Gregory, and Dawn Friend. The fruit on the table is of sawdust, to the right is paper sculpture, and behind the children are tissue flower pictures. These and many other objects and pictures will be on display in the hallway of the school next Wednesday, May 28. Band members will perform such numbers as "Battle Hymn of the Republic", "Down by the Station", and "Songs of the Carpenters Vol. II" beginning at 7:30, and the chorus will conclude the program at 8:30 with such songs as "Amazing Grace", "I'd Like to Teach the World to Sing", and "Candy Man". Mrs. Noel, who feels art is a means of communication and a response to the world around us, used many mediums in her class, ranging from crayons, chalk, charcoal, corrugated paper, clay, plaster of paris, and cloth to newspaper. Activities included abstract, realistic, monochromatic and finger painting; paper designs and collages; charcoal, chalk and pencil drawings; and 3-D work with strip paper sculpture, foam, mobiles, clay, papier mache.

Soccer is the basic source of Rugby, American football, and Australian Rules, all of which are derived from this very old sport. Football clubs were formed from 1820 onward. Apprentices played football in city streets. Eventually the game was introduced into public schools, where it received a new social standing. Each school created their own style of game, which of necessity depended on the size and shape of the playing ground.

Sam Storey Wins Bass Tournament

Seventy-eight fishermen participated in the annual Maryland Bass Federation's elimination tournament held over the weekend at Deep Creek Lake.

Winner of the tournament was Sam Storey, who had a string of fish weighing 11 pounds, seven ounces, by the close of the 20-hour contest. Mr. Storey also hooked the largest single bass, a largemouth weighing seven pounds, 14 ounces. Mr. Storey had no luck at all on Saturday, but won the contest with his Sunday catch.

In second place was Ted Blusiewicz, whose catch totaled seven pounds, 11 ounces. His string included the largest smallmouth bass caught, a four pound, one ounce specimen.

Third was Ron Dorn, with five pounds, 13 ounces; fourth was Tom Dietz, five pounds, nine ounces; and fifth was Don Moore, four pounds, 14 ounces.

These men will compete in September in an undisclosed spot in the national bass fishing contest.

In the two days of competition fishing, only 41 fish were caught. One man, here from Wednesday through Friday for so-called practice days, caught fifty bass, but during the actual contest caught only one bass.

All fish caught during the tournament and in the two days' practice time preceding the tournament were returned to the lake.

The tournament concluded Sunday evening with a dinner at Village Inn with Bill Burton, outdoor editor for the Baltimore Sun and master of ceremonies of an outdoor show on WMAR-TV, as guest speaker. Tom Thayer was local master of ceremonies, and James Coulter, Maryland secretary of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, presented a state flag to the Maryland Bass Federation.

Fishermen came from 13 bass fishing clubs in the state for the contest. The nearest club is located in Hagerstown. This is the first year the elimination tournament has been held in this county, and the only remark heard which could be construed as a complaint was that the lake is "too clear."

The contest was sponsored by the Pepsi Cola Bottling Company, Cumberland; Deep Creek Lake - Garrett County Promotion council, and Johnny's Bait House, where the fish were checked.

An Alabama county is anticipating a new oil find.

The Master's Touch

God must love beauty, to use it so lavishly. The Master Artist dapples the soft green leaves with golden sunshine, turns the brook to flowing crystal, and puts a song into Spring itself.

There is beauty in us, too . . . because He put it there. In His sight, none of us are ugly, none of us are forsaken, none of us are "lost."

But sometimes, in the busy process of day-to-day living, we turn blind eyes upon the world's loveliness, and take for granted the gifts which should brighten the hours and years. We need a faith that gives us vision to find again the inner beauty He gave us in the beginning . . . a gift which He never takes away. Let us go, then, to His Church. Let us "enter into His gates with thanksgiving . . . for the Lord is good; His mercy is everlasting; and His Truth endureth forever."

EDIFACE COMPLEX

Lesson for May 25, 1975

Background Scripture: Isaiah 31:1-3; Jeremiah 7:1-15; 26; Micah 6:6-8. Devotional Reading: Matthew 6:1-8.

The ancient Egyptians had it.

The Greeks of old had it.

The Romans and Jews had it, too.

. . . not to mention many Christians!

What?

Rev. Althouse

The Ediface Complex!

Deceptive Words

This complex is seductively dangerous to all religions, for it manages to divert our attention from the core of the religion (usually an invisible, intangible essence) to something very visible and very tangible, a building, a religious ediface.

With the Jews, of course, the "ediface complex" was centered on the temple at Jerusalem. To use the term "complex" does not mean that there was anything necessarily wrong with the ediface. In fact, the centralization of worship in the Jerusalem temple was a very unifying force in the nation of Israel. It was a constant, impressive, and very visible reminder of the presence and power of God. There was nothing wrong with the theology of temple worship.

But what was wrong is what always goes wrong when the "ediface complex" infiltrates a religion: the importance of the ediface is distorted way out of proportion. That point is reached when unwittingly the ediface becomes a substitute for God himself, when people look to the building instead of the spiritual reality the building is supposed to represent.

Whenever the people of Israel were threatened, says the prophet Jeremiah, they tended to look to the magnificent temple of Solomon as their security: "This is the temple of the Lord, the temple of the Lord, the temple of the Lord" (Jeremiah 7:4). Nothing could be more deceptive than these words that reek of the "ediface complex." They are indicative of a false sense of security.

The Shiloh example

The prophet invited the smug people of Israel to remember the example God set for them at Shiloh, the first centralized site of Jewish sacrificial worship. This sanctuary in the Samaritan mountains was destroyed by God because the people who worshipped there were blithely immoral. No sanctuary is safe or secure simply because it is a place of worship.

So it could happen even to the beautiful temple of Solomon in Jerusalem. What angered God was the moral behavior of the people who worshipped in that temple. These people did not see any connection between their worship of God and their moral behavior. They had eyes only for the ediface, not that which lay behind it.

Jeremiah was not the only one to understand this: it was a constant theme of many of the prophets of Israel. The Prophet Micah, for example, put it this way: "With what shall I come before the Lord. Shall I come before him with burnt offerings?" (Micah 6:6). And his plain answer was that none of these rituals with the ediface itself were what God [illegible] wanted:

"He has showed you, O man, what is good; and what does the Lord require you but to do justice, and to love kindness, and to walk humbly with your God?"

Introducing Your Sheriff Department

John C. Leitz, 54, is one of the newer members of the Garrett County Sheriff's office, having been sworn in December 30, 1974. He is currently working in the northern portion of the county in the Friendsville area.

Born October 1, 1920 in Baltimore, he was a resident there until December 1974 when he moved to Garrett County. He and his wife, Evelyn Louise Leitz, had maintained a residence in the county since 1966.

He and his wife have two grown children, Bob Leitz and Christine David, both of whom reside in the Baltimore area.

Prior to entering the sheriff's department here, Deputy Leitz served 24 years with the Baltimore City Police Department, retiring in December 1974 with the rank of Sergeant. During his career there, he spent time in the Patrol division and served 8½ years as an instructor in the Police Academy, teaching a variety of general police subjects. He finished his career in the Tactical section where his function was emergency services, crowd control and the rendering safe and disposition of clandestine explosives and incendiary devices.

Since joining the sheriff's department he is engaged in conducting in-service training for the members of that department.

During his career in Baltimore, he received two commendation ribbons for outstanding achievement and also the police commissioner ribbon for services during the 1968 civil disturbances.

Among his certificates for specialized schooling while a member of the Baltimore PD are the Maryland Police Training Commission Teaching Certificate; U.S. Department of Justice - Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs; Baltimore PD - Police Leadership and Administration; FBI - Law Officers Training School; International Association of Chiefs of Police - Police Management; U.S. Marine Corps - Instructor Orientation course; Department of the Army - Bomb and Sabotage Training, Explosive and Incendiary Recognition; Identification and Recognition of Clandestine Devices; Recognition and Identification of Hazardous Devices; Bomb Threats and Defense Against Civil Disturbances and Sabotage; Md. Police Training Commission - Bomb Seminar; Baltimore Junior College - Basic Driver Education; Catonsville Community College, Motor Fleet Supervisors Workshop Disaster Control and Civil Defense - Disaster Services, Radiological Meter Operator; and five certificates from the Baltimore PD for in-service training.

He attended schools in Baltimore, including St. James Parochial Grammar School, Baltimore City College, (high school), and graduated from the Community College of Baltimore with honors in June 1972 with an Associate of Arts degree in Law Enforcement, where he had an average of 3.692 out of a possible 4.0.

During World War II he served in the U.S. Army spending 18 months overseas in the European Theatre of operations, getting two battle stars for the Rhineland and Central Europe campaigns.

Deputy Leitz is a member of the National Rifle Association; American Legion Post No. 130; Fraternal Order of Police, Baltimore Lodge No. 3; Delmar and Potomac Chapter of Bomb Technicians and Investigators.

TWENTY-FIVE YEAR MEMBERS — Two members of Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias received 25-year certificates at a regular meeting of the order last Thursday evening. They were presented by Lawrence Groves, chancellor commander, center. Recipients were Willard Hayden, left, and Ben Knepp, Jr., right. Eligible for 25-year certificates were two others, who were unable to be present. They were Robert Holt and Robert Dodge. It was indicated that some 50-year jewels may be presented to two or three members the first meeting night in June.

Events Above The Mountain Top

Paul S. Frank, Jr.

Lunar Eclipse

The moon will pass through the earth's shadow early Sunday morning. It will enter the darkest part of the shadow at 1:21 a.m. By 2:06 a.m. the moon will be in the exact center of the shadow. At this time the full moon will appear deep reddish-orange in color.

It is easy to observe changes in brightness of the moonlight during the eclipse as well as the changes in the color of the moon as it passes through the shadow. For those who desire to observe the entire eclipse, observations should begin at midnight and extend until 3:54 a.m. so that the entire penetration of the earth's shadow may be seen.

Changes in the color of the moon are due to the refraction of the sunlight passing close to the earth by the atmosphere. These bent light rays are reflected from the moon so that it appears differently and does not usually disappear in the shadow. The condition of the earth's atmosphere changes from eclipse to eclipse so that the exact color changes may not be predicted with certainty.

Full Moon occurs at 2:09 a.m. Sunday. The moon will rise at 5:58 p.m. today. By Wednesday moonrise will not occur until 11:34 pm.

Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn are easily visible this week. Mercury is to the lower right of Venus and is just above the west horizon an hour after sunset. Venus is the brightest object in the west sky. It forms an isosceles triangle with Castor and Pollux in Gemini. Saturn will be very close to Venus on Friday evening. Mars rises about an hour and a half before the sun among the stars of Aquarius. Jupiter rises about an hour before the sun and is the brightest object in the predawn sky.

Column For Homemakers

By Mrs. Freda Denison Extension Agent

Garrett County Heritage

Garrett County Homemakers are proud of their Heritage and expressed this feeling with a program on "Show and Tell".

The guest speaker was Mrs. Robert Dickinson. She gave a history on stitchery and had a lovely display of Crewel Embroidery she had done. Mrs. Dickinson is a Home Economist and has taught a class in stitchery at the Community College at McHenry.

Three Homemakers, Mrs. Jonas Beachy, Mrs. Foster Yost, and Mrs. George Bowser gave a short history of Maple Sugar Making. They made maple sugar cakes and showed how to pull taffy.

The Instrumental music was provided by two young homemakers from the Bittinger area, Mrs. Joyce Brenneman and Mrs. Joyce Miller. Their music was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Reuben Fazenbaker, County Council Vice President presided over the meeting. Mrs. Freda Denison gave remarks on College Days and encouraged women and husbands to attend.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

For some time there has been an increasing tendency to misspell and mispronounce the name of one of our old landmarks, Broad Ford. This now is often spelled "Broadford" with an accompanying ridiculous pronunciation of "Broadferd." Taking this erroneous spelling by the newspapers, and the incorrect pronunciation by certain local radio commentators as their cue, the public is being misled.

If this continues, we reasonably may expect in the future to see Deer Park become "Deerpurk;" Loch Lynn "Locklin;" Terra Alta "Terawlta," etc. Do any of the residents of these comunities desire such changes? Surely they do not.

Broad Ford, the little stream that helps to form and gives its name to the new Broad Ford Lake, heads just south of Route 219, is joined by Kings Run near where it crosses the old Deer Park road, about two miles west of Deer Park, and then meanders southeast to where it empties into the new lake. Doubtless in the old days it was forded, rather than crossed by way of a culvert as has been the case within the writer's long experience, but it would seem that whoever gave the stream and its ford the name must have been in an expansive mood, as the actual ford could not have been more than perhaps fifteen feet wide.

The historic road at this point is the original one dating from Washington's time, Westbound, crossing the Savage River at the Westvaco lumber yard, it climbed Backbone Mountain, passing through Swanton, to the Polly Ingman Inn; thence past the farms of Michael Garrett; John Riley (later the Andrew Pysell farm); the Anchorage (home of the Cumberland Perry families); the several Shaffer farms; the home of Major George Calmes, and on into Oakland and so to Morgantown.

With all the publicity now being given to the new Broad Ford Lake, this might be an appropriate time to restore the historic Broad Ford spelling, in newspapers and the various road and other markers, as well as the proper pronunciation.

Very truly yours,
Robert B. Garrett

Insurance FACTS

State governments exercise some control over many phases of the operations of insurers. The insurer is often continually regulated by the states. This is because most obligations of insurance companies extend years into the future. The state provides supervision in most cases to see that the promises in the most lengthy contracts are fulfilled. The strictest regulation of contracts is applied in fire insurance, where each of the states stipulates the exact wording for the standard fire insurance contract.

At GONDER INSURANCE AGENCY, 203-205 South 2nd St., Oakland, 334-3343, we pride ourselves on the completeness of our service. Commissioners Limit Speed On Deep Creek Drive

County road improvements were under discussion at the regular meeting of the County Commisioners. Commissioners Wayne Hamilton and Don Bender met with Swanton area residents concerning road conditions there. Speaking for the Roads department, Paul W. DeWitt, administrative engineer, told those present that work on the road would begin next month.

In other action involving roads, the commissioners adopted a resolution to post Deep Creek Drive with a 30 mile per hour speed limit sign and prohibit heavy truck traffic from using that road. The resolution was adopted in accordance with Article 25, Section 1, of the Annotated Code.

Commissioners said they took this action because of increasing hazards being caused by speeding vehicles.

Asks for Bus

Representatives of the Child Development Policy Council met with the commissioners to request a local match of $1,200 to purchase a small school bus for the Child Development program. They took the request under advisement, citing uncertainties in the upcoming budget on the availability of funds.

Tuesday Chairman Hamilton met as a representative of the Maryland Association of Counties with Secretary of Agriculture, Y. D. Hance, to discuss preservation of agricultural land in Maryland. Mr. Hamilton was asked to represent MACO because he is an official of a rural county and is in active farming himself.

Don Bender, chairman of the Roads board, went on a roads inspection trip to review road conditions in a portion of the county.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Brian David Beachy, who passed away one year ago, May 22, 1974.

No little child has ever come from God and stayed a brief while, returning again to the Father, without making glad the home, and leaving behind some trace of heaven. The family would count themselves poorer without those quaint sayings, those cunning caresses, that soft touch, that sudden smile. This short visit was not an incident; it was a blessing.

Industrial Users Notified Of Gas Allocations Cut

Major industrial users of natural gas in Garrett and Allegany counties have adopted a "wait-see" attitude on the announcement last week by Columbia Gas of Maryland that fuel allocations will be cut 55 percent by November.

The gas company's intended curtailment of industrial usage, due mainly to dwindling gas supplies, follows by less than six months a 10 percent cut last December.

The four industries affected locally are the Kaiser, Mt. Savage and Harbison-Walker Refractories and the Amcelle Plant of Celanese Corporation.

Harbison-Walker stated that the refractory process is wholly dependent on fuel of some sort, and is waiting to see just what fuel is available in November. Harbison-Walker, which fires two continuous kilns, can fire half of the kiln on fuel oil and the other half on natural gas, a capacity not possessed by other plants. The Grantsville plant can thus adjust to a temporary switch to fuel oil easier than could the other refractories.

However, fuel oil allocations will be based on usage last year, when the industries were using mostly gas, and it is possible that not enough fuel will be allocated to maintain present production levels.

Large volume industrial customers in Maryland were notified last week by letter from Columbia Gas of Maryland, whose manager for the Cumberland area, John S. Wilson, stated reasons for the curtailment.

Eleven large volume industrial customers in the state could anticipate a minimum curtailment of 55 percent below normal allocation during the five winter months beginning November 1. He cautioned that the curtailment projections are based on preliminary figures and could be increased.

Last winter industrial curtailment only reached ten percent in Maryland due to reduced consumption by some of the affected industrial customers.

Columbia Gas Transmission Corp., supplier for the Maryland company, has invested more than 800 million dollars since 1970 in the development of new gas suppliers. Programs include a synthetic gas plant now in operation in northwestern Ohio; construction of facilities to receive natural gas in liquid form from Algeria estimated to commence in 1977; acquisition of an interest in 32 tracts in the Gulf of Mexico to explore and develop new gas reserves, and participation in a group proposing the construction of a pipeline to bring natural gas from Alaska. If government approvals are received promptly, deliveries from Alaska could begin by 1980.

Last Week's Accidents Injure Several Persons

Held over from last week's copy with Saturday referring to May 10.

Several persons were injured in accidents last week through Saturday night. Some were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital while others apparently received only slight injuries.

Richard Dean Rush, operator of the car and a passenger, Linda Sue Rush, both of RD 1, Oakland, were treated and released from the hospital following a three-car accident on Md. 135 near the Sand Flat road Saturday afternoon.

Rush was driving east on Rt. 135 and failed to reduce speed to avoid a collision with a car driven by James E. Kent, Mt. Lake Park. Kent was in the process of making a left turn into a private drive from eastbound on Rt. 135. Kent then crossed the highway attempting to avoid a collision, and struck the parked, unoccupied car of Rosalie V. Evans. Tfc. C. H. Hinnant charged Rush with failing to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

A one-car mishap late last Thursday sent three persons to the hospital where they were treated and released. Roy A. Dillsworth and his two passengers, Ruby and Roger Dillsworth, all of Swanton, were traveling east on a private road approaching Route 495. The operator applied his brakes and had none. He then lost control, ran off the left side of the road, down an embankment and turned over. Tfc. Ronald Lewis investigated.

In a two-car wreck last Saturday the passenger in each car sustained slight injuries. Anna Mae Sharnas, Lakewood, Ohio, was a passenger in a car operated by Joseph S. Eddins, Parma, Ohio and Patricia L. McGinnis, RD 2, Oakland, was a passenger in the car driven by Theodore N. Bishoff, RD 1, Rowlesburg, W. Va. Eddins was driving north on an unnamed road (Co. Rd. 343), in the Cove area. Through inattention of the operator, he failed to note the car driven by Bishoff turning left from McHenry road onto Co. Rd. 343, when the collision occurred. Bishoff had failed to grant the right-of-way and Tfc. Hinnant also charged him with displaying expired registration plates.

Another passenger was slightly injured last Friday afternoon in a two-pickup mishap on Md. 135 near Swanton Hill road. Hazel L. Barnard was riding in the pick-up driven by William Otto Barnard, both of Swanton.

Barnard had entered Rt. 135 and had gone about 200 feet westbound and was turning left into a private drive. Garrett E. Smith, Bridgeville, Pa., was passing Barnard at the time and the two collided in the eastbound lane.

Late the same night Ronald E. Paugh, Star Route 1, Oakland, was traveling west on the Glendale road just east of U.S. 219. Joseph F. Kamineck, Jr., of RD 4, Deer Park, in a pickup, turned left from Rt. 219 onto Glendale road, cut the corner too sharp and collided with the Paugh car. Tfc. Hinnant charged Kamineck with making an improper left turn.

Paul J. Himelrick, Terra Alta, W. Va., was traveling east on the Crellin road just east of the Dilly road last Saturday morning and lost control of his vehicle. The car went off the roadway and struck an embankment. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater charged Himelrick with operating while intoxicated.

Nancy J. Upole, RD 3, Deer Park, was traveling south on Md. 560 just south of the Garrett road last Saturday afternoon. Her car went out of control for some unknown reason. A witness stated the car swerved several times on the roadway, went over an embankment, struck a fence and came to rest astride a drainage ditch. Sgt. H. W. Graham investigated.

A two-vehicle accident occurred on U.S. 40 at Keyser Ridge last Saturday night.

Victor L. Kifer, McKeesport, Pa., was driving westbound on Rt. 40 as James R. Frantz, Star Route, Grantsville, was eastbound. Kifer crossed the roadway into the eastbound lane. Frantz noticed this and went left to avoid the Kifer car but the two collided. Tfc. Dale Williams charged Kifer with failing to keep to the right side the road and operating without a valid license.

Administrators Of Carroll Co. Here For Title I Tour

School administrators from Carroll County visited schools here Wednesday, May 14, to observe the services being provided children as part of the local E.S.E.A. Title I project.

Visiting were Sharon Butler, Frances Crawford, Virginia Reese, Ronald Burinsky, and Frank Wargny. They expressed special interest in the roles of the early childhood resource teachers and the parent-aides.

A morning meeting with local Title I personnel and elementary supervisors was held to present an overview of the program and to answer questions. The visitors, accompanied by Ernest Spoerlein and David Miller, toured Classrooms at Oak Street, Center Street, Friendsville and Grantsville schools talking with principals, teachers and children. They joined the parent-aides on visits to home to talk with parents. A luncheon meeting provided another opportunity for discussion with the various people involved in the program.

Construction decline is said to be stabilizing.

The skirt flowed softly into a chapel length train and was complemented with a wide hemline ruffle. Her fingertip veil of illusion, edged with matching lace, fell from a wide lace headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white daisies and babys breath.

Maid of honor was Frances Sorrels of Staunton, Va. Learning Center To Be Named In Dr. Shaw's Honor

The naming of the Garrett Community College Learning Center in honor of the college's founding president, Dr. Luther G. Shaw, was announced at commencement last week by Robert F. Diehl, vice-chairman for the Board of Trustees.

As Dr. Shaw shared farewells with members of the graduating class, expressions of gratitude for his leadership and service came from Herbert Harman who presented a plaque from the Board of Trustees as a token of their appreciation, and from Douglas L. Sites, vice-president of the Student Government Association.

In his farewell message as commencement speaker, Dr. Shaw chose "The Door Not Taken" to express his views on the need for educators and students to realize the full implications of the community college open door policy.

"Unlike Robert Frost's poem in which there was a choice of only two roads," he said, "this college offers to all of us here the choice of three open doors- a revolving door, a closet door, and a door of opportunity — and each of us here must make the decision as to which of these doors he will enter."

Dr. Shaw's hopes for the future came in his closing words with a reference to the "Impossible Dream" that was realized with the building of the college. "I am sure that the door WE take will be the one to assure that at Garrett Community College the dream will live on."

Three others, Kathy Ann Diedrich, Lynn Jean Huber and Janet Lynn Graffam, all 18, and from Pittsburgh, pleaded not guilty on the same charge and the plea was sustained. A fifth girl involved, a juvenile, was not charged.

John Edward Grider, no home address, had been charged with vagrancy by wandering about Bradley Manor and other public buildings, intoxicated, with no money and no home address and deemed a vagrant. The case was dismissed at a trial Tuesday as the state did not wish to prosecute at this time.

Area Boy Scouts Earn Advancement

Fifteen Boy Scouts in the Deep Creek District of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, have earned advancement awards in the first quarter of 1975 for meeting a progressive series of requirements in various skills. This was reported by Dr. James Fearer, Deep Creek District Advancement Chairman.

Highest rank approved so far this year was for Star Scout to the following: Donley Uphold, of Troop 75, Bayard, W. Va., John Johnston, scout master; Kevin L. Biser, Troop 70, Mt. Lake Park, Leo Martin, Scout Master.

Dr. Fearer also announced that fifty scouts earned a total of sixty-seven merit badges during the quarter. The merit badge program encourages scouts to explore worthwhile fields of interest to help them find what kinds of activities they like best and those for which they are best suited. The program also offers further training in scouting fundamentals and skills.

"In addition to the new knowledge a scout acquires, the badges are required for Star, Life, and Eagle advancement ranks, and the program brings a scout into contact with successful and responsible citizens," Dr. Fearer said. "There is an expanding need for more counselors to join those present in the Deep Creek District who work closely with Boy Scouts on subjects ranging from agriculture to zoology and business to outdoor skill," he added.

Survival of 10-year-old Boy Is Termed "Miracle" After 11-hour Ordeal Trapped Under Falls

JOYFUL CLIMAX to night-long anxiety occurred at 7:13 Sunday morning when Somerset, Pa., water rescuers emerged from beneath the water falls just north of Swallow Falls with 10-year-old Richard Bouchard alive and well. The boy had spent the night behind the roaring water after being swept over the falls while swimming early Saturday evening. Repeated dives by his father failed to find Richard and rescue service personnel were called to the scene. Here members of Southern Rescue wrap the boy in blankets prior to an ambulance run to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Somerset diver Donald Shaffer who found Richard, and Shaffer's diving partner, are just coming out of the water in the background. —Photo by Perry Shaffer.

The persistence of emergency crews and the courage of a 10-year-old boy beat fantastic odds against survival after Richard Bouchard was swept over the lower falls at Swallow Falls State Park Saturday.

The drama, which began as fun, moved swiftly to horror, lingered agonizingly for nearly eleven hours on despair, and climaxed in a burst of joy, the like of which few have ever had the privilege to enjoy.

Young Bouchard, his father, sister Christina and two neighbor children, all from Forestville, were having a ball sliding down the rocks in the water below Swallow Falls. "One more time, Dad," said Richard as the group prepared to go back to their tent at the campgrounds. Mid-channel current caught him, sweeping him rapidly toward the falls over "Blue Hole." His father raced to catch him but missed. The boy went over, plunging into the boiling, rolling waters which through the years have claimed many lives.

Repeated dives by the father failed to find Richard, who, unbeknown to his dad, had surfaced in a cavity behind the roaring falls which effectively muffled his cries for help. Daylight was fading and so was hope that the child was alive.

A call for Southern Rescue Squad was recorded at 8:35 p.m. placed by Clifford England of the Maryland Park Service. Sheriff's deputy William Bernard, hearing the monitor, also left for the scene. Park Superintendent Charles Thomas, Harold Stark and Richard Sines hurried to the falls. Herrington Manor life guard Julius Goepp began diving. Rescue squad members in addition to those on crew one responded, all equipped with miner's lights. A quick survey indicated much more help was needed and Deep Creek Fire Company which has developed a potential for water rescue dispatched men, boats, ropes. Deer Park firemen brought generators and lights. State fire marshal Robert Shimer brought walkie talkies. As they were arriving on the scene, three boys on the east side of the river reported that they heard a yell from beneath the falls. The report seemed almost unbelievable. EMT Carl Cathell re[illegible] dent [illegible] children had be[illegible] under the falls for nearly 45 minutes and then came bobbing out.

The report, however, had an electric effect on the Deep Creek firemen who immediately launched their boat and prepared an assault on the falls.

Meanwhile, the tension of the moment was having a profound effect on the parents of Richard, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Bouchard. The heartrending, gut-wrenching prospect of having lost their son forever was making its presence felt. Mrs. Bouchard collapsed on the trail. Rescue squad members carried her to a waiting ambulance, thence to Garrett Memorial Hospital for sedation, then back to the tenting area. EMT Celene Trickett stayed with her much of the night.

The father, however, returned to the river to take up a lonely vigil on a rock jutting out over the falls.

Rescue crews were busy setting up a plan of attack upon the river. EMT Ben Sincell swam a rope across the river above the falls from which a line was secured to the boat, hauling it as close to the falls as possible. Md. State Tfc. Gary Berkebile traversed the river by the rope to help coordinate the effort. The current was overpowering. Repeated efforts by Skip Bernard and Gary King failed to breach the roaring waters to get behind the falls.

Scuba gear was needed and was not immediately available.

A call from Sheriff John Evans, Jr., went out for the Maryland State Police scuba team at Hagerstown who thought they might arrive at about 6 a.m. Sunday morning.

A subsequent teletype message indicated that arrival would be delayed until nearly 10 a.m. Time was of the essence, with the possibility, remote as it was, that Richard was still alive, so Sheriff Evans called Somerset fire department which has a water rescue team. They received the call at 3 a.m. and were enroute at 3:20.

Under the falls Richard was aware that there was much activity in his behalf. He commented that he couldn't go to sleep because the lights were too bright. He didn't know at that moment that rescue attempts had been called off until daylight and that lights were left on to let him know, if he were alive, that he hadn't been abandoned.

Deep Creek fireman Chuck Thomas, and Deer Park firemen Roland Schoch, Bob Thrasher, James McCartney, and EMTs Chris Donnelly, Wayne Englander and Ben Sincell kept watch throughout the rest of the night and tended the generators. Food seemed to appear magically from concerned Park Service personnel and other EMTs.

About 6 a.m. Somerset firemen rolled into the park, immediately set their equipment in place, suited up and prepared to enter the water. At that moment a fisherman walking down

Dedication of the plaque is a step toward the permanent memorial to be constructed on grounds of the newly constructed Friendsville elementary school.

Started over two years ago by the district, with an expected expenditure of nearly $10,000, money has been raised by donations from veterans' organizations, fraternal groups, business establishments and individuals.

The bronze plaque and accompanying stone containing the names of the six heroes, have been received and will be placed in the completed memorial. Citizens of Friendsville and nearby areas have been helpful in planning the event, Mountain District officials said.

Rubella Outbreak Occurs In County

A localized outbreak of Rubella (3-day measles) has been identified in this county, according to Dr. William W. Pope, county health officer. He said the first case appeared April 6 and a total of 35 cases have been identified. Ages of cases range from two years to forty-six.

Principle symptom has been a rash appearing on the face spreading to the trunk and body which lasts only a few days. Many cases reported some fever and soreness of the lymph nodes of the back of the neck. Adult cases reported soreness of the joints. Blood tests confirmed the identification of the disease in one case and other blood tests are in process, Dr. Pope said. Health advisors from the State Health Department have assisted in the tracing and identification of suspected cases.

Last major epidemic of Rubella swept the country in 1964. Of the four pregnant women known to be exposed to the present outbreak, all have been found to be immune to the disease.

Francis Mouse unloaded a 3rd inning grand slam home run in support of Tim Martin's shutout pitching as the Allegany High Campers defeated Southern Rams 10 to 0 in District One finals of the Maryland class "B" baseball tournament, on Saturday.

Martin used good control in limiting the Rams to no runs despite allowing eight hits. He walked two, stranded all 10 runners, and fanned seven for his sixth victory in nine decisions.

Senior Gary Welch suffered the loss for the Rams in three innings, allowing five hits, seven runs and two walks, while striking out none. Dan Bosley then took over, fanned 3 and gave up four hits and three more runs.

Allegany had jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first inning. The Campers added another in the second, then four on Mouse's homer. They added three more in the final innings.

Southern finisehd the season with a 5-8 record, losing the last four contests consecutively.

Back To The Bible Church

Jesus built His church during the lifetime of His apostles. The people who were called out of sin by the Gospel were gathered into the church we read about in the Bible (Acts 2:47).

The Bible church was the subject of prophecy in the Old Testament, where it is referred to as the "Kingdom".

Isaiah said (Isaiah 2:1-4) that Jehovah's house would be built "in the last days". In I Timothy 3:15 we see that the house of God is the church. The last days refer to the last age of time, which began on the first Pentecost after the ascension of Jesus (Acts 2:17). We are now living in the age that Isaiah stated that the church would be built.

In Daniel 2 we read of the image Nebuchadnezzar saw, and Daniel's interpretation of it. There were to be four universal kingdoms to rule over men, beginning with Babylon, then in power. We learn from history that these four kingdoms are: Babylonian, Medo-Persian, Greek and Roman kingdoms. In verse 44 of this 2nd chapter, Daniel says of the fourth, or Roman kings, "In the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom". In Luke 3:1 we find that the Roman kings were ruling in the first century of our era. It was time for God to set up His Kingdom, or church.

The object of Jesus' promise was the Bible church. At the outset of His ministry He preached, "the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand" (Mark 1:14). Near the end of His public ministry He plainly said, "Upon this rock I will build my church" (Matthew 16:18).

In Acts chapter 2 we read of the beginning of the church when the first Gospel sermon was preached and 3,000 believed and obeyed the Lord.

It was anticipated by the Lord that the church, as a body would be lost from view during the dark ages. In Revelation 12:6, John was told that the church would be lost for a time as a woman lost in the wilderness.

The departure from the truth that carried the church into apostacy was very gradual. It took several hundred years for an apostate church to fully develop. During these years, the church lost its name, organization, most of its doctrine, form of worship and method of work.

We get back to the Bible church, not by starting a new denomination, but by teaching the same truths the apostles taught, revealed to them by the Holy Spirit (Ephesians 3:5). Restoring the church is done by taking the seed, which is the word of God (Luke 8:11) and planting it in the hearts of men. When the word is conceived there it will produce faith (Roman 10:17); it will produce repentance (Romans 2:4); it will impel a man to confess Christ (Romans 10:10) and to obey his Lord in baptism (Acts 2:38). At this time the Lord will add him to the church (Acts 2:47). If we continue faithfully in the church (Acts 2:42), He will give us the crown of life (Revelation 2:10).

By faithfully following the teaching of the Bible we restore the name, organization, doctrine, worship and work that God gave the church. If we do this we are the same church that existed in the first century — the Bible church.

We would invite you to study with us to restore that church.

Man Held Under Bond Of $50,000

Warren T. Curry, 28, North College Hill, Ohio, Monday, was ordered held under $50,000 bond pending trial on charges of attempted robbery and robbery with a deadly weapon, of James Nelson Layman, star route, Frostburg, who was cutting grass in a cemetery behind Mt. Zion church along U. S. route 40, some eight miles east of Grantsville.

Allegany district court Judge Miller Bowen set a full cash bond for Curry, who was committed to the Allegany county jail in default.

Authorities said Curry is being held in Allegany county rather than Garrett county jail at Oakland because of security precautions.

Curry is charged with attempted murder and robbery with a deadly weapon (a knife) of Mr. Layman, 71.

Mr. Layman was beaten and robbed of $50 while cutting grass. Mr. Layman was hospitalized with abrasions and lacerations and is still a patient at Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland where he was listed as "improved".

Curry was taken into custody last Friday afternoon in the New Germany area, but a second man believed involved in the robbery incident managed to elude police.

State Police said extra patrols are being maintained in the county in an effort to locate the second man. A helicopter was used last Friday. A female companion of Curry also was being sought.

Curry also is being held on a fugitive warrant from Orange County, Fla., where he is wanted for escaping from jail at Orlando in May. Police said Curry also was wanted on charges in South Carolina.

The second man police are searching for is described as a colored man about six feet tall weighing between 165 and 180, light skinned and has Afro-styled hair. He reportedly has a mustache and sideburns and was wearing blue trousers and shirt when last seen.

Completes Basic

Airman Harry C. Turney, III, son of Harry and Ruth Turney, 302 M. Street, Mt. Lake Park, has completed his basic training and several weeks of schooling at Lackland Air Force base in Texas. the east side of the river, stopped to observe the activity. He heard a shout from beneath the falls and pointed to the spot from whence it came. The divers entered the water at 6:55 under the pounding falls, and at 7:13 Somerset fireman/diver Donald Shaffer emerged with Richard in his arms. Richard was indeed alive

A crescendo of shouts, pats on the back, jumping up and down, and, admittedly, a few tears, greeted the rescued and rescuer. A miracle had really happened. Every effort, muscle strain, sleeplessness and discomfort had been worth every minute of it.

Richard wasn't much the worse for his ordeal. He was cold, tired, frightened and hungry, but that's about all. He was quickly carried to the ambulance while Supt. Charlie Thomas and EMT David Turney went to tell the parents the great news. The reunion of mother and son, of father and son covered a gamut of emotions that is better left undescribed. As EMT Chris Donnelly said, "It made the day."

Widespread appreciation of the work of the Somerset Volunteer fire department and scuba divers who came to Swallow Falls last Saturday to assist in rescuing the youth has been expressed here by many people, who have expressed a desire to contribute to their support. Donations may be given to the Sheriff's office in Oakland which will be forwarded to the Somerset organization.

Game Of Tags

The wonders of creativity have not ceased in our old Line State. For proof, observe the innovations on the new license plates, which will not long be a novelty, but now can serve as a cause of gaiety.

For example, have you seen Dad riding along with the children and DAD on his metal fixtures? Or a SIR or SIS who look as if they are just that? A MRS would be right in line except for women's libbers, but we have not spied one. We have seen a DRY, but not WET, a GET but not a GEM anywhere. Nor have there appeared many sportsmen's words, such as ROD, BOX, PRO or SKI.

It is very easy also to think of initials, especially for the people one knows, but I do not know of anyone so lucky as to have his own. However, a few days after May 1, I saw in a Maryland city the DLK which probably has appeared on so many automobile sales slips in Grantsville.

Many people who have remarked about the new license plates agree that the whole system is much better without labeling any vehicle with derogatory words like PIG or BAD or NIL, but they could appear if one watched enough in several localities. Fortunate people may have a reference to the car, as in CAD (on a Chevrolet) or some real action words that make you notice, such as FLY, POP, ADD or FRY. Some drivers would be aghast at driving a car which carries around misspellings: LUV, DUZ, RUF, or SED, and I agree, for there are enough of these in other businesses.

The names are now appearing with JIM, BOB, and TOM as prominent ones, but excitement will certainly reign for the owners who know that other people are reading WOO, SEX, MOD or CON. Has anyone seen a simple Man? Or a simple number such as TWO or SIX or TEN?

If you can do all of this with a state lettering system of three letters, think what you could produce with one of four

But the true individualists who ordered their own license plates make the rest of us recline in the ranks of the commonplace. Two of these seen by the writer reflect definitely opposing self-images. On one small green Austin Healy was the admission BROKE. And on an older Cadillac, all black and shiny, parked in front of me, was the driver's characterization, MRCOOL.

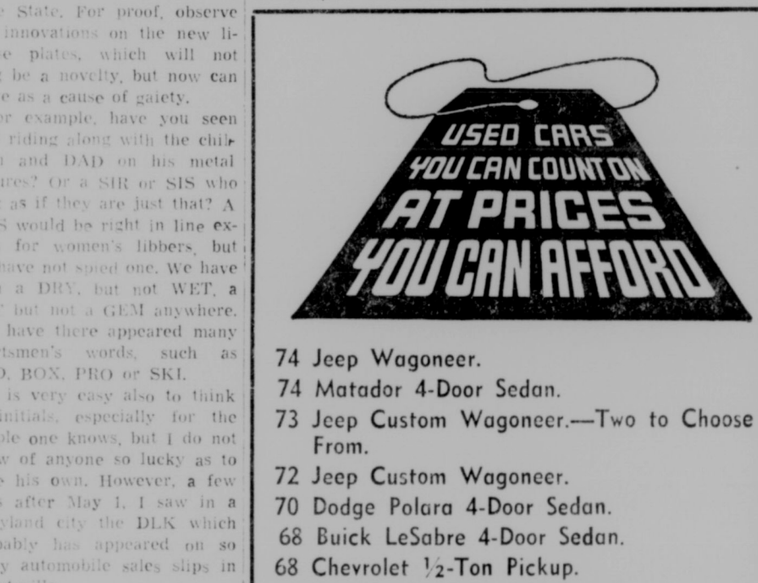
Notice to Women Who May Be in the Early Stages of Pregnancy



Several cases suspected of being Rubella (German-measles or 3-day measles) have been recorded in Garrett County. It is important that all women in this county who may be less than 20 weeks along in pregnancy check with their physician, or the health department, to determine (1) if they are definitely pregnant, (2) whether blood tests show that they have immunity to the Rubella disease.

If Rubella is present in the community, and a woman is in the early stages of pregnancy but does not have immunity to Rubella, it is very important for the health of her unborn child that she receive advice, and possibly treatment, from a physician.

Again, tests of pregnancy and immunity to Rubella are available through your physician, or from the health department.

Northern Huskies Lose To Bruce 1-0

Ron O'Reily's single through the legs of pitcher Buddy Fauber chased home Bob Ahern from third base in the bottom of the eighth inning, to give Bruce High a 1 to 0 victory over Northern High Huskies Monday afternoon at Bishop Walsh High school and a berth in the district 1 class "C" final playoffs.

Bruce will go against Brunswick High for the district championship.

Pat Donnelly, surrendering only two hits, registered his third win in as many seasons over Northern in post season playoff action. Monday he scattered two singles and struck out 15 batters and didn't allow a runner past second base.

Two years ago Bruce won 1 to 0 in a 12 inning game. Last year Bruce won 9 to 3.

Monday Donnelly and Fauber dueled to a scoreless deadlock for seven innings. Terry McIntyre led off the bottom of the eighth with a single, the fifth hit of the game for the Bulldogs and was forced at second by Donnelly.

Bob Andrews then hit a triple and the game appeared to be nearing its end when Donnelly raced around third, but he was thrown out at the plate, with Ahern stopping at third. O'Reily then followed with his bouncer up the middle and Ahern raced home with the winning run.

Northern's biggest threat occurred in the sixth inning when Mark Russell was hit by a pitch, the first Huskie to get aboard since Bender's single in the first inning. Russell was sacrificed to second but then Donnelly induced Ronnie Teets and Fauber to strike out.

Donnelly walked one batter while Fauber walked two and struck out five. The Huskies concluded their season with a record of 10-3.

The dinner was preceded by a tour of the chemistry laboratory facilities at the college and was followed by a talk on "Folk Medicine," by Dr. Ralph Bolmster, School of Pharmacy, University of Maryland.

Accompanying Angela was her chemistry instructor, Mrs. Sarah Ruston.

Angela is a straight "A" student at Southern. She is a member of the Nationtl Honor Society and is listed in "Who's Who Among High School Students". Outside of school Angela spends a lot of time at the roller skating rink as she skates competitively.

Two Mile Busing Limit Is Defeated

William Goldsborough, member of the Maryland State Board of Education, announced this week that the issue of not busing public school students who live two miles or less from their schools was defeated at the last meeting of the Maryland Board.

At the last meeting, Richard Shifter, board vice president from Bethesda, made the motion to set a two-mile bus transportation limit for high school students.

The final vote defeating the motion was four to three, Mr. Goldsborough said.

The present policy calls for elementary students who live less than a mile from school to walk, while high school students have a mile and a half limit for busing.

At Wednesday's meeting of the State Board of Education in Crisfield High School, a review of the policy for school bus transportation will be made, especially for those students who live along hazardous routes where there are no sidewalks.

A state responsibility for pupil transportation committee was appointed this Wednesday.

50 Locally Made Quilts are Exhibited In Baltimore Area

An impressive collection of more than 50 locally-made quilts was placed on exhibition and sale last week at Hutzler Brothers department store in the suburbs of Baltimore.

This more recent handcraft promotion was the result of efforts of Ivan and Virginia Rowe, owners of The Appalachian Shop, area handcraft outlet, McHenry. The Rowes have been developing off-season and out-of-county markets on behalf of local crafters for several years.

The exhibit in Baltimore of such a large number of Garrett County quilts was acknowledged as a historic first for local quilters by the Maryland Historical Society. Photographic and television coverage of the colorful assortment of handmade quilts was undertaken to document the event. Mrs. Rowe appeared with the quilts on Baltimore's WMAR-TV news and was interviewed by Susan White, the program hostess.

According to Mr. Rowe, the community can certainly be proud of these quilters whose talents contributed to this first large showing of county skills in a metropolitan area.

Experts tell us that all over the world, the greyhound has been employed as the most reliable and efficient chaser among dogs. Even Neolithic man used the greyhound for a runner, and a hunting dog. When dogs no longer were used to catch prey to supply their owner with food, coursing came into its own as an independent, legitimate sport. In Roman times, the courser was advised to pet his dog after the chase, so it would be sure to feel its owner's appreciation.

Tom Bittinger, left, examines a plaque presented to him Wednesday evening by Roger Uber, member of Boy Scout Troop 99. Scoutmaster Tom was honored by the Troop and teachers and aides at Green Street School for his efforts on behalf of the Boy Scouts, at a surprise appreciation dinner at the school. In the center, behind a camera, is Pat Fischetti, district scout chairman, who was one of the nearly 60 guests at the event.

Judge Jones Hears Drug, Other Cases

Drug, littering and assault cases were heard in District Court by Judge Lewis R. Jones during the week ending May 27. Cases of assaulting a police officer and disorderly conduct were noted as being transferred to Circuit Court. Seven of the Washington, D. C. area were released on their own recognizance on charges of larceny.

Randy Lee Hoover, Albright, W. Va., and Jimmy Martin Casteel, Friendsville, pleaded not guilty of possession of marijuana on Gravel Hill road April 12, at trial last week. They were found guilty and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered. A juvenile was also involved in the same case and is to be tried in that court.

Annabelle Bittinger and Clark Bittinger, both of RD 2, Grantsville, pleaded not guilty of depositing trash on the property of David L. Oester on RD 2, Grantsville, since March 1. They were both found guilty and fined $50 and $10 cost each, at a trial Tuesday.

Three persons were released on their own recognizance pending trials in Circuit Court. Barry Ball, RD 3, Deer Park, has been charged with obstructing a police officer, Sgt. Hobart Shillingburg, from executing his lawful duties at the Garrett County Sheriff's office, May 12. Larry Corby, Hutton, has been charged with assault and battery on Charles Sliger, Jr., on Third Street, Oakland, the same day. Craig Corby, of Hutton, has been charged with three counts: disorderly conduct, destruction of property and assault and battery on Charles Sliger, Jr., on Third street in Oakland the same day as the other incidents.

Seven other persons were released on their own recognizance on the charge of larceny of a rototiller from the Fratz Mart., Accident, Monday. They were first held on $5000 bond each but were released at a bond hearing Tuesday. The seven are: Robert W. Mozdzen, Hyattsville; John Wilson DeCatur, Hyattsville; Robert Eugene Saylor, Riverdale, John Williams Huggins, New Caroline; Nancy Lynn Hayes, Adelphi; Judy Ann Saylor, and Joseph Bidler Whitesel, Jr. The trial was noted as set for June 23.

Three not guilty pleas were sustained, Homer Flesher, and Jeannie Glover, both of McHenry, had been charged with assault on Kathy DeWitt at Oakland May 1. Wilmer Crawford, Friendsville, had been charged with violation of the town overload law by operating a 70-ton crane where restricted.

The charge of assault on Norman H. Minnick, Bayard, W. Va., on Rt. 50 near Gorman, on April 30, by Mary Jane Towsend, Gormania, W. Va., was dismissed for lack of prosecution.

Jo Ann Shahan, K street, Mt. Lake Park, had been charged with passing a worthless check but the case was stetted at a trial Tuesday.

Must Get Permits For Dogs By July 1

Dog licenses for 1975 will expire on June 30, the County Commissioners announced. Sale of tags for the upcoming year will begin June 1 in the County Treasurer's office in the Court House in Oakland.

To comply with the new law, the dog owner must have proof of rabies vaccination before the license can be issued, the commissioners pointed out. Commissioners said the Health Department would hold clinics throughout the county in mid-June to enable dog owners to have their pets vaccinated.

Tom Bittinger Is Honored At Boy Scout Dinner

"We appreciate you and we love you, Tom" were the appropriate concluding remarks at a dinner held Wednesday evening at Green Street School in appreciation for Tom Bittinger, scoutmaster of Troop 99 composed of boys from that school.

The surprise dinner was planned by teachers and aides at the school, and consisted of a covered dish meal brought by parents of the boys, the teachers and aides, and members of Proctor Kildow Post 71, American Legion, which sponsors the troop.

Approximately 60 persons were present, including special guests Pat Fischetti, district Boy Scout chairman; Alex McPheeters, Potomac Council field executive, William Watson, supervisor of pupil transportation for the Board of Education; Sally Wilson, special education coordinator; Mr. and Mrs. Playford Ryan and Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Yost, representatives of Proctor Kildow Post 71; Mrs. Dorothy Bittinger and daughter, and Rev. Troop leader Bill Abernathy gave a speech of appreciation expressing his and all the boys thoughts on the help and time Tom has given to the troop. Roger Uber presented a plaque to Mr. Bittinger.

A gift of sunglasses was also presented to Mr. Bittinger.

Remarks were made by Mrs. Regina Stork, principal and teacher at Green Street School, who also serves as a den mother for the Troop. Sweets That Don't Sour Your Budget

Why sugar is so expensive, has recently become a burning consumer issue. But a more appropriate question might be, why use so much?

Sugar hasn't always been a major source of calories. In fact, not until the 16th century did large consignments begin to arrive in Europe. Before that Westerners had only limited contact with sugar and depended on honey and fruit for sweetness.

In the United States sugar consumption has grown from none, when the Pilgrims arrived, to an awesome figure of over 100 pounds per person per year. And even though total food consumption has declined in recent years, sugar consumption has remained constant.

In 1974 per capita sugar consumption was 101.5 pounds. Estimates for 1975 from a reliable source are 97.8 pounds per person. Not much of a decline when you consider the high price.

To put it simply, daily sugar consumption equals about 500 calories or 2/3 of a cup. Add this up over a year, and it amounts to about 180,000 calories or 50 pounds of body fat. Is it any wonder medical and dental professionals are concerned about high sugar intake?

Sugar is a major factor in the cause of tooth decay, one of the nation's leading health problems. When sugar is present in the mouth for extended periods of time, it provides an excellent medium for the growth of acid-producing bacteria. The acids erode tooth enamel ultimately causing dental caries.

Concern has also been expressed about the relationship between sugar and cardiovascular disease. Research in this area, although nonconclusive, points to a mechanism by which dietary sucrose (table sugar) might predispose one to heart disease. Some researchers have found a positive correlation between the amount of sucrose consumed and the level of blood lipids, i.e. the greater the sugar, the higher the lipid level.

Not only are we plagued by over-consumption, but we must also contend with misconceptions about sugar. Many believe sugar is needed for energy. This is only half true. Carbohydrate is necessary for energy and sugar is just one source of carbohydrate. Other sources including bread, flour, potatoes and macaroni products supply energy as well.

So, what can you do? Dr. Jean Mayer, noted Harvard nutrition professor, recommends sugar intake be reduced. But a diet completely free of sugar is practically impossible and not necessary unless a medical problem demands a sugar-free diet.

Sugar is a natural constituent of many foods such as fruits, vegetables and milk. The sweet compounds in these foods may or may not be sucrose, since fructose, lactose and glucose also occur naturally in foods.

Fructose, the sweetest of all the sugar, is common to fruits and honey. Milk and dairy products are the only dietary sources of lactose. Glucose, fairly well distributed in fruits, some vegetables and honey, is also referred to as blood sugar. Once inside the body, all sugar will be converted to glucose, so they can be used for energy.

In some food products, especially baked goods, sugar is needed for the proper flavor and texture. Shortened cakes and cookies are two examples. Successful bread making would also be hampered without sugar. And finally sugar is a "hidden" ingredient in many food products — added to enhance the flavor.

Overweight Draws Some Large Fines

Larger fines for motor vehicle violations were the result of overweight. Two pleaded guilty in District Court before Judge Lewis R. Jones. Others forfeited on this count. Many paid for speeding.

Kenneth R. Burkett, Jr., Boston, Pa., forfeited collateral in the amount of $642.90 for a 13,965 lb. overload of coal. Burkett also paid $25 for failing to comply with the Md. Road Fuel Tax law.

Ray H. Jones, Elk Garden, W. Va., pleaded guilty for refusing to be weighed and was fined $255, (coal).

Randall S. Minnick, of Mt. Storm, W. Va., pleaded guilty on the same count and was fined $105, (stone).

Ellsworth G. Lambert, forfeited in the amount of $63 for 2,900 lb. overload of coal, Wilfred M. Scott, Albright, W. Va., paid $25 for 800 lb. overload of coal, Elmer B. Moreland, RD 1, Gormania, paid $55 for 2,500 lb. overload, also for coal.

Others forfeited collateral as follows:

Exceeding the posted speed limit: David E. Tasker, Oakland, $25; John R. White, RD 3, Deer Park, $25; Monica L. Jensen, RD 2, Oakland, $15; Willard M. Ashby, Oakland, $40; Carl D. Martin, Mt. Lake Park, $15; Ray D. Elliott, RD 2, Oakland, $30; Joni Lee McNeel, of Grantsville, $25; Nargert C. Baker, Everett, Pa., $35; Edgar A. Tennant, Bethesda, $25; Reva B. Thomas, Mt. Lake Park, $32; David F. Bernstein, Wheaton, $25; Robert F. Hawkins, Marlton, N. J., $30; Richard G. Sanderson, Jr., Mendham, N. J., $25; David V Sisler, RD 4, Deer Park, $30; Willard A. Elliott, Oakland, $25; Ray H. Shahan, Belle Vernon, Pa., $25; Samuel J. Opel, RD 1, Accident, $25; Ralph L. Lotkin, Columbia, $25; Kenneth J. Hibshman, Meyerstown, Pa., 30; and Martin T. Neat, Friendsville, $39.

George E. Munn, St. Clairsville, Pa., displaying tags issued to another vehicle, $30, and operating on expired registration, $30.

Mishaps Of Past Week Show One Person Injured

Only one slight injury was noted among accident reports of the State Police during the past week.

Patsy Guido, Louisa, Va., was slightly injured in a two-car mishap on U.S. 40 just east of Foster Inn road last Wednesday about 12:35 p.m. She and John M. Linkous, Jr., Owings Mills, were westbound on Rt. 40 when Patsy Guido hit her brakes due to a vehicle stopping. Linkous also hit his brakes, went to the right but was unable to avoid hitting the Guido car. Tfc. Dale K. Williams charged Linkous wih failing to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

Eleanor G. McCreery, and Ronald E. Kenney, Ridgeley, W. Va., were westbound on U.S 48 at the intersection of US. 40 last Wednesday morning. Eleanor McCreery hit her brakes, slowing down and was struck in the rear by the Kenney pickup. Tfc. Williams charged Kenney with operating at a speed too great.

Five wrecks were noted Monday.

Ralph I. Tewell, Cumberland, was traveling east on U.S. 40 near the Beall School road Monday afternoon. He spotted the car driven by Alice L. Snyder, Frostburg, following, which failed to reduce speed, run off the right side of the roadway and striking his car on the right side. Tfc. C. D. Skidmore charged Alice Snyder with failing to reduce speed.

Paul J. Davis, Glassport, Pa., was driving north on U.S. 219 near Lake Shore drive Monday night. He attempted to get something into a back-pack in the rear seat. In doing so, his car crossed the center of the road, forcing another vehicle off the road. In attempting to correct the error, he lost control, crossed the roadway and came to rest in a ditch. Tfc. Skidmore charged him with negligent driving.

In an evening accident the same day, Donna K. Sipple, of Grantsville, was driving west on U.S. 40 near the Salisbury road and placed her turn signal to make a left turn into a driveway. Curtis E. Burchiwald, Hopwood, Pa., following, attempted to overtake the Sipple car and collided with it. Tfc. Skidmore investigated.

About the same time, Lydia B. Geare, Cumberland, was traveling east in a station wagon on Md. 135 followed by Mark A. Hahn, Tunnelton, W. Va. Lydia Geare signaled for a right turn but made a left turn instead just as Hahn started to pass. Tfc. Ronald Lewis charged Lydia Geare with not giving a proper signal.

A little later the same evening, Elsie M. Meredith, Bayard, W. Va., was headed south on the Gorman road when an unidentified vehicle forced her off the road. She lost control, struck a wire fence, spun around and came to rest on the west side of the southbound shoulder. Tfc. Lewis investigated.

Other recent accidents were noted.

Harry L. Beckman, RD 2, in Oakland, was traveling south on the Gorman road the afternoon of May 20, and lost control of his car in attempting to elude a bee that had gotten inside the car. The car went off the side of the road. Tfc. L. R. Rosage investigated.

The afternoon of May 19, Patricia J Justice, Ridgeley, W. Va., was slightly injured in a two-car mishap on the Crellin road near the Old Crellin road. She was stopped in the eastbound lane of traffic due to road construction work in progress. Timothy Smith, Crellin, failing to notice the Justice car stopped, collided with it. Tfc. C. H. Hinnant charged Smith with failing to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

Northern Defeats Southern 2nd Time

Dave Bender pitched a four hitter and aided his own cause by knocking in two runs and scoring two others himself, lifting Northern High school to a 5-2 verdict over Southern High last Thursday afternoon at Accident.

The Huskies downed the Rams several days before that by a 7-5 score. Thursday's game concluded their regular season with a 10 to 2 record.

Bender scattered three singles and a double, yielding Southern's only two runs in the fourth inning when Neil Stoner singled home Bob Fletcher and Dan Bosley.

Bender got the Huskies off well in the opening inning when he lashed a single, sending Ron Teets and Buddy Fauber home. In the third he scored on a base hit by Roger Sines. Northern ended the scoring in the bottom of the fourth inning when Fauber sacrificed to score Teets and Bender raced home on a hit by Kenny Sines. Southern's record is 5-7.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

As a resident and taxpayer of Oakland, for several years, it would seem to me that the people of this beautiful little town deserve better than the present arrangement in regard to the care of "stray" dogs.

Of course, the first blame belongs to the less than humane people who dump unwanted pets into another community. These are not able to fend for themselves, and so the end result is slow starvation.

Friday night, our neighborhood was kept awake by the pitiful cries and dying moans of three starving dogs, a Dachshund, a golden cocker, and a mixed breed, as large as a Doberman. For two weeks, I had been appealing to the dog-catcher for help in this matter, but he is a busy man at his regular work, and this side-line does not get much of his time, apparently. Finally I went in person, on Saturday, to make a desperate appeal to the local police. These competent young men were most polite and sympathetic, but it was just not their department.

A solution came when a stout-hearted young man, a superb shot with a rifle, took over the duty of the dog-catcher. But I would like to know why this job cannot be given to someone with a real interest in prevention of cruelty to animals—someone who does not feel that the job is contemptible and not worth bothering with.

Yours truly,
(Mrs.) Norma M. Harvey

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, in care of U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks–

Please explain the Water Resources Conference you are putting together.

A Water Resources Conference is currently being arranged by my office to provide a platform for the discussion of long-term future water needs in Central and Western Maryland. Local and county officials will have the opportunity to talk directly with key state and federal representatives responsible for planning and administering the development of secondary water resources. Officials from the State Department of Natural Resources, Corps of Engineers, Department of Agriculture and the Environmental Protection Agency will be among the speakers addressing future water needs of our area. Panel discussions and informal seminars will enable mayors, county commissioners and local planning staffs to question state and federal officials on specific area problems. The exact July date and location for the conference will be announced shortly.

What is the status of the Small Business Emergency Relief Act?.

The legislation passed the House overwhelmingly and is currently pending in the Senate.

Such property is normally available without cost. Interested communities may wish to contact the Regional Office of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation for further details. The address is Federal Building, 7th Floor, 1421 Cherry Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19102.

What are the duties of the Speaker of the House?

Among other things, the Speaker presides over the House, appoints all special and select committees, appoints conference committees, and often makes on-the-spot rulings and decisions affecting the business of the House. The speaker may vote, but usually does not, except in case of a tie.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

Bethel United Methodist Church, Mt. Lake Park

Memorial Day is a time when we try to honor our war dead by remembering what they have done for their country and reminding ourselves what we should do so that the sacrifice they made will not be in vain. In spite of the display we make on this day we are much aware of a lot of mis-directed good intent and of many pseudo, or false patriots.

This is happening because many of us do not have the dedication to really learn what is right or good for our country, and many dare not care because to do so would result in real honest effort or sacrifices they do not care to make. Real true patriotism and statesmanship is shown in dedication which leads to both knowing and doing what will be helpful to our nation. And, that which is helpful to our nation will be helpful to its citizens and the citizens of the world.

In Proverbs 14:34 God's word tells us that 'righteousness' exalts a nation. 'Righteousness' is that which is right before God. The writer is reminding us that what is for God is for persons and for nations.

Those who claim to be true patriots of a nation and yet turn away from God, do not dedicate themselves to knowing His will and way are either misdirected or are just plain "Quacks", Pseudo-patriots.

In the book of "Acts" in the New Testament we have sermons by the Apostle Peter and by Stephen the Martyr which points up the truth that God successfully leads a nation when they walk with him and that when they drift away from God they invite weakness, shame and destruction. They point to how God has provided for the nation who trusts in Him and helped them to be strong and not only are blessed, but can then also be a blessing to others.

The remaining part of Proverbs 14:34 sounds a warning after the first part of the verse has presented a promise. That warning is that "Sin Is A Reproach To Any People". Sin is the opposite of Righteousness, and is anything that is opposed to the will of God. The first part of the verse tells us that what is for God is for persons and people, the last part of the verse tells us that what is opposed to God is against the good, the best interests of persons, of people.

Much of the shame and embarrassment that has come to our nation and weakened us in our ability to influence the world has come as a direct result of rejecting the principles of the Christian faith.

Repeatedly the prophets of the Old Testament remind us what the results are when we ignore the God of all creation. Amos tells of the famine in the land. We are constantly being reminded of the food shortage in our world and warned of future possibilities for starvation. Haggai the prophet reminds the people of the economic failures when God is left out of the national life, and we have heard of a few rumors of a struggling economy. The prophets also warn of the failure of the nation who ignores God to be able to stand against enemy nations, and we have been and are still being pushed around by nations much smaller than we are.

Sin is a reproach, it weakens within and brings division which results in shame and embarrassment.

If we would be true patriots and statesmen of our nation and the world we should hear the promise of God in 2 Chronicles 7:14; "If my people, who are called by my name will humble themselves and pray, and seek my face and turn from their evil ways; then will I hear from Heaven, and will forgive their sins, and will heal their land".

ENOCH PRATT FREE LIBRARY BALTIMORE

Prospective doctors and nurses from Oak Street Kindergarten are shown above displaying caps and masks which they received on their visit to Garrett Memorial Hospital. The tour was designed to familiarize the children with hospital procedures, equipment, and personnel. It included a demonstration of a blood test, explanation of X-ray equipment, and a "Papoose Board". The children were then shown how a physical examination is given, how doctors and nurses are dressed for surgery, and an anesthetist showed how patients are put to sleep. They also saw a demonstration of a cast being put on and another cast being removed. An elevator ride (a first experience for some of the children) took them to the cafeteria for refreshments. The class was accompanied by teacher, Mrs. Helen Carroll; aide, Mrs. Barbara Thomas, and several parents.

If she has kept up with the course all term, she'll not flunk because of this nap. BUT – if she is counting on the midnight oil to pull her through the exam . . . Too bad!

You've heard of people being converted to Christianity on their deathbed. True! As Christ promised salvation to a penitent thief on the cross, so God's love reaches out even in the final hour to those who call on Him in faith.

But don't live your life on the dangerous principle that last-minute cramming will satisfy all your religious needs.

There will be millions of adults and children in church next Sunday. They are seeking spiritual truth, gaining Christian convictions . . . not because they need some religion to die with – because they need Faith to live by.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WORDS TO DO

Lesson for June 1, 1975

Background Scripture: Exodus 24:3-8; Jeremiah 36; John 21:24, 25; Revelation 1:10, 11
Devotional Reading: Psalms 119:105-112

We've all seen the Western movie scene in which a small crowd of mourners gathers on a forlorn prairie cemetery to "pay last respects" to a tragic victim of accident or gun play. Because the town is still without a clergyman, someone among the mourners is asked to "say the words" over the stark wooden coffin.

Rev. Althouse

Religion has long emphasized the importance of saying some specific and hallowed "words" in almost every occasion and event of life. Most religions have both their sacred scriptures and their ritualistic incantations. With the ancient Egyptians it was their "Book of the Dead" to procure immortality. For Hindus there are the Upanisheds and Vedas. The Moslem has his Koran, the Jew his Torah, and the Christian his Bible.

"In Accordance With These Words"

The words by themselves are instructive and inspiring. Yet the importance of the words is to be found in the actions inspired by the ideas. When Moses came to the people of Israel with the first ordinances from God, what he had in mind was not that the people would simply enjoy the words for their wisdom and beauty. The words were primarily indicative of something to be done. "... all the people answered with one voice and said, 'All the words which the Lord has spoken we will do'" (Exodus 24:3).

Hearing "the words" would not be enough; they had to be obeyed. This was to be the basis of the relationship between God and Israel. "And Moses took the blood and threw it upon the people, and said, 'Behold the blood of the covenant, the symbol of our relationship with God which the Lord has made with you in accordance with all these words'" (24:8).

So the purpose of "the words" was to teach the people to live in harmony with God's will and purpose. To this end the words were passed on orally from generation to generation and at last with the advent of writing and writing materials "the words" were at last written down and the scriptures were came into being. But the purpose was never in the hearing of the reading, but in the doing.

To hear and repent

In time, however, the words came to have yet another purpose, for despite the frequent admonitions to "read and do," many of the people both wittingly and unwittingly broke the ordinances which God had given them. When this happened God gave still more "words" to one of his prophets so that the errant children might be called away from their folly and back to God.

When the nation of Israel had come to the point when they were only "hearing" and no longer "doing," God told the prophet Jeremiah:

> Take a scroll and write on it all the words that I have spoken to you against Israel and Judah and all the nations, from the day I spoke to you, from the days of Josiah until today. It may be that the house of Judah will hear all the evil which I intend to do to them, so that everyone may turn from his evil way, and that I may forgive their iniquity and their sin. (Jeremiah 36:1-4)

"The words" are intended to tell us what to do, what not to do, and to call us back to the Lord. Our Bible is thus much more than beautiful and instructive words; it is a book to live by.

You would probably be surprised at how many prescriptions we still get that require intricate compounding. We welcome these prescriptions for they give us the opportunity to exercise the professional skills we learned in school.

For these "special" prescriptions we maintain in top condition very accurate weighing and measuring equipment. We also keep a complete stock of these drugs and chemicals that might be called for in a multiple ingredient prescription.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Birthday Celebration Honors Mrs. Margaret Friend on Ninetieth

OBSERVES NINETIETH — Mrs. Margaret Friend, above, holds one of the many birthday greetings she received in honor of her 90th birthday, the card from the White House, signed by President Ford.

A birthday celebration was held on Sunday, May 18, to honor Mrs. Margaret Friend on the occasion of her 90th birthday anniversary which was May 24. Mrs. Friend is a native Accident resident but for the last two years has made her home with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Beckman, of near Swanton.

Those in attendance included Mrs. Friend's three surviving sisters: Edna Bond, McHenry; Emma Forsythe, Accident; and Schrilla Glotfelty, Swallow Falls. Her children were all present: Lloyd Friend, Friendsville; Oma Lohr, Addison; Melrose McClintock, Finleyville, Pa.; and Margaret Beckman, of North Glade. Others present for the celebration were Ralph and Virginia Kelso, McHenry; Mrs. Earl Turney, Mayme Wright, and Jane Beachy, all Addison, Pa.; Rosa Richter and Jean Friend, Accident; Myrtle, Elizabeth, and Melrose Hanft, Cove; Clarence DeVore, Eighty-Four, Pa.; Melvin, Dotty, Leslie and Andrew Beckman; and Rudolph and Marvin Beckman, all of North Glade.

In addition to the many greetings from friends and relatives, Mrs. Friend received birthday greetings from President Gerald R. Ford, Vice-President Nelson A. Rockefeller, U. S. Representative Goodloe E. Byron, and Maryland Governor Marvin Mandel.

The White House greeting, signed by President Ford, read, "Mrs. Ford and I extend our warmest congratulations on a very special occasion, your 90th birthday. We wish you every happiness."

The nation's vice-president chose to send his greetings by way of a telegram which arrived on the eve of her birthday. It read, "Congratulations on your birthday. We judge a person's life not only by how long they have lived but how they have lived. By both measures yours has been a full and inspiring one. On this special occasion, I am delighted to join your friends and family in wishing you many more years blessed with health and happiness. Sincerely, Nelson A. Rockefeller, Vice President."

Is Commended For Long Service At University Of Md.

A newsletter of the College Physical Education, Recreation, and Health, University of Maryland carried an item in its spring edition about Mrs. Vivian C. Courtney, formerly Miss Vivian Clary, of Mt. Lake Park.

The article highlights the important contribution Mrs. Courtney has made to the mission and growth of the college. She is administrative assistant to the Dean.

It relates:

"Mrs. Courtney began her career in the service of the State in July, 1933, when she took a job as secretary to the director of Garrett County Welfare Board. In 1948 she came to the College Park campus as secretary to Dr. Paul Nystrom, in the Extension Service of the University. Later she worked as corresponding secretary to Dean Steinburg in the College of Engineering.

"On May 1, 1951, when the college was two years old, Mrs. Courtney accepted the position of secretary to Dean Lester M. Fraley, now dean emeritus, which she continued to hold until 1971. At that time new Dean Marvin H. Eyler named her as his administrative assistant in charge of college records. This duty involves assisting in the preparation and administration of budgets and having the prime responsibility for College under-graduate and graduate records, and College contractual arrangements and payroll.

"She has seen the College grow from its infancy of a small number of major students and programs to its present multi-faceted curriculum with over 700 major student enrollment. She says, 'While I am pleased with the growth and development of the College, I miss not being able to know all students like I did when the College was smaller.'

"Mrs. Courtney is an enthusiastic fan of Maryland's athletic teams but she has an equal interest in other activities that her students and colleagues are involved in. She also has an avid interest in the events and people of her native Western Maryland region.

"Dedication and service are seldom appreciated in the degree warranted. Last year the State of Maryland, represented by Governor Marvin Mandel, honored her 41 years of service with a diamond-studded pin."

Tax Relief Program Ready To Start

The state is preparing to implement the "circuit breaker" legislation, the new property tax relief system for Maryland homeowners who are 60 and older.

Dates and schedules are to be announced soon, according to William H. Riley, director of the State Department of Assessments.

An estimated 75,000 houseticipate in the first phase of the program with 280,000 eventually to be affected.

All persons who have been part of existing programs of tax credit for the elderly will receive their applications for credits by mail. All newly eligible Marylanders who must be 60 years old by July 1 to be part of the first year's program, will be notified as soon as possible. All credits must be applied for annually.

Eligible homeowners are to receive a statement of their maximum tax liability. Liability is to be calculated on the assessed value of the dwelling up to $30,000.

Homeowners will be required to submit a statement of their net worth. No credit will be allowed if the homeowners' net worth exceeds $150,000 on the year for which the credit is to be allowed.

The credit is also determined on the basis of the homeowners' income. His maximum tax liability is not to exceed three percent of the first $3,000 of combined income; four percent of the next $5,000; five percent of the next $4,000; seven percent of the next $3,000; and nine percent of any income in excess of $15,000. GOOD NEWS

Rebate from Chrysler.

That's in addition to the tax rebate from the U.S., and you don't have to wait for your tax rebate to get ours. Just buy or lease a '75 Duster, Valiant or Scamp, and Chrysler will give you $200 back. And that's after you've made your best deal with us. But hurry. Limited time only.

Just think: up to $200 from the government and a full $200 from Chrysler. How's that for making your tax rebate go further! But an offer this good has to be limited to cars in stock, one per customer, retail customers only at participating Chrysler-Plymouth Dealers.

Here's more good news! Our Duster and Valiant are No. 1 in most of the things you want in a compact. Gas mileage? According to EPA's Buyer Guide, Valiant and Duster got better mileage than the competitive 6's. Room? According to Automotive Industries' Roominess Index, Valiant and Duster are roomiest in their class. Same with trunk space. Resale? According to Automotive Marketing Reports, of all leading compacts, a one-year-old Duster and Valiant have the highest resale value. And resale value means real value.

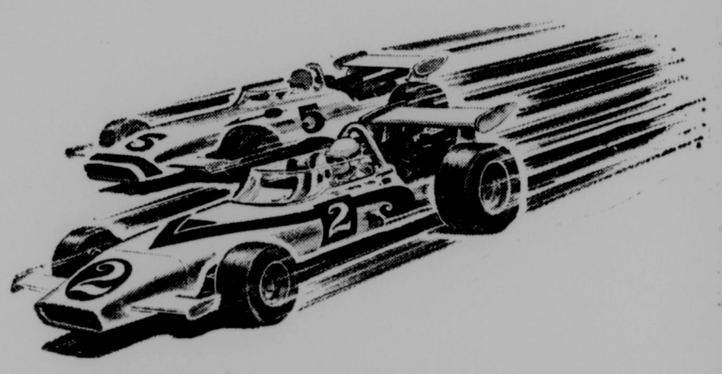
Spotted Tick Fever Season Beginning

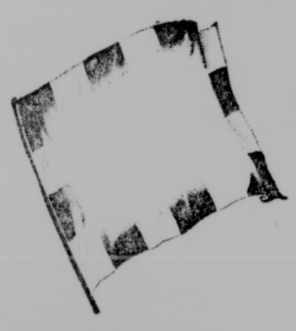
William W. Pope, M. D., M. P. H., Health officer for Garrett County, warned Maryland residents that they are now experiencing the beginning of the tick and Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever season in Maryland which extends from late April through August. Humans contract the disease from an infected tick which contaminates a wound while feeding.

Marylanders are urged to be especially cautious this year since in the previous year there were 49 cases diagnosed in the state with two fatalities while in 1973 only 14 cases were diagnosed. A mild winter plus a wet spring has produced conditions nearly ideal for a bumper crop of ticks.

Precautionary measures can greatly reduce the risk of infection in man. Avoiding bushy vegetation and the use of a tick repellent applied as recommended can be effective. Dr. Pope recommends frequent examination for the presence of ticks and parents are encouraged to examine their children on a head-to-toe basis as often as necessary and especially at bedtime. Special care should be taken in examining the areas of the body covered by hair.



Ticks found on a person should be promptly removed. While several household products such as alcohol, fingernail polish or liquor make the tick easier to remove, victims should never delay the removal of the tick with such a product is found. Simply using paper tissues and a steady pull to remove the tick from its imbedded position is effective. Care should be taken not to crush the tick and contaminate the skin. Clean the wound and apply any antiseptic. Dispose of the tick by either burning or flushing down the toilet.



Rocky Mountain Spotted fever can be fatal. Symptoms of the disease include a sudden onset of a severe headache and fever of 100 degrees or more which appears three to ten days after the attachment of an infected tick. A characteristic mild rash may appear on the lower arms and legs after three days.

Dogs are susceptible to tick infestation. Inspection of pets before allowing them indoors will prevent the risk, nuisance and cost of infestations of the house. Dogs do not transmit Rocky Mountain Spotted fever to humans nor do they become sick from an infected tick bite.

Praesepe

One of the most interesting features found in the area of the sky called Cancer is this star cluster shaped like a beehive. It may be seen by the unaided eye and is particularly beautiful through binoculars or a small telescope. This star cluster is thought to be 400 million years old. The distance to the Praesepe has been calculated to 515 light years.

An open star cluster such as Praesepe consists of stars with a composition similar to that of the sun. Open clusters are concentrated near the equator of our galaxy. Other examples of this type of star cluster are the Hyades and Pleiades found in the constellation, Taurus.

Boat Destroyed By Fire Tuesday

Fire Tuesday afternoon destroyed a 16-foot boat which was being operated at Deep Creek State Park. No one was injured.

Members of the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire department were summoned at 4:30. Firemen said the boat was owned by Francis P. Kelly, Sr., of Borden Road, Frostburg, and was being operated by Francis P. Kelly, Jr., with a companion.

Firemen said the fire apparently was caused by a gasoline leak. After the fire started the boat was brought back to the shoreline where Kelly and his companion ran for help.

Legion Commends President's Action

Members of Proctor Kildow Post No. 71, American Legion, at a regular meeting, highly commended President Gerald Ford on his positive action recently in committing the armed forces to the task of rescuing the crew and returning the "Mayaguez" vessel to its owners off the coast of Cambodia, and approved a letter of commendation to be sent to the president for his decision.

The letter was mailed to the president from the post on May 21, signed by Randall R. Kahl, post commander. Copies of the letter also were sent to U. S. Senators J. Glenn Beall and Charles McC. Mathias, Jr., and Congressman Goodloe Byron.

The letter indicated that the 671 members of the post endorsed his position. The post membership has since been increased to 677.

The letter stated in part: "We feel it is time to show nations that we must be respected and be free from being molested, that we will not tolerate any interruption in our nation's normal operations.

Red House Class Attends Outdoor Education Sessions

Twenty-eight members of the sixth grade elementary class from Red House Elementary School have been attending a special Outdoor Education class sponsored by the Maryland Park Service.

Classes were held at Herrington Manor or Swallow Falls every Thursday for one and one-half hours from April 7 to May 29. Children in the program were from Mrs. Dorothy Spaid's classroom.

The conservation-minded projects studied included ecology, wildlife, geology, and vegetation. A boat tour highlighted one week, and events concluded today with a picnic.

Classes were instructed by Rangers Bob Friend and Jackie Torres. One of the program objectives was to enrich children through direct experience in a natural environment.

Natural Resource Violations Noted

Two were fined and two others were placed on probation before verdict in Natural Resource violations in District Court during the week ending May 27.

Many ambitious and imaginative projects are underway for the celebration of the 200th birthday anniversary of the United States. Some of the larger ones include refurbishing the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor, distributing 4.5 million scores of patriotic music to high school orchestras, bands and choruses, and a "freedom train" carrying historical exhibits all over the nation.

In all 50 states, Bicentennial commissions are working closely with civic and business groups.

The real strength of efforts underway lies in grass roots planning for the celebration. In Maryland this stems from 24 locally appointed Bicentennial committees. These working committees are representative of their respective communities and members are in the best position to interpret local needs and interests.

This enables local groups to develop their own programs which is characteristic of the kind of representation called for in The Declaration of Independence.

The success of this gigantic birthday commemoration will depend, not upon the number of spectators, but upon the number of Bicentennial participants. It is time for the millions of Americans to become involved in some way, in this historic activity.

Man Receives Two Concurrent Sentences Thurs.

Robert D. Kemp, 47, of Deer Park, last Thursday was given two one-year sentences in Garrett County Circuit Court when two appeals were heard by Associate Judge Harold E. Naughton, of Cumberland.

But he made the terms concurrent with a 13½ year sentence imposed upon Kemp earlier by Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill, in the Garrett County Circuit Court.

Kemp had appealed after Judge Lewis R. Jones in district court had given the man one year on charges of driving a motor vehicle after his license had been cancelled or revoked, and of attempting to flee to avoid arrest by an officer.

These two sentences had been made consecutive with the 13½ years imposed in a former conviction.

Judge Naughton's action leaves the total sentence stand at 13½ years. Kemp pleaded guilty to the two charges when his case was called last Thursday morning in Oakland.

Five Are Named To Board Of Elections

Five members have been appointed to the Garrett County Board of Supervisors of Elections by Governor Marvin Mandel. Three are supervisors and two are alternates.

The Supervisors are George M. Browning, Oakland; William R. Bever, Swanton, and Thomas W. Hetz, RD 1, Lonaconing (Garrett Co.).

The two alternates are Mrs. Fannie Sullivan, Mt. Lake Park, and George E. Coddington, Oakland.

The two-year terms began Monday, June 2. Appointments were dated May 28.

ETV Station May Be Built In Oakland

Station Originally Planned For Cumberland May Be Transferred Here

The Maryland Center for Public Broadcasting has made application to the Federal Communications Commission to delete the FCC's channel 36 allocation at Cumberland and to authorize it instead at Oakland.

The state's broadcasting center has also requested the FCC to continue to reserve the channel 36 allocation for non-commercial use.

These changes in the original plans for statewide public television coverage were approved by the Maryland Public Broadcasting commission at its quarterly meeting on March 18.

According to Dr. Frederick Breitenfield, Jr., the center's executive director, recent studies show that 90 percent of Allegany county's population already receives public television either by broadcast from the center's channel 31 in Hagerstown, or by cable service.

"Construction of a station in Cumberland, as we had originally planned, would be an extremely costly means of serving a very small segment of the population presently not receiving a public television signal," he said.

"However, a single low-power station located near Oakland could reach a large portion of the population of Western Maryland not now receiving Maryland public television programming. These are the points that we brought to the attention of the Public Broadcasting commission."

In this county there is no Maryland public television service. Three cable systems carry Pennsylvania or West Virginia public television services to about one-third of the county's 21,000 residents. About 15,000 of the county's population is in the Oakland vicinity.

Dr. Breitenfield said that FCC approval of a channel 36 allocation for Oakland would result in substantial cost saving, in line with Governor Marvin Mandel's request to state agencies to effect stringent economies.

"The Cumberland station was to have been a $1.8 million installation; a small station at Oakland, if approved, will cost $200,000, " he said.

An Oakland transmitter would be the fifth station in Maryland's public television system.

Traffic Count At McHenry Increases

The traffic count on U.S. Route 219 at McHenry for March showed a sizeable increase over the same month last year by 24.2 percent. It is said due to better skiing weather this year.

In March 107,841 vehicles were conducted as compared to 86,852 in the same month last year.

Two other checkpoints in Western Maryland showed an increase. Md. 36 at Lonaconing showed 29.1 percent increase and U.S. 40 at Town Creek, 17.3. The only decrease was U.S. 40 at Clarysville, down 2.1 percent

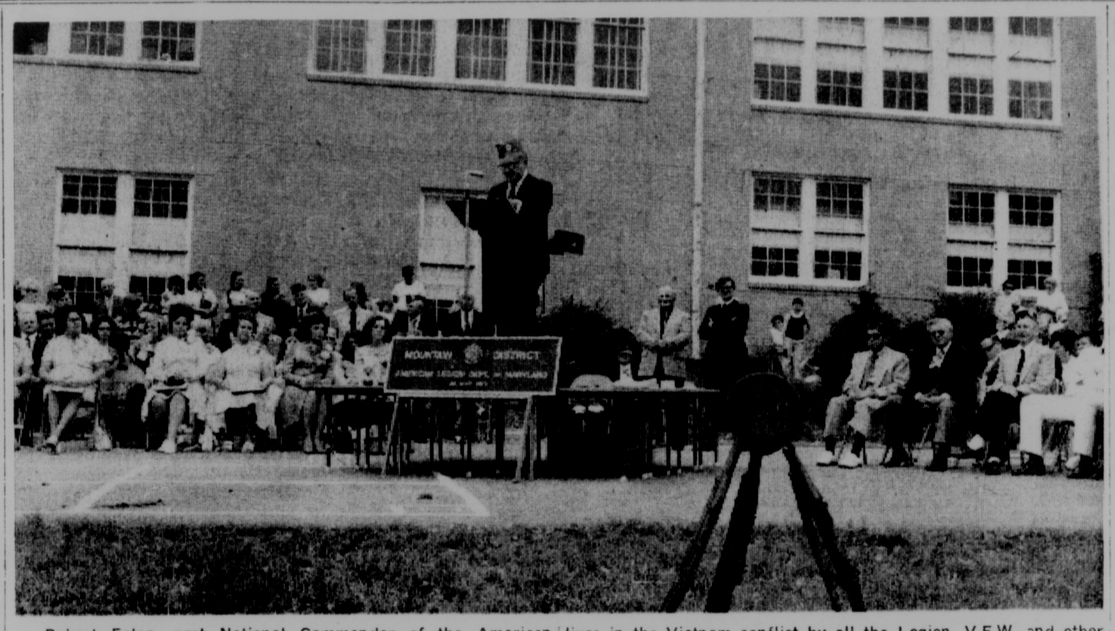
Man Sought By Police Identified



A suspect being sought in the stabbing-robbery of a 71-year-old Frostburg area man has been tentatively identified, according to State Police at LaVale.

Authorities believe the man being sought is Glenn Murlin Wiliams, Jr., 21-year-old colored man whose last known address was Jacksonville, Fla.

State Police believe that Williams is originally from Ohio, and search efforts are continuing since a truck stolen from Delta Mining company in this county was found abondoned in Wheeling earlier last week.

Williams is wanted in connection with the stabbing-robbery May 22 of James Nelson Layman, star route, Frostburg, in the Zion church cemetery along U.S. route 40 in this county.

The truck was impounded by West Virginia authorities for examination and police were awaiting a complete report.

Robert Eaton, past National Commander of the American Legion, began his speech Saturday at the memorial plaque dedication in Friendsville by asking wives and parents of deceased veterans not to feel the loss of 50,000 lives was in vain. Commander Eaton was the principal speaker at the ceremonies Saturday which began with a memorial flight by planes from the Maryland air national guard and concluded with a salute to parents and wives of the six Friendsville young men who lost their lives in the Vietnam conflict by all the Legion, V.F.W. and other units present. Three branches of the military were represented by the hats and rifles in the foreground, while Mr. Eaton is standing to the rear of part of the plaque being prepared by members of the American Legion in honor of the deceased. Wives and family members of slain Friendsville men were guests of honor near the speaker's platform at the Friendsville elementary school.

Program Of Tax Credit Provides Elderly Relief

Is Applicable To 1975 Tax Bill For Those Eligible

A program of Property Tax Credit from real property taxation including state, county and municipality taxes, has been established to provide relief for certain elderly property owners, according to Jerome K. Moyer, supervisor of Assessments and Taxation.

He pointed out the property tax credit which is not to exceed $750, is applicable to the 1975 tax bill which will be received immediately after July 1. This tax credit is only applicable to the resident property owners. It is limited to those persons who actually reside in the dwelling for more than 6 months of the 12 month period, including date of application; whose net worth does not exceed $150,000, as of January 1; who apply before October 1, 1975; who is 60 years of age or over; and whose total real property tax bill exceeds his maximum tax liability.

Mr. Moyer said the maximum tax liability will be calculated by the local assessment office and certified to each eligible owner prior to payment of tax bill. In order to obtain this certificate eligible owners should obtain application from the local assessment office in the court house, he pointed out.

A supply of applications will also be placed in each post office and each bank for convenience of property owners. Applications will be mailed to persons who received a tax credit last year.

Beginning June 9 property owners who need assistance in completing this application may bring their application to the Assessment office. Mr. Moyer also pointed out there is also a disability tax credit available at the County Commissioners' office in the court house to persons who have not attained the age of 60 years as of July 1, 1975, who are totally and permanently disabled according to social security or railroad retirement administration, whose combined gross income is not in excess of $5,000 for the calendar year 1974 and who apply before September 1.

He also pleaded not guilty of resisting arrest by Tfc. Broadwater in Vindex January 11. The jury found him guilty on all three counts. A charge of assault on Trooper Broadwater was dismissed.

Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., presiding, sentenced Tasker to six months each on the two counts in reference to Tpr. Broadwater. The two six-month terms are to run concurrently. Tasker was also sentenced to six months on the charge of assault and battery on Deputy Finch. This sentence is to run consecutively with the other two.

In his remarks, Gen. Eaton sought to impress the wives and parents of the soldiers that the loss of their husbands and sons, along with 50,000 other lives, was not in vain. Although authorities will attempt to assess the reasons for the unsuccessful war for generations, he noted that the future belongs to America and that a day will come when we will be a stronger America than we were before.

He believes that America is a country of patriotic people, and that as a country we must continue to be good. Even in the trauma over our defeat, we must not forget to remain militarily strong, he reminded.

He urged the families of the deceased and everyone to look forward and to be loyal to the objectives of the U.S. as "we owe this to the men who lost

Listen, Americans!

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON
President—National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

Some time ago, a company in Niagara, Wisconsin, ceased to make a profit. It was faced with the necessity of closing its doors and giving its employees notice. The employees got together and accepted a three year contract at reduced income, both in salary and in fringe benefits. Company officials agreed to keep the company operating. Now, the employees have received a bonus, the company is profitable again and everyone has a better understanding of the necessity of "profits".

During the recent past, Americans have been given an almost daily treatment of such headlines as "Oil Profits Up 83 Percent." The stories emphasize dollar volume of profits and such words as "vulgar" are applied to profits of oil companies. The same is true of automobile manufacturers, steel and many other segments of what is called "big business".

But seldom, if ever, do you see or hear a story in the press or on radio or television which explains that 1972 was a very low year for corporate profit throughout the American business community. This being true, any increase in profits in subsequent years does not mean a company is doing something illegal or bad. The highest average corporate profit percentage in America is around six percent. If profits in an oil company in 1972 were down to one percent and they went up a hundred percent the next year, the company would still be in trouble with only two percent. Then if profits doubled the next year, they could still be under a safe and reasonable profit figure, with four percent profit.

What has caused so much misunderstanding is the huge dollar figures in the oil industry in particular. Yet, the cost of building a medium size refinery is 300 million dollars and if oil companies are to keep America moving, they must have huge amounts of profits to reinvest. Jobs come from profits and expansion of business. Without profits, there will be no jobs, and even government is helpless to function or to provide public works jobs without a continuous flow of taxes which do not come in unless there are profits.

There is one group of Americans who do understand the need for profits. That group is the management or leadership of Labor Unions. One of them is the President of the United Automobile Workers, Mr. Leonard Woodcock. He appeared on the television program "Meet The Press" January 26, 1975. Listen to what he said. "You can't cut prices when you're losing money on every car that is sold. Profit margins in the automobile industry have been paper thin for more than a year. During the first nine months of 1974, General Motors reduced its sales over the year before by 17 percent, but had a drop in profits of 86 percent".

What Mr. Woodcock was saying was the same thing that was said many years ago by the founder of the American Federation of Labor, Samuel Gompers. He said, "The first responsibility business has to labor is to make a profit".

That simply means that if the man who pumps gas in your home town sells his gas for the same price he pays for it, he won't stay in business; he can't hire someone to help him, thus providing another job; and he won't take home any bacon for his children.

First off, solid cedar is beautiful, right? If you agree, that shows you've got good taste. And, that's what we make—pre-cut homes out of Western red cedar. Beautiful. Now, picture this: neighbors out painting and fixing up while you're sitting in your Justus solid cedar home relaxing. That's another beauty of building with Justus. The Justus Company. To Construct 600 Foot Chimney

Construction of a 600-foot tall reinforced concrete chimney to collect all power boiler stack gases from Westvaco's Luke mill was announced today by David G. McMaster, mill manager.

The $3,000,000 project is underway now, according to Mr. McMaster, and it will go up at a rate of 25 feet per day.

He added that the work is expected to be completed late in 1975.

Purpose of the project is to combine the stack gases from all three of the mill's power boilers into one chimney. The 600-foot height of the chimney is to conform to good engineering practice by making the unit two and one-half times taller than the highest stucture at Luke.

The new chimney, when completed, will actually be taller than the Washingron Monument in Washington, D. C.

The stack will reduce the ambient levels of sulfur dioxide.

When completed the huge unit will be be 40 feet in diameter at the bottom with three-foot thick walls. The stack will be 24 feet wide at its highest point.

their lives."

A gun salute and taps were presented by Grantsville Legion Post No. 214, and all military and marching units participated in a salute to the parents.

All six of the deceased men were alumni of Northern High School, and the NHS band, under the direction of Melvin Schwing, played several patriotic selections during the ceremonies.

Rev. William Carlson gave the invocation; Dan Burkhart, adjutant of the department of Maryland, the dedicatory prayer; and Rev. R. J. Riffle, the benediction.

Other units taking part in the program included the U. S. Naval Sea Cadets, a 47-member marching unit of youngsters aged 14 to 17 from Cumberland, under direction of Commander Eggleston, and the Mt. Savage Fire Company drill team, under direction of Sgt. Thomas Kenny.

Following the ceremonies, luncheon was served to families of the honored soldiers and those who participated in the program. Members of the Friendsville fire auxiliary prepared and served a roast beef and ham meal to those present.

Religion In The U.S.S.R.

While it is true that the arrest, conviction, and sentencing to long-term imprisonment of Rev. Georgi Vis, Baptist pastor in the U.S.S.R. is moot testimony to the prevailing winds of persecution in that Socialist utopia, the incident highlights some even deeper questions.

For example, this latest example of religious oppression took place at the very time the Communists sent a delegation of 20 "regisered" - i.e., approved - clergymen to the United States to tell the American people (and press) that "no one (in the U.S.S.R.) is denied his religious rights."

How the Communists manage to reconcile these apparent contradictions might be found in the charge against Rev. Vins which resulted in his ten years sentence to a concentration camp. According to news reports, he was convicted of "harming the interests of Soviet citizens (i.e., the Soviet government) in carrying out religious activity."

Since the clerical delegates to the United States were plainly involved in "religious activity," it appears obvious that under Soviet law the only religious activity they could carry out would be that which would BENEFIT the Soviet government and the Communist system.

Is that true religious freedom? Of course, it is not. We trust, therefore, that the American people will not be taken in by the blatant lies about Communism uttered by the visiing Soviet churchmen. If the Soviet Union really wishes to provide evidence that the Communist dictatorship is "mellowing," they will release Rev. Vins from prison.

Back To Bible Unity

Religious thinkers today realize that one of the greatest problems in Christianity is a lack of unity among believers in Christ. Division of those who profess to follow Christ has wrought havoc with the cause of our Lord. There are many churches striving for "union" today, but not for "unity".

Jesus prayed that we would all be ONE (John 17:20, 21). He knew that such unity would cause the world to believe Him. With unity, the first church preached the Gospel to the known world in one generation (Col. 1:23).

There was UNITY in the message they preached; in their faith and practice; organization of the church under Christ, the head (Col. 1:18); and there was unity of worship. The church of the first century had ONE bond of union, faith in Christ and obedience to His will.

But it wasn't long until uninspired men began to alter the Divine teachings, usurping the authority of God. While the change was gradual, the church was lost, and an apostate church was in control. In 1517 Martin Luther began the "reformation" and protestantism. Along with him were others who rebelled against doctrines that were unscriptural. To produce conformity among their people, these reformers wrote creeds, confessions of faith and the like.

This was followed by internal divisions among the various denominations which created even more denominations.

In the early 19th century a number of men of various faiths desired unity and sought to promote it. As they studied the problem, they realized that there was only one true foundation of unity — return to the basis on which the church was united in the first century. To do this they said, "we will speak where the Bible speaks and be silent where it is silent". They knew they couldn't change the Bible but they could change their beliefs and practices to fit the Bible.

With the Bible only as their guide, unity was achieved for hundreds and thousands in the first part of the 19th century.

Unity is not achieved by coercion, or church union, but by ALL consenting to the truth (John 17:17); by being of one mind (I Cor. 1:10); and by altering any former beliefs that are not harmony with the statement of Scripture.

"Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity" (Psalm 133:1)!

Need Volunteers For Oral History Project At Library

Volunteers are needed to help plan and implement a project to record on tape the reminiscences of senior citizens and other natives of Garrett County. This attempt to collect local oral history to the present day is a joint effort of members of the Garrett County Historical Society and the Community Center Libraries Project of the Ruth Enlow Library of Garrett County.

A preliminary organizational meeting will be held at 1 p.m., Wednesday, June 11, at the Ruth Enlow Library, Oakland.

The meeting will be conducted in four parts. Paul T. Calderwood, past president of the Garrett County Historical Society and Associate Editor of the Glades Star, will define oral history, discuss what is being done in established programs, and explain the value of such a program in Garrett County. Mr. Calderwood attended the 1973 Oral History Conference conducted by the Md. Historical Society and iwll share some of the important insights he gained from that and similar meetings.

Walter W. Price of the Garrett County Historical Society will speak about some of the sources of local history who might be considered and approached for first interviews. Mr. Price, Editor of the Glades Star for several years, is an authority on local history.

Miss Edith Brock, Administrator of the Ruth Enlow Library, will talk about the importance and application of such a project to the county library system. Taped interviews will be kept in the main library.

Finally, Miss Margaret Mance, Coordinator of the Community Center Libraries Project, will lead a business meeting to establish working committees and consider steps that must be taken to begin a viable project. Particular attention will be given to actively involving senior citizens in this library related activity.

One conversation was already taped and is the first of what will hopefully become an expansive collection of oral reminiscences. That conversation, which occurred in January, was between Mrs. Ellen Zimmerman, library aid at Crellin Community Library, Miss Mance, and Mrs. Agnes Lantz, life-long resident of Crellin, who talked about her remembrances of life in Crellin which was the home of two of the county's major industries, sawmilling and coal mining.

A second interview is scheduled with Robert B. Garrett, a respected source of local historical information, particularly about Deer Park and B & O Railroad history.

The ideas and contributions of anyone who has interest and/or experience with oral history will be welcome.

Emphysema Sufferers May Get Special License Plates

Maryland residents, suffering from emphysema, disease of the lungs, will be entitled to the special license plates and parking privileges which are already extended to certain other handicapped persons who drive automobiles, beginning July 1, according to L. Fred Dean, local council president of the American-Maryland Lung association.

A Senate bill extending these benefits to persons with emphysema was passed during the recent General Assembly.

In order to establish eligibility patients must have a physician certify to the extent of their illness. Under the Motor Vehicle code persons with the plates are exempt from paying parking meter fees and shall be allowed to park for unlimited periods in parking zones.

Events Above The Mountain Top

Paul S. Frank, Jr.

June 5-11, 1975

The closest planet to the sun has been observed on three flybys of Mariner 10. The last occurred on March 16th when Mariner 10 flew to about 32 kilometers (200 miles) above the planet's surface.

Photographs showing details of the planet's surface as small as 45 meters (50 yards) in diameter enable more accurate counts of craters. The observations make possible deductions about the history and composition of the planet. It has also been determined that the planet has a magnetic field generated independently of the solar wind.

New Moon will occur at 2:49 p.m. Monday. The moon will set at 4:46 p.m. today. By Wednesday moonset will not occur until 10:24 pm.

Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn are visible. Venus is very bright among the stars of Gemini. It sets three hours after the sun. Saturn also among the stars of Gemini sets two and one-half hours after the sun. Mars and Jupiter appear near each other in the predawn sky. They rise about three hours before the sun with the stars of Pisces.

Six minutes more daylight occur Wednesday than occur today. Sunrise was at 5:51 a.m. this morning. Sunset will be fourteen hours forty-nine minutes earlier and sets four minutes later than it does today.

A fire service class will be taught at Eastern Garrett County Volunteer Fire department on June 12. Gene Carlson will instruct on Fire Service Tankers.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

Why must a few spoil things for the rest of us? Why can't the cheapies and the fish-hogs play the game along with the rest? The Broad Ford recreation area is intended to be for the enjoyment of all, offering something for every member of the family. Although it is owned and operated and financed by the town of Oakland, it is open to the public with only a very modest entry fee, charged to help cover the expenses of operation and maintenance. Picnic tables and grills 'neath the shade of beautiful trees; boating, swimming, walking and fishing are some of the many attractions.

But the cheapies and the fish-hogs still are a problem, spoiling the deal for all. Too cheap to pay the 25-cent admission charge, they park illegally outside the park, trespassing on town property and creating resentment by those who do come in. And the fish-hogs! With a state limit of 5 and 7 per day for bass and trout, some of the fish-hogs sneak away with catches of 20, 25 and more. Is this sportsmanlike? We need the support of the fair-minded sportsmen. We need your help, your moral support, as well as your invaluable support at the gate, if we are to make Broad Ford recreation area a place we all can enjoy.

Gordon K. Douglass

Dear Sir:

Mrs. Mary Frances Paige was featured in the past week's newspaper. She is a wonderful, dear lady. Back in 1958 I was in the hospital twice in one year for two serious operations. One night this lady came into my room about 1 o'clock to check. I said "Do you know what I would like to have to eat?" She said, "But it is one o'clock." I said, "I mean for breakfast." She said, "You name it." I said, "Some real hot buttered toast with hot milk with lots of salt and pepper." She said, "You will get it." And that is what I had for breakfast. Something my dear old mother fixed for me when I was a child and sick.

Everyone was so nice and good. All the good doctors and especially Dr. Alvarez. Thank you all for pleasant memories.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

I would like to commend The Republican for refusing to print advertizing which subsequently appeared in another publication.

I am very glad our local paper prints, as advertizing, personal local opinion, as this is a valuable community forum. However, it is necessary when one does this to maintain a standard of taste and avoid too much emotional zeal. I am very pleased to see that this concomitant of responsibility is also being upheld in addition to promoting expression of opinion.

Yours truly,
Marilee I. Payne

1975 Conservation Program Listed

Garrett County farmers who plan to carry out conservation practices under the 1975 Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) are urged to sign up with the County Office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), Leslie Guard, Chairman of the Garrett County ASC Committee, says.

The program is late this year and there are some differences between the old program (1974) and the new one. Also, funds are limited. It is still not too late to think about doing some practices with enduring benefits, Mr. Guard said.

Sign up will be June 6 through June 27. Farmers may come to the ASCS Office to file a request for participation in the program. As in the past, request for cost-sharing must be on file prior to starting to work on the practice.

Some points noted on the appeal are: (1) No such order was received (by registered mail as is the custom); (2) the Town denies the power is vested in the Secretary, and (3) denies investigation of the conditions by the Secretary. An article on the subject appeared in The Republican of May 22.

June 19 has been declared "Miss Marion B. Leary Day" as she will be 100 years old.

Alfalfa Weevil, Army Worms Here To "Bug" Farmers

Army Worms and Alfalfa Weevil are here! Farmers are alerted to check their alfalfa and corn fields for these two very destructive insects by James McHenry, County Extension Agent, Agriculture.

The army worm has been found in the county. They are presently in the crop trash or in hay fields. In this stage they do little damage but will be moving into corn shortly. The young army worm feeds primarily at night. During the day they seek shelter under field litter, lodged plants and weeds, McHenry said. Army worms appearing in Garrett County this early is due to the unusually warm spring. Treatment for army worms is dependent on the extent of damage to corn. Treatment is with Malathion, Dylox or Toxaphene following the directions and rates on the label.

Alfalfa weevils are heavy in some areas. Farmers making the first cutting of hay are noticing heavy population of alfalfa weevil larvae on cutting bars.

Farmers are advised to observe fields and when 50% of tips of alfalfa show damage, either cut or spray. A successful practice in Garrett County has been to cut the alfalfa and spray the stubble with a combination of Methoxychlor E. C. plus Malathion E. C. at two quarts of material per acre, according to Mr. McHenry. This combination will also control pea aphids and meadow spittlebugs.

The main problem is for farmers to check their fields regularly. In the rush of spring work, sometimes insect outbreaks go unnoticed.

The Extension Service has available F.S.-149 "Control of Insects on Alfalfa and Red Clover" and Bulletin 237 "Pest Control in Field Crops." Both of these publications can be obtained by calling the Extension Office, or by stopping in the office in the basement of the Post Office building.

Byron Planning Water Resources Meeting For July 11

Rep. Goodloe Byron announced he is organizing a meeting of local, state and federal officials to discuss long-term water needs for Central and Western Maryland.

The Water Resources Conference is scheduled for Friday, July 11 at Frederick Community College with participants expected from Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, Carroll, Howard and Baltimore counties.

"One of the purposes for having this meeting is to bring local and county officials directly in contact with key state and federal representatives responsible for planning and administering the development of secondary water resources," Byron said.

Representatives from the State Department of Natural Resources, Corps of Engineers, Department of Agriculture and the Environmental Protection Agency will be among the speakers attending the summer seminar.

Byron hopes that the panel discussion and informal seminars will enable mayors, county commisioners and local planning staffs to question state and federal officials on specific area problems.

Realignment Of Rt. 42 Discussed

State Highway Administration officials met with the County Commissioners concerning the realignment of Maryland route 42 from Friendsville to U.S. 219. The SHA said public opinion at a hearing in Friendsville last month caused officials to review the project.

At the meeting Monday the Commissioners were told that the SHA would be moving ahead with upgrading existing route.

On hand also were State Sen. Ed Mason, Del. DeCorsey Bolden, Jack Bushby, Robert Hysaik and William Goldsborough from the SHA and Paul DeWitt, county roads engineer, with the construction of the National Freeway through Friendsville. Citizens there are showing more concern about its impact on existing roads in the future. It was pointed out that upgrading of Md. 42 from Friendsville to U.S. 219 would be imperative after the National Freeway is completed.

Commissioners continued in budget sessions with G. Bradford Rinard, executive director, Community Action. CAC's local request reflects an approximate $4,000 increase over the current year, even though it was expected that total programs at that agency would decrease for the coming fiscal year. The commissioners took the request under advisement.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Margaret E. (Maggie) Beeman wishes to express a heartfelt thanks to the doctors and staff of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital; to David Burdock, Bill Brantner, and Rev. George Tichinell.

Also to the many wonderful friends who sent cards, flowers, gave money, and brought food to our home in our time of grief and sorrow. Our thanks go out to all of these many dear people.

May God bless you all.

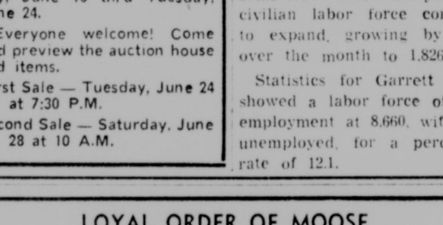
Insurance FACTS



The standard fire insurance policy provides insurance first of all "against direct loss by fire". The word fire is not defined in the contract, but has been explained in detail as courts have interpreted its full meaning. Fire is produced by combustion, yet not all combustion is fire. The presence of heat, steam, or even smoke is evidence of fire, but taken by itself will not prove the existence of fire. A fire must be combustion which results in actual flame or glow.

GONDER INSURANCE AGENCY, 203-205 South 2nd St., 334-3343, will be happy to go over your fire insurance policies with you and explain them to you. We handle every type of insurance — personal lines — life, health, accident, homeowners, auto, boat, mobile homes, motorcycles, and commercial insurance. We know how to get you the most for your insurance dollar.

COMMISSIONERS GET KEYS — Garrett County Commissioners George Edwards, Don Bender and Wayne Hamilton accepted sets of keys for the new Garrett Bus System vehicles at the conclusion of a ceremony marking the occasion Tuesday at the Oakland Armory. Making the presentation was Norman D. Hall, right, director of Public Transportation Development for the Maryland Department of Transportation. Twenty-one persons rode the new bus on a tour through Pleasant Valley following the ceremony.

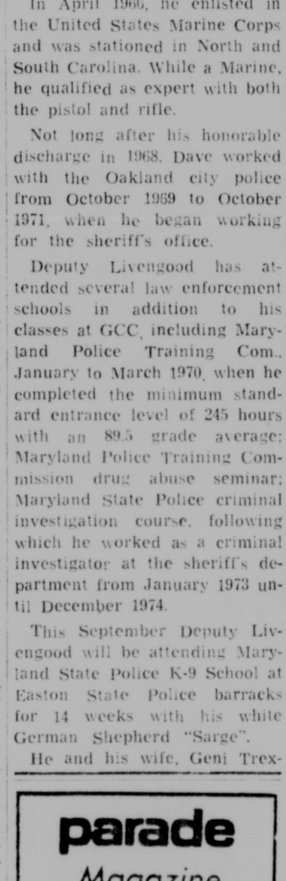
Norman Hall Is Speaker At Bus Ceremony Tuesday

Norman D. Hall, director of public transportation development for the Maryland Department of Transportation, was the principal speaker Tuesday afternoon at the key presentation ceremonies for the new Garrett Bus System at the Oakland Armory.

Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Wayne Hamilton, was master of ceremonies and introduced special guests including Don Bender and George Edwards, county commissioners, who addressed remarks to the group.

Present were Lester Edwards and Raymond Kaughman, both the Department of Transportation; Mrs. Norman Hall; Thomas A. Damron, western sales manager for Transcoach Corporation which supplied the buses; Bud Berry, assistant administrator for the Tri-County Council; Robert Ford, chairman of the local Commission on Aging; Gary Mullich, director of the Garrett System, Dr. William Pope, deputy county health officer, and David Ramsey, with Emergency Services.

In his speech, Mr. Hall apologized for the Secretary of Transportation Harry Hughes who was unable to attend, and went on to note that these buses were the first purchase of the rural Transit demonstration program.



He also stated Garrett County was an ideal demonstration area as the county people show the right amounts of incentive, initiative and desire to succeed necessary for such a project.

Following his presentation of three sets of keys for the buses to the three county commissioners, 21 members of the group were taken on a bus tour through the Pleasant Valley area.

Refreshments, featuring a cake baked by Mrs. Shirley Rinker of Route 1, Gormania, decorated with a Garrett System bus, were served at the beginning of the 1:30 p.m. ceremonies.

There are many ancient games which resemble golf in some ways, but were not exactly like it. Everyone agrees that golf is a unique game, and the result, perhaps of a natural evolution of some of the earlier sports. Records show, the experts tell us, that a kind of golf was played in Scotland during the fifteenth century, and it has been pointed out many times that the game reveals characteristics in keeping with the Scot's reserve, caution, and meticulous care.

SENSING THE NEWS

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

Southern States Industrial Council

A Radicalized Britain

Anyone in America who thinks that the British Labor Party espouses a tame version of socialism has need of examining the realities on this side of the Atlantic. Well-informed observers note the rising influence of truly radical elements within the Labor Party.

It is not generally known in America, for example, that Clause Four of the Labor Party's current Constitution commits that party "to secure for the workers by hand or by brain the full fruits of their industry and the most equitable distribution thereof that may be possible upon the basis of the common ownership of the means of production, distribution and exchange." Such a goal, if attained, would involve a thoroughly radicalized and restructured Great Britain in which traditional freedoms were eliminated.

Many thoughtful Britons are seriously alarmed at the growing influence of hardcore radicals. In a speech delivered to the Rotary Club of London before the last general election, Geoffrey Stewart-Smith, editor of East-West Digest and a former member of Parliament, made these telling points:

"There are ominous parallels between events in Chile and in Britain today. They had a government voted into power on a minority percentage of the votes committed to a radical policy of nationalization. So have we. They had raging inflation. So have we.

"Allende nationalized banking, insurance, mining, textiles, consumer durables, food canning and foreign commerce.

"The Queen's Speech contained indications of further massive nationalization in this country. Polls, however, indicate the British people do not want it.

"Allende brought in a state holding company. We will soon have the National Enterprise Board.

Allende's Directorate of Trade and Industry froze prices. We have price controls now.

"Allende demanded that trade unionists should determine production. The Government's White Paper 'The Regeneration of Industry' demands that planning agreements should be drawn up by management 'in close consultation with trade union representatives.'

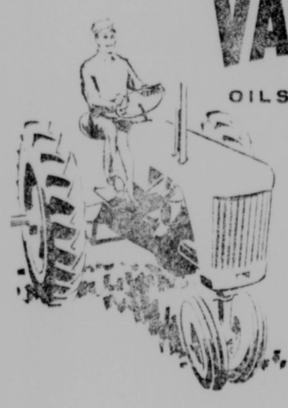
"If anyone thinks that these measures were brought in to improve economic efficiency, they should have their heads examined. The aim never has been and never will be greater efficiency but rather the use of economic means to seize political power.

"What lies ahead is predictables.

"Companies faced with massive increases in costs (due to the quadrupling of Arab oil prices probably under Soviet pressure) and frozen prices will suffer a chronic cash flow problem and face bankruptcy.

"Allende gave himself power to appoint state's 'interventors' on boards of private companies if they were in financial difficulties; reduced production; or were laying off workers.

"Both the Labor Government and trade union leaders in Britain are pressing for power to appoint the same kind of people on the boards of private companies but they will be called state directors, state controllers or even public trustees!"



As Mr. Stewart-Smith pointed out, the Labor government is under enormous pressure to advance more quickly to socialism. In Parliament, the extreme left-wing group of Laborites is opposing the government on defense spending and other issues. In the unions, the older anti-communist leadership is yielding to newer Marxist elements.

The revolutionary groups are very active in their attacks on industry. For example, Mr. Stewart-Smith noted in his speech that the International Socialist organization will "actively find jobs for people in industry in order to attack companies within." They produce a series of revolutinary newspapers devoted not only to various industries but to individual companies.

Clearly, the hour is late in Britain for a major campaign of education aimed at defending the country's free institutions, including the institution of private property.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

by John A. Grant
Vicar of St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park

"... and who is my neighbor?" St. Luke 10:29.

You are driving down the highway, and you see a car parked on the shoulder. As you come closer, it is apparent that it has some kind of mechanical trouble. Two more seconds go by, and you have whizzed past the disabled automobile.

Yet, the vision of the car will persist and you will wonder what happened to it. Like many Christians your conscience will bother you, because you will remember the story of the Good Samaritan. Perhaps you could have helped the stranded motorist, but at that particular moment you chose not to do it.

Our Lord's story of the Good Samaritan ranks high on the list of ones which Christians remember. It covers several different expressions of one's personality. The longer it is studied, the greater the number of answers which appear to this question, "... who is my neighbor?"

One of the deepest meanings to this story lies in the fact that we have to make choices each minute of the day. Generally these choices are made automatically, but sometimes they require several moments of thought. Unfortunately, our attitude at the moment will dictate whether or not the choice is made accordingly to the highest moral standards.

It is easy to condemn the priest and the Levite for failing to help the man who had been beaten and robbed. Yet, given the same choice, what do you do? Do you stop and give help only when it is convenient, or do you do it automatically.

Consider for a moment several things which could have gone through your mind the moment you saw the stranded motorist. First, he was probably a complete stranger, and there was little chance you would ever see him again. If you pass by, he would never be able to confront you with your failure to help him. Second, you might get involved in a time consuming affair and miss a very important appointment. (In this day, when everything moves so fast, it is unforgivable to be late!) Third, is a reason which will always ease your conscience, you might cause a traffic accident by stopping to help someone.

With these considerations in mind, maybe it is harder to condemn the priest and Levite. Obviously, we too make self-centered choices, and do it many times a day.

Thus, we begin to understand that our Lord was teaching something about how we should make choices. When we make one, it should be made beyond our own personal attitude at the moment. Often, what is convenient, is really the right thing to do.

So next time you see a situation where help is needed, don't keep on going and disappear around the next curve. All your good intentions aren't worth a nickel if you don't put them into action ... and action means that you do know "who is your neighbor."

Rescue Squad Plans Carnival Saturday

Members of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad are planning their annual fund-raising carnival this Saturday, June 7, on the employe parking lot of the First National Bank in Oakland.

All types of carnival games will be available between 1 and 5 p.m. Baked goods will also be offered for sale.

Members of the Harige Clown unit of Ali Ghan Shrine, Cumberland, will be performing, and members of the Southern High School band will be playing selections during the afternoon. All three squad vehicles will be on display.

As part of the fund drive this year, over 9,456 hand-addressed letters to residents of the southern part of the county have been sent requesing donations.

Money contributed will be used for continuation of services and also for a new squad building. The building currently in use on Liberty Street is becoming too crowded for the number of vehicles and squad members.

Persons knowing of a suitable site for building a new rescue squad hall within one-half mile of Oakland may contact Brad Stewart, chairman of the finance committee who is also in charge of carnival arrangements.

The first and largest donation so far to the fund is a check for $1,000 from Community Helpers Circle composed of five families from Deer Park and Swanton.

Road Contract On Rt. 40 Awarded

State Highway Administrator Bernard M. Evans has announced the award of a contract for a grading and paving project in Garrett County to The Interstate Amiesite Corporation of Concordville, Pa.

The $51,146 contract includes the grading and paving of the roadway along U.S. 40 for 0.114 mile east of New Germany Road, which has been permanently relocated 0.25 mile further west of its previous location.

Also included in this project is the construction of a by-pass lane, which will broaden the roadway's existing width of 24 feet by 12 feet for a portion of the highway to be paved.

G. E. Geary, Assistant District Engineer - Construction in Garrett County, explained that the purpose of the road work is to lower the roadway by approximately three feet, thereby reducing the sight distance and eliminating visual difficulties. Mr. Geary projects the construction time to be a maximum of six weeks.

Rabies Clinics Support New Law

A new state law, effective July 1, requires that all dogs over four months of age be vaccinated against rabies.

As a result Dr. William W. Pope, deputy state health officer for this county announced that the department, in cooperation with local veterinarians and the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene would be offering clinics on June 13, 14 and 15.

Dr. Pope said proof of vaccination must be provided before the dog owners may get a county dog license after July 1. The fee at the clinics will be $2 per animal.

Dates and locations:

Oakland, Armory, June 13, 5 to 8 p.m.; Grantsville, fire hall, June 14, 2 to 3:30; Friendsville, fire hall, 14th, 4:30 to 5:30; Oakland, armory, 14th, 6:30 to 8; McHenry, fairgrounds, June 15, 2 to 4 p.m.

Persons using the clinics will receive a green bell-shaped rabies tag and a completed rabies certificate for dog or cat.

Last year 27 animals were confirmed by Maryland laboratories as having rabies. Majority of these were bats.

Collect Telephone Calls Authorized For Social Security

Employees in the Cumberland office of the Social Security Administration are authorized to accept collect telephone calls from Garrett County recipients.

Congressman Goodloe Byron said James Caldwell, Commissioner of Social Security, feels that Garrett County does not need a full-time Social Security office and it would be impractical to provide toll free service by either wide area telephone system (WATS) ro foreign exchange (FX) lines.

The response to Congressman Byron came after W. Dale Ellis, director of Senior Citizens Programs for Garrett County, asked for a full-time Social Security officer for the elderly, handicapped and disabled.

Ellis said he felt that the two hour a day two days a week operation at the National Guard Armory in Oakland Tuesdays and Fridays does not meet the needs of Garrett countians. Ellis suggested bringing the field worker to Garrett for two full days which was also rejected.

Caldwell promised Congressman Byron that regional and local management of Social Security will continue to monitor the Garrett County area for indications of a change in telephone service needs.

Ellis urged Garrett countians with Social Security problems to call the Cumberland office collect if an appearance can not be made at the Oakland office.

Receives Degree

William Bruce Grant, son of Dr. and Mrs. B. L. Grant, 121 North Second street, Oakland, has received a Bachelor of Arts degree at West Virginia Wesleyan's eighty-fifth annual commencement. He is a history major.

Taken To Med Center

Mrs. Julie Rush, 26, Friendsville, was transferred from Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland to the University Medical Center in Morgantown, W. Va., by the Southern Rescue squad last evening about 9 o'clock.

She remains in serious condition at the hospital where she is in the intensive care unit.

Marihuana Profitable — For Criminals

Largely unnoticed by the public a vicious propaganda campaign has been launched against reputable and top-ranking scientists, doctors and medical researchers who have had the temerity to speak out against marihuana.

For example Prof. Gabriel Nahas of Columbia University, after extensive research, declared that the use of marihuana as little as three times a week seriously reduces DNA synthesis in the body; and that, in consequence of this, the generation of immune cells (the T-lymphocytes) is reduced by a factor of 41 percent. Conclusion: Marihuana is bad for people.

Following the press conference at which the findings were announced, however, Columbia University was swamped with letters which accused Dr. Nahas of "psychopharmacological McCarthyism" (there's that dirty word, again!) and attacking his findings as "meretricious trash" among other things.

Others who have warned of the dangers of marihuana have been similarly abused. Why?

Because there is enormous profit in the sale and distribution of marihuana and its derivative hashish — millions upon millions of dollars. Those who seek to profit by any means—even at the cost of the lives and health of others—will stoop to any level to discredit those who would foil their nefarious trade.

It is time for the medical profession as a whole to launch an all out attack against the dangerous drug, marihuana, and to encourage others of their profession to continue their scientific research into the health hazards risked by users.

Gentlemen Of The Jury

As a trial of prominent government officials is ending, we again realize the importance of the people in a jury system. Conservatism or lack thereof, political party, and certainly the ideas of integrity in an individual's living pattern, all greatly modify the verdict which he, as a member of the jury, will uphold.

Our American legal procedure prides itself on the jury system, representing trial by the peers of the accused. In the psychological sense, it may be difficult to prove who can be defined as a true peer; nevertheless, there is an attempt at pure justice in removing from a jury panel those prejudices interfere with dedicated judgment.

Trial by jury has its basis in the English tradition, stemming from the reign of Henry III, not from the Magna Charta, which merely put the king below the law and provided for no loss of life, liberty, or property without judgment of one's social equals. These questions were to be resolved, according to the Charter, by the appropriate mode of trial for the type of case being considered.

Modern juries are impaneled and sworn to investigate questions of fact from which they return a verdict. This has not always been true, however. When the Normans invaded England, they adopted primitive types of justice. By an "inquest" the chosen men decide questions upon their own knowledge instead of testimony from witnesses. Chiefly for transacting the royal business, this method seems unusual to us, but it happily superseded the old forms of trial that fill us with horror. Trial by physical ordeals (hot coals or floating in water), by wielding weapons with an adversary to determine the innocent party, or by compugation, that is, having one's neighbors swear to one's innocence, were hardly what we could see as examples of the finest justice. Much later, in the twelfth century, procedures were changed so that jurors decide only upon evidence heard in court.

Despite criticisms of its lengthy involvement and argumentation, the jury system is defended by many people who feel that its abolishment would have grave consequences, for it remains a phase of government in which ordinary citizens may still take a direct part. And most of us agree with George Washington, "The administration of justice is the firmest pillar of government."

Downgrading Freedom

Downgrading Freed om ...

One of the underplayed news stories of recent weeks was the story of Sen. Henry M. Jackson's "Summit" visit to Communist China and his recommendations on his return.

For several years, Sen Jackson (D-Wash) has maintained a hard-line posture on defense and foreign policy, despite his record of liberalism on domestic issues. Now, it seems, he intends to shed his image as a hard-liner.

This became apparent in a press conference that the Washington Post said had "the earmarks of a presidential campaign production." The Senator's hard-line opposition to Chinese Communist ambitions was abandoned in his announcement that he favors full U.S. diplomatic relations with the Peking regime and withdrawal of the American embassy from Free China on Taiwan.

The Committee for A Free China has rightly described Sen. Jackson's proposals as "wrong morally, militarily, strategically, tactically, diplomatically and practically."

Sen. Jackson's statement is shocking and dismaying. It is nothing less than a proposal that the United States signal to the world that it downgrades the value of association with a free people and prefers a harmonious relationship with a regime ideologically committed to the destruction of the United States and responsible for the deaths of more than 20 million anti-communist Chinese on the mainland. Is this to be American moral leadership in the decade ahead? Is this Sen. Jackson's view of the responsibility of American power?

Sen. Jackson's switch to the apologist role is unmistakable. When a reporter noted that the senator sounded like he had discovered a "good communist superpower," Sen. Jackson replied: "I'm not passing on the goodness" of China but "what I've suggested is there are many areas where our interests are parallel."

What areas? How can the United States, a nation based on individual liberty, have parallel interests with one of the most brutal anti-human regimes of modern history?

Obviously, the interests of the United States cannot parallel the interests of Communist China. Everything in Mao's China is antithetical to the way of life in which Americans believe. Free China or Taiwan, however, represents not only dedication to orderly, domestic processes but is a continuation of the mainstream of historic Chinese culture which Mao and his brutal cohorts have sought to destroy. Indeed at this very time the Peking regime is attempting to extinguish the last vestiges of the Chinese people's dedication to the principles of their older civilization.

The United States has to deal with Communist China as a fact of international life. Discussions can be carried forward without adding to the prestige of the Mao regime or undercutting the Free Chinese on Taiwan. If American history means anything, especially its history of involvements in the Far East since the 19th century, the United States has a solemn obligation to its own traditions and interests to foster genuine freedom in Asia - - not to suggest that the lights of freedom in Asia are of no importance.

Sen. Jackson's private summit meeting in Peking suggests that ambition has triumphed over principle and that the senator is hoping to earn the good will of those in America who are bent on appeasing Chairman Mao.

Earnings Drop

Westvaco Corporation has reported that earnings for the second quarter and six months ended April 30 fell below last year's levels.

Sales of $180,741,000 in the second quarter were 8 percent below sales of $197,446,000 a year ago.

Second quarter earnings amounted to $7,201,000, equal to 64 cents a share, 46 percent below earnings of $13,389,000, or $1.21 a share, for the corresponding period last year. Earnings for the first six months of 1975 amounted to $17,231,000, or $1.54 a share, a decline of 23 percent from the $22,477,00, or $2.03 a share, earned in the first six months of 1974.

David L. Luke III, president, said the drop in second quarter income from last year's figure was attributable to external economic conditions.

Sermonette

Vacation time is here! For most places school is almost over; weather is warm; summer is here. This becomes more noticeable every year. Our new interstate and four-lane highways make all parts of the nation more easy to get to; jet air-craft make Europe and other parts of the world just a few hours away. We have more long week-ends, and workers enjoy longer vacations. The leisure-recreation industry is the second or third largest industry in many states, and certainly among the top in Oakland and Garrett County. People will be on the move this summer in record numbers.

What is the Christian to think about this new leisure? In the New Testament, there is little attention given to leisure. People worked hard for a bare existence in a primitive rural society, as many people do today in the more underdeveloped parts of the world. But one incident stands out, an incident where Jesus did and did not do certain things. This is the Wedding Feast in Cana of Galilee where Jesus was deeply involved with people enjoying an occasion of leisure and joy. Jesus did not take advantage of this happy gathering to preach a sermon. In fact, there is no record that he even gave the Invocation at the feast! He was just there, like anyone else, enjoying himself and rejoicing in the joy of the newly married couple. When the need arose for more wine, he quietly went out and took care of it, without calling attention to himself.

Here is a pattern for the Church and the Christian as leisure time is given to all of us. Leisure is a gift of God to be enjoyed, to be used, a time for the company of others. Leisure is a time for refreshment, companionship, for renewal of body, mind and spirit. It has value just as work does. It is a shame when people feel guilty when they are free from work, guilty that they are not working or doing something "useful." Leisure is a gift of God to be enjoyed as Jesus did in Cana of Galilee, a gift which we must use responsibly and for which we give thanks to God.

The Creation story in Genesis points out that after God had created the heavens and earth in six days, on the seventh day he rested. This has real meaning for us in this day of technology, science and unprecedented productivity. For man is beginning, at least among a majority of American people, to meet basic needs for food, clothing and shelter. So we as a people have a greater time of rest; or if not rest, at least time off from work. We have mobility of good highways and jet planes. We have opportunities for traveling, seeing and meeting people. These are gifts to all of us, gifts of God which, like all gifts of God, we must thank him for, and use responsibly. If we give thanks to God for our leisure time, we will find that he has "given a hearty desire to pray," and that we may be comforted in all our lives, including our leisure this summer. Thanks be to God for his many gifts and blessings to us.

The Rev. Manning L. Smith

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

INCOMPLETE CHRISTIANS

Lesson for June 8, 1975

Background Scripture: Deuteronomy 6:1-9; Luke 4:1-4; 2 Timothy 3:10-17; 2 Peter 1:16-21.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 119:89-96.

A mother was helping her son to unpack his army duffel bag. In the breast pocket of one of his uniforms she found the Bible she had sent to him.

"Did you read it?" she asked.

"Oh, you bet," her son replied.

"How far?" she persisted.

Flashing a smile, her son replied, "From cover to cover."

Rev. Althouse

Handing him the Bible, she said, "Turn to page three, please." Opening the Bible, he found on page three two twenty dollar bills. "I put them there when I sent you the Bible," she explained.

If it were forbidden

In relating this little story, I am not suggesting that all of my readers start paging madly through their Bibles. But I do believe that in many homes the Bible might be the very best place to hide money, for it seems to be one of the places least likely to be disturbed.

Church historians tell us that for daring to translate the Bible into English, William Tyndale was burned at the stake and Henry VIII did his best to keep the English Bible out of England. Public notices with this warning were posted:

No women, nor artificers, nor apprentices, journeymen, servingmen, yeomen, husbandmen or laborers shall read the Bible in English to himself or another, privately or openly on pain of a month's imprisonment.

Perhaps we'd be further ahead today if our own government were to pass such legislation. The prospect of people reading it "on the sly," buying it under the counter at bookstores, having it sent in a plain wrapper" ..... well, who knows what that might do!

The writer of 2 Timothy assures us that "scripture is inspired by God and profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, and for training in righteousness, that the man of God may be complete, equipped for every good work" (2 Timothy 3:16).

Ill-equipped

Judging by those standards and our biblical illiteracy, many of us are quite incomplete as followers of Christ. We are ill-equipped for our discipleship because, although we honor and venerate the Bible, we do not study it, know it, and use it up to anything close to its potential. The Bible is one of the Christian's finest, most important resources, but it is also one of the most neglected.

The most common excuses are that the Bible is just too difficult to understand. Yet, we live in an age of multiple popular Bible translations and have an almost unlimited supply of literature and other aids to help us understand it. There are courses in Bible study and even our televisions stations sometimes provide this kind of programming.

Why is it, then, that many of us continue to be so incomplete as far as the Bible is concerned?

DRUGS MUST BE CAREFULLY STORED

A great many medicines react to outside influences and must be protected to insure their potency. Some must be refrigerated, some kept away from light and still others must be kept in special containers. When a new drug comes in, one of the very first things we do is determine where and how we should keep it.

When you receive a medicine from us that requires special handling we will either tell you about it, put it on the label or attach an extra label with the proper directions. Always follow the storage directions carefully to insure you are getting the most benefit from what you are taking.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Modern Milk

Nonfat dry milk has all the qualifications to place it high on the list of convenience foods. It has multiple uses, requires little storage space, has long shelf life, and instant availability. One added advantage — it's inexpensive.

Right now it's also plentiful. U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that commercial stocks are more than double those of a year earlier. In total volume it represents nearly 115 million pounds.

It works well for weight watchers looking for high nutrition and low calerie count, and for those requiring protein or other nutritive boosts. It can be added to fluid milk and other foods to increase protein, mineral, and vitamin count.

You can buy it by the box, mix it by the quart or gallon, drink it by the glass. Whatever your family milk requirements are, you mix only what you need, when you need it. Once it has been reconstituted, freezing is not recommended, but once reconstituted it should be refrigerated.

Proper storage requires only that it be kept in a dry, cool spot in your pantry. It should be tightly covered to avoid absorption of any moisture. Shelf life is about 6 months.

It has many uses other than as a beverage. Nonfat dry milk can be substituted for fluid milk in baking. When used this way, it should be added to the dry ingredients of the recipe. It should not be sifted. To fill liquid measure, use given recipe amount in water.

Mixed with equal amounts of ice water, nonfat dry milk can be whipped up to the consistency of whipped cream and served as a low-calorie dessert topping. It can also be whipped with frozen juice concentrates for a dessert in itself.

A good breakfast muffin will provoke praise for the cook and a reduced cost per muffin when made with nonfat dry milk.

Apple Crunch Muffins

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, ⅓ cup instant nonfat dry milk, ⅓ cup granulated sugar, 4 tsp. double action baking powder, 1 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. cinnamon, 1 cup finely chopped peeled apples, ¾ cup water, ¼ cup vegetable oil, 1 egg.

Crunch Topping: ⅓ cup firmly packed brown sugar, ⅓ cup chopped nuts, ½ tsp. cinnamon.

Sift flour, add nonfat dry milk, sugar, baking powder, salt and cinnamon in bowl. Mix in apple. Combine water, oil and egg. Stir into flour mixture. Do not overmix. Spoon into 12 well-greased muffin cups. Combine ingredients for topping. Sprinkle topping over batter in each cup. Bake in preheated 400 degree oven 18 to 20 minutes. Serve warm.

Broccoli in Cheese Custard

1 (10 oz.) pkg. frozen chopped broccoli, ¾ cup instant nonfat dry milk, ½cup shredded Swiss cheese, 2 eggs, 2 tbsp. lemon juice, 2 tbsp, butter, melted, 1/8 tsp. pepper, 1-¼ cups hot water.

Cook broccoli according to package directions. Drain well. Meanwhile, in a large bowl beat remaining ingredients until combined. Place broccoli in a 1-½ quart casserole. Pour in custard mixture. Set casserole in shallow pan on oven rack; add enough hot water to pan to come up about one inch around casserole. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven 40 to 45 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean and top is browned. Yield: 6 servings.

Construction On New Church Underway

Construction has begun on the new St. Ann's Catholic Church and parochial residence in Northern Garrett County. The site of the Church is at the intersection of Routes, 40, 48, and Foster Mill Road, two miles east of Grantsville.

The modern style church, seating about three hundred, was designed by Joseph C. Severino of the architectural firm of Bender Associates, Incorporated, of Camp Hill, Pennsylvania. Mr. Severino, familiar with Western Maryland, has designed the church with the mountainous terrain in mind, and the scenic beauty of the area as a back drop. The interior of the church features light oak altars, statues, pews, and stations of the Cross. The General Contractor is Walter C. Growden, Incorporated, Bishop Walsh Road, Cumberland.

When completed, the church will serve the combined missions of St. Ann, Avilton, and St. Stephen, Grantsville, and will be the only Catholic Church in Northern Garrett County.

Rev. Kenny Cox, O.F.M. Cap. is the pastor of the congregation which will number between one hundred seventy five and two hundred families.

INTRODUCING THE FIRST AFFORDABLE MINI THAT DOESN'T LOOK LIKE A CHOPPED VAN

THE CHAMPION 22' MINI-MOTOR HOME
If you've been looking at other mini-motor homes you know that those in Champion's price class look like they were haphazardly joined together. Well, Champion has changed all that.
The Champion mini-motor home doesn't have the crimped aluminum siding or the boxy design of the other mini's. Instead we use smooth aluminum siding shaped aerodynamically so that the curved lines combine nicely with those of the driver's cab compartment. The sleek exterior styling is also highlighted with red, white and blue accent stripes for a distinctive sporting flare. Slant side windows and raised roof line also add to the futuristic design.
RIDES AND HANDLES LIKE A BREEZE
The frisky Champion mini-motor home rides, handles and parks almost as easily as the family station wagon. The cozy, quiet driver's area with deep cushion bucket seats and car-type instrument panel make driving a pleasant experience. Even the gals will enjoy taking the wheel with Champion's great maneuverability. Because Dodge power steering, power brakes and automatic transmission make this value-packed beauty handle like a breeze.
When you're on the highway, a powerful, efficient, Dodge 360 cu. in. V-8 engine has all the moxie it takes to handle passing situations and long pulls up steep grades. Easy riding characteristics such as independent front suspension provide a brand of driving comfort that makes getting there as fun-filled and relaxing as being there.

Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, in care of U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks–

Can you please discuss the Bicentennial Community program and tell me how our town may apply?

Communities in Central and Western Maryland may apply for official recognition as a Bicentennial Community as part of the nation-wide effort to stimulate grass roots involvement in America's 200th annuversary. According to the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission (ARBC) the following procedures should be followed: First, your community should organize a special Bicentennial planning and coordinating committee which is representative of all segments of the community; Second, plans should be drawn up which will include at least one lasting reminder of the special effort the community undertook for the Bicentennial commemoration; Third, obtain the approval of the Chief Executive Office or governing body of the community and then submit the application through the appropriate Bicentennial agency.

Why must a veteran requiring nursing home care first be hospitalized under VA auspices?

Under the Veterans' Health Care Expansion Act of 1973 this is no longer true, the new law permits the furnishing of nursing home care, in the case of service-connected veterans requiring such care for their service-connected disabilities, upon determination of need by a VA doctor.

Where can I obtain copies of bills before Congress?

Copies of specific bills may be ordered through my office here in Washington.

I understand that the Library of Congress offers surplus books free to schools in the U. S.? Please comment on this.

The Library of Congress maintains at all times a collection of surplus books which are available to educational institutions and public bodies in the United States. Authorized representatives of schools and libraries may make free selections from this donation collection. The Publications are available for selection at any time, Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:15 p.m., in the Exchange and Gift Division, Room 2016, Annex Building. Interested institutions may contact the Library of Congress for additional information.

Please explain the proposed tax exemption for volunteer firemen?

Under proposed legislation volunteer firemen would be exempt from paying income tax on annual earnings less than $500 which they may receive while performing services as a member of a volunteer fire company.

Historical Display Set Up At First National Bank Lobby

A special 75th anniversary display of interesting materials related to the history of The First National Bank of Oakland has been set up in the lobby of the bank's main office in Oakland.

The display includes several rare items including National Currency (bank money) issued by the First National Banks of Oakland and Friendsville. The oldest bill is a $10 bill which was part of the first money the bank issued in 1900. It was hand signed by R. E. Sliger, then cashier of the bank, and F. A. Thayer who was president of the bank at the time. Other rare items include a coin bank issued around 1930 by the Farmers' Bank of Oakland, a 1905 coin bank issued by the First National Bank of Oakland, a newspaper advertisement published during World War I, old machines, bank charters, old minute books, and the very first savings account ever opened by the First National Bank of Oakland in 1900.

The public is invited to view this display.

According to Lynn Beckman, Public Relations Officer of the bank, other articles of interest will be included in the display from time to time. He said the bank plans to have other interesting displays this summer too. He further pointed out that the current display has nothing to do with the bank's recent "Firstalgia Hunt". He said the items now included are not eligible for the contest.

The "Firstalgia Hunt" contest, which ended May 31, is currently being judged and the winners will be announced on June 19.

Tough Strip Mine Control Began June 1

A tougher regulation policy dealing with strip mining in the Deep Creek Lake drainage basin is one of the components of the county's new lake zoning ordinance which became law on June 1.

The county's board of zoning approvals will now have to approve each strip mining permit application on a case base basis before coal operators will be able to mine coal in the lake basin.

In a related development the state's Mine Land Reclamation committee asked the county commissioners to consider slowing down strip mining until the committee can study the overall impact of the mining. The commissioners referred the request to the county's Planning commission for a recommendation.

The Board of Zoning Appeals will have the ultimate say as to which strip mining permits will be approved.

The Lake zoning ordinance, adopted earlier last month after more than a year of study and public meetings, requires local public hearings on mining industry requests and a special county exception before coal can be stripped in the Lake's drainage basin.

Western Maryland coal operators had voiced objections to the county measure but environmentalists felt it filled a gap in the state law and may be a sign of more county control over the industry in the future.

The law will allow the appeals board to consider effects of strip mining in the lake area and set standards for the total number of acres to be open for mining at any given time.

The ordinance also gives the appeals panel power to hear citizen testimony on strip mining proposals at hours more convenient than the state's daytime meetings.

Miners are claiming that the new law merely adds another layer of bureaucracy to existing mine-control structure.

Robert C. Harvey, president of the Western Maryland Coal Owners and Operators association, said the miners already are faced with time consuming procedures at the state level. He said those procedures tend to delay mining development and the delays often make it difficult for miners to keep their men regularly employed.

Wayne B. Hamilton, chairman of the county commissioners, said that the new county zoning law "is not an out and out outlaw of strip mining but every case and every permit will be treated on its own merit."

He said the county wants to assure that the Deep Creek Lake area is not burdened by too much strip mining, particularly in the area of the Cherry Creek tributary.

He said another area of concern was a 4,000 plus acre tract known as the Blough property, which lies between state park land and Bittinger, east of Deep Creek Lake.

Marshall Rickert, county planning director, said the county "is going to attempt to approach the aggregate impact of strip mining so that it will not adversely affect the lake."

Volunteers Sought To Work In Parks

Volunteers to work in state parks throughout the year are now being sought through a Volunteer in the Parks (VIP) program currently underway throughout the state.

The program is designed to encourage volunteer participation of members of the community with local state parks. VIPs assist at the park with numerous activities such as conducting research, giving visitor information or assisting with other visitor service programs.

They may also give special demonstrations of their own talents such as a craft or taxidermy.

Volunteers are needed in all four county parks, Herrington Manor, Deep Creek, Swallow Falls and New Germany. Anyone interested in volunteering may call the facility nearest them and make an appointment for an interview. VIPs receive a certificate and badge for their efforts. Applicants under age 18 must have written parental consent.

As many volunteers as possible are sought for work all year around.

Tri-County Unit Funds Decreased

The U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has made grants totaling $8,800 to the Tri-County Council of Western Maryland through its 701 Comprehensive Planning Program for fiscal year 1974.

The total for Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties is a decrease from the total of $19,000 granted to the Tri-County Council for fiscal 1973.

Programs of rural districts are directed in part to the following purposes: area wide comprehensive land use planning, technical assistance to small governments, long-range capital budgeting, increasing governmental productivity, regional sewer and water planning and economic base studies and action plans.

HUD has aided small towns and rural areas for more than 20 years through the 701 programs.

Since 1972, the first year for which an appropriation of $100 million was available, more than 2,000 different municipalities, counties and areawide organizations have been assisted.

The enactment of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 substantially amended the program of HUD assistance for state and local comprehensive planning.

All grant recipients will now carry out an ongoing comprehesive planning process, which by August 1977 must include a land use and housing element as a minimum.

The land element must have locally determined criteria and implementing procedures for coordination of effects of land use planning and all federal agencies.

No New Cases Of Rubella Reported

No new cases have been reported in the recent outbreak of Rubella (three-day measles) which has been identified in Garrett County. The first case appeared April 6, and a total of 35 cases have since been identified. Health advisors from the State Department have assisted in tracing and identification of suspected cases.

The last major epidemic of Rubella swept the country in 1964, and it is estimated that as a result of that epidemic, there were in Maryland alone 1,500 miscarriages and 1,500 children born with some defect caused by the infection. Defects may range from mild to severe and may affect hearing, vision or mental development or cause congenital heart disease.

Since the 1964 epidemic, Rubella control measures have been developed and utilized. Immunization against Rubella is recommended for all children from one year of age, and is required for entry to school. In Garrett County, about 70 percent of two year olds and 95 percent of six year olds have been immunized against the disease.

For pregnant women, blood tests are available ot determine if a woman has immunity to the disease. About 90 percent of such women do have immunity and their pregnancy is then not endangered by the disease. Of the four pregnant women known to have been exposed to the present outbreak, all have been found to be immune to the disease. For the woman who is not immune, as determined by the blood test, the greatest danger to her pregnancy occurs in the first 12 weeks, with some danger present still in the second 12 weeks.

Rubella is a highly contagious disease probably spread by a sneeze or cough or direct contact. A person infected with Rubella may be contagious one or more weeks before and after the outbreak of the rash, making isolation generally a futile procedure.

Women who think they may be in the first 20 weeks of a pregnancy should learn if they are definitely pregnant and if they have immunity to the disease. These tests are available from their physician or from the Health Department. For further information, persons may call the Health Dept. Persons who know of possible cases should report these by calling the Health Department.

Be "Fair" Minded . . .

The Garrett County Agricultural Fair Board is thinking about proper entertainment for the coming fair in August. It is not too early for Garrett County farm people and the culturally minded citizens to also becoming "fair" minded.

We have had an extremely wet spring and agricultural products may not be advanced as far as the farm people would like, but there are other aspects of the annual fair which would not have to be hampered by the weather. Baked goods, clothing, handwork, are only a few of the cultural projects that citizens already could be working on, with a determination to make this annual event one to be remembered.

Grantsville Park Plans Underway

Grantsville Lions Club Heads Community Project

Grantsville Lions Club President Donald R. Hershberger and Mayor Donald E. Swauger of Grantsville announced today that plans for a new area park in Grantsville are underway.

In 1973 the Grantsville Lions Club lost most of a small park and Little League ball field it owned and maintained because of construction of the interstate highway. Members immediately began thinking of a new park to serve not only local children but all area adults as well. Two adjoining parcels of land centered in the northern portion of town were viewed as the best possible location in Grantsville for a future park. Over the next two years, planning, negotiating and financing took place until the park reached its present stage.

Both parcels of land have recently been purchased and the Garrett County Planning and Zoning Commission staff helped with detailed drawings and site planning. A site plan is now complete.

Depending on availability of financial aid from the Maryland Open Space program, the 8-acre tract will be improved by grading, plantings and landscaping. Construction is planned of a regulation Little League baseball field, 2 tennis courts, a softball field, a basketball court, parking area, picnic area, tot lot, roofed pavilion and rest room facilities, outdoor furniture, and cooking fireplaces. After these have been completed, there are additional facilities planned to increase the usefulness and beauty of the park. These would be constructed over a period of several years.

Entertainment Is Planned Nightly At Fair August 4-9

General admission will remain at $1.00 per adult and children under 12 years, free. For the demolition derby, however, admission will be $2 per adult and $1.00 for children under 12. Gates will open for the derby at 4 p.m.

Various other items were also discussed at the fair board meeting, including fire safety, sanitation, guard rails for the race tracks, and the use of the supplement in The Republican instead of the fair book.

The next meeting of the board will be Tuesday, July 1, at the fair grounds.

Spring Rains Slow Construction Of National Freeway

Spring rains have hampered the construction of the National Freeway (Route 48) but the section between U.S. Rte. 219 south to the West Virginia border is expected to be opened by late next fall.

The remaining section, from Finzel road to Keyser Ridge, will be completed early next summer.

More than $50 million in contracts are currently underway but the rainy weather is delaying all phases of work, paving work particularly. There is also only a limited supply of aggregate for use in the paving work, according to the State Highway Administration district office in Cumberland.

The Route 48 freeway will parallel Route 40, the National Road which was the first federally-financed highway in America back in the early 1880s.

Contracts underway and the percentage of completion are as follows:

S. J. Grove and Sons Company, grading, draining and paving 4.23 miles of the Freeway from near relocated State Route 546 to near Piney Grove at a cost of $5,088,588, 65.8 percent finished; grading, draining and paving 2.94 miles from near

Three Charged On Drug Possession

A joint effort by the sheriff's department and Oakland town police culminated in three arrests Wednesday afternoon on the possession of marijuana charges.

Oakland Sgt. Hobart Shillingburg obtained warrants for the arrest of Roy DeWitt and Carl Freeland and one male juvenile. Also participating in the coordinated effort were sheriff John Evans, Jr., Chief of Police Percy Lawton, and three deputies.

The arrests were made at a house on Center Street.

According to Chief deputy Frank Finch, further arrests may be pending following additional investigation.

The young men over 18 are still in the county jail pending a bond hearing.

The Friendsville Rotary club is again sponsoring the 11th annual Old Time Fiddlers' contest, to be held on Saturday evening, July 19, beginning at 8 o'clock at the Firemen's hall and town parking lot in Friendsville.

Ward Livengood, chairman for the event, said numerous applications already had been received from contestants.

Bid On Savage River Bridge Is $798,101

One bid was received Tuesday for construction of the new Savage River bridge in this county and the offer was substantially above the estimated cost for the project, it was learned from Paul DeWitt, administrative engineer for the County Roads system.

The bid was submitted by the George F. Hazelwood company, Cumberland, for $798,101. The county commissioners had anticipated the cost to be in the neighborhood of $700,000.

The bid was taken under advisement by the county commissioners.

The new bridge, needed to replace a temporary span which has been in use since the old bridge was condemned last year, is to be built with a combination of county and state funds. The General Assembly approved legislation allowing the state to pay $350,000 as one half of the cost of building the bridge, with the county obligated to pay the other half.

The bridge is a county owned structure but the road leads into state parkland and much traffic is generated by vehicles using state facilities.

Mr. DeWitt said engineering plans already are completed for the project.

Free Cancer Clinics Are Being Planned

Free clinics for uterine examination for cancer and breast self-examination was the topic of a planning meeting sponsored by the Garrett County unit of the American Cancer Society held recently.

Those attending the meeting were Dr. William Pope, deputy county health officer, Katherine Speicher, R.N., county Public Health nurse; Dorothy Greenwood, R.N., Jerry O'Neill, director of Western Maryland Cancer Society; Dorothy Rudy, R.N., Mrs. Webster Brenneman, Pauline Faucett, R. N., and Mrs. Ruth Durst.

Clinics will be held at Oakland, Friendsville, Bloomington, Grantsville and Kitzmiller during July and August. A random survey will be made so that an approximation of attendance at each clinic could be determined. The clinics will be held at Health Department facilities in each of the towns, and will be staffed by physicians in the county who will contribute their services at no charge. They will be assisted by Public Health nurses and volunteer workers from the local Cancer unit.

The clinic will be free to any person who attends, with the cost of the laboratory work paid for by a grant from the Cancer Society. The grant is made possible in part by response of local residents to the fund-raising crusade in the county. Garrett was the first county in the state to meet its 1975 fund guota.

An attempt will be made to reach all women in the county over age 18 who have not had a cervical examination for cancer within the past twelve months.

Boy Hit By Car On Oak Street Last Thursday

A nine-year-old boy was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital, having been hit by a car in front of his home on Oak street last Thursday evening.

Timothy M. Tharp, 700 block Oak street, Oakland, was hit by a car driven by Carroll W. Hahn, Oakland, as the boy ran across the street. Hahn traveling east on Oak street, noticed the boy running and start to cross the street, and hit his brakes. His car skidded about 24 feet and struck the boy with the left fender. The boy had run from right to left across the street. Sgt. Hobart Shillingburg of the Oakland Police investigated.

Gary F. DeBerry, Rt. 219, Oakland, had started to get out of his car on Center street and Alley 13 (parallel and between 2nd and 3rd streets) and opened the door into the lane of traffic. Richard D. Bishoff, S. 4th street, Oakland, following, struck the opened door. Sgt. Shillingburg investigated the accident which occurred Tuesday afternoon.

Lucinda K. Cooke, Alexandria, Va., failed to negotiate the proper clearence while crossing the 3rd street bridge over the B and O railroad just past midnight Monday morning, by failing to look where she was going and keep her car under control. Pfc. Roger Lewis of the Oakland Police charged her with negligent driving.

Schools To Get $2,555,727 For Ensuing Year

Board Had Sought $914,000 More But Will Get $470,000

After two months of budget work sessions with the Board of Education the County Commissioners notified Dr. William H. Buser, county superintendent of Schools that an additional $470,000 would be allocated to Garrett County School Board for fiscal year 1976. The Board had asked for an additional $914,000. Total allocation will be $2,555,727 for an increase of 22 percent. The total amount budgeted last year was $2,085,727.

In a letter of transmittal to the Board of Education, the Commissioners pointed out that $203,000 would go to teacher salary increases and another $39,000 to be added to the current cost of maintenance. The remaining amount of $228,000 is to be distributed among the other categories by the Board of Education.

Commissioners pointed out the large increase locally was mostly attributable to a reduced income from the state and the effects of inflation on overall operating costs to schools such as fuel and supplies.

The 22 percent increase represented one of the largest increases in local money to go to the Board of Education from local sources, they said.

Commissioners said they expected to finalize the total county budget and set the levy early next week.

Happy 100th Birthday, Miss Leary

By Carol Canan

Next Thursday, June 19, marks the 100th birthday anniversary of one of Oakland's better-known and loved citizens, Miss Marion B. Leary. Miss Leary taught in local schools for many years before her retirement in 1937.

Miss Leary has loved her students, and indeed all children, all her life and firmly believes there are other things to teach children besides the 3 R's.

In accordance with her 100th birthday, next Thursday has been set aside both by the town of Oakland and the county commissioners as Miss Marion B. Leary day.

Miss Leary's long and varied schoolteaching history began with a love of school and learning. High points of her summers for years were the 10-week summer sessions taught in Oakland by schoolteachers to young people who aspired to become teachers. Her career locally began with a term at the school on the old Mt. Lake Park road near Little Yough Lake, and spanned several schools and four decades before she retired.

Miss Leary was born in 1875 to William Lewis and Rebecca Crim Leary, who lived in Washington county near Downsville. They moved to Oakland in 1882, and lived where Browning Discount is now located, with Mr.

Twelve cars of a 104-car Chessie System freight train derailed early Sunday morning two miles west of Terra Alta, W. Va., but railroad officials said no one was injured and there was no spillage of dangerous cargo.

There were 90 loaded cars and 14 empties on the freight, which was eastbound from Cincinnati to Cumberland. The derailment occurred at 3:13 a.m. and blocked both tracks. The No. 1 track was opened by 2:35 p.m. and the No. 2 track by 10:30 p.m. The cause of the derailment was not immediately determined.

One of the loaded cars contained soybean oil, which was leaking after the wreck.

Three Instructors Retire After Long Years Of Service

Three Southern High School teachers were presented Certificates of Appreciation from the Department of Education, State of Maryland, by Dr. William Buser, Superintendent of Garrett County Schools, as guests at a retirement dinner for teachers given by the Board of Education on Thursday evening, June 5, at the Wisp, McHenry. Some 100 persons were present.

Master of ceremonies for the dinner was Luther D. Parrack, Jr., principal of Southern High School. The three retiring teachers from Southern are Willard O. Wolfe, his wife Jean D. Wolfe, and Bessie D. Price.

Mr. Wolfe, native of Fellowsville, W. Va., graduated from Fellowsville High School and is ending a career of 37½ years in the fields of science and Phys. Ed. He graduated from West Virginia University with B.S. and M.S. degrees. He coached basketball and baseball at Aurora, Tunnelton, Bruceton and Terra Alta high schools and was also football coach at Terra Alta. In Garrett County, he taught science at Southern High School for fourteen years. He will follow his hobbies of reading, fishing, hunting and traveling during his retirement.

Mrs. Wolfe, also a graduate of W.V.U., has taught in Garrett County for fifteen years. Her classes have included English, social studies, music, and journalism. Before coming to Garrett County, she taught at Aurora, Arthurdale, Terra Alta, and Bruceton high schools. While at Bruceton High School, she organized and directed the school band for five years. She is a member of Delta Kappa Gamma, International Honor Society for Women and the National Quill and Scroll Society. Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe are active members of St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland and reside at McHenry.

Mrs. Price taught in West Virginia for eighteen years before coming to Garrett County. A member of the Southern faculty for twenty years, she has taught English for the past several years and has been head of the English department. She founded the annual student publication, "With Pen in Hand," as a project for her creative writing classes. In addition she was a member of the committee responsible for the establishment of Garrett Community College. She is also a member of Kappa Delta Pi, National Educational Honor Fraternity. Mrs. Price belongs to the Bethel United Methodist Church in Mt. Lake Park, where she served as choir director and organist for approximately ten years. She is the wife of Walter W. Price.

Bible School Set For Deer Park Episcopal

During the week of June 23rd to June 27th an evening Bible School will be held for adults and children at St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park. The first session will begin at 7 o'clock on Monday evening June 23rd, and end at 9 p.m. Each evening will follow the same schedule.

In previous years, St. John's has focused its attention on a Daily Vacation Bible School for the children of the church and the community. However, there has been an expressed desire by adult members of the church for some type of Bible study, according to Rev. John A. Grant, rector. An evening Bible School fills this need, and is open to adults of the Deer Park community.

As in past years, the children's portion of the Bible School will feature arts and crafts as well as Bible study.

Cereal Leaf Beetle In Area, Agent Warns

If you have oats, wheat, barley or rye, check your fields immediately for presence of the cereal leaf beetle. Reports are coming in of infestations of oat fields in the Garrett County area. Larvae of this insect were active over a wide area in the county last year.

Look for small black blobs shaped somewhat like a potato bug sticking to the leaves. This is the larvae form which, like the alfalfa weevil, skeletonizes the leaf. Infestations range from light to heavy. Heavily damaged oat fields may look white like a frost hit the top portion of the leaves.

This insect can destroy a grain crop but it can be controlled. Malathion 57% E.C. (emulsifiable concentrate) at the rate of 1½ pints per acre) 1 pound active ingredient per acre) is the recommended material. Spray when infestation averages two larvae per plant.

Cereal leaf beetle is primarily a problem in oats but the insect may also attack wheat as well. Do not apply Malathion less than seven (7) days before harvest for control of this insect. If the infestation is light and the grain well developed, you may be able to squeeze through without spraying particularly on wheat.

Dean At WVU Is Terra Alta Man

The youngest dean in the 80-year history of West Virginia University's Arts and Sciences college, largest in the state with more than 5,000 students enrolled has been appointed.

He is 40 year old William E. Collins, native of Terra Alta, who has been acting dean since John C. Wright resigned last fall to become vice-chancellor of the University's Board of Regents.

Dr. Collins' appointment was announced by WVU president James Harlow, who said Collins was recommended unanimously by a faculty-student search committee.

A biology professor, Dr. Collins received his bachelor's degree in agriculture from WVU, and his master's degree in genetics, and his doctorate in physiology from the University of Wisconsin.

He studied in New Zealand as a Rotary Foundation Fellow and he worked in India as a program specialist for the Ford Foundation.

IN 1971-72 he served on President Harlow's staff as one of only 39 Academic Administration Fellows in the nation selected by the American Council on Education.

Hercules

Halfway between Arcturus and Vega northeast of Corona Borealis is the constellation Hercules. The asterism to look for in identifying the area of Hercules is a keystone or a trapezoid. Hercules' head is to the south. He is kneeling holding a club in his right hand and a three-headed dog in his left hand.

Near the end of his days Hercules was given a poisonous magic robe which caused him so much pain that he built a funeral pyre with which he planned his death, but before it was ignited, Zeus sent a cloud to carry him into the sky where we see him today.

Grantsville and Lions Club member, has acted as Lions Club park committee chairman for two years and will continue in this role during park construction. During an interview this week, he said that under the Maryland Open Space Program, the Maryland Department of Natural Resources has agreed to make a grant of a substantial amount of money to aid in acquisition of the land and development of the park. This will be the first such park in Garrett County aided by state open space funds. Because of this, both county officials and the county planning and zoning commission staff have labored to make the park dream become a reality, and keep interest in the construction details.

Initially, the name chosen for the park was "Grantsville Community Park." With more detailed study, it was learned that the park can and will serve Little League teams from western Maryland and parts of Pennsylvania, and that visitors from the tri-state area will regularly use its facilities. Because of such wide patronage, it was decided to give the park the name of "Grantsville Area Park."

The land for the park was acquired from Mr. and Mrs. David L. Broadwater and Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Speicher. The larger Broadwater tract was in use as farmland, and the Speicher property is improved with an old orchard and trees. The park will be just west of the Grantsville Area Health Center facing Miller Street, with an entrance and parking facilities off this street.

Grantsville Lions Club contributed $10,000 in club funds for park development. Also, work nights are set, when the entire membership clears under brush and does other jobs to reduce labor costs. Mayor Swauger stated in an interview that such an ambitious and costly park project could not have been financed by the Town alone. It is projected that open space funds for a grant will be based on a 3 to 1 ratio. Public contributions and Town force account work will make up most of the local share. Thus if $15,000 can be contributed by the locality, as much as $45,000 may be finally obtained from the Maryland Department of Natural Resources as its contribution in grant-in-aid, enabling a $60,000 park to be built.

The Grantsville Lions Club has entered into a written contract with the Town of Grantsville agreeing to be responsible for future upkeep and maintenance of the park, once built and in use. This agreement aided the Department of Natural Resources in reaching a decision to help finance the project, since it establishes continuing responsibility for upkeep. This will be a costly and significant factor in the years to come.

Mayor Swauger, Commissioner Edwards; Lions Club President Hershberger were unanimous in their praise of scores of Grantsville, Garrett County, and Maryland residents who have worked so hard to make the park become a reality. Past Week Has Been Mostly Cool

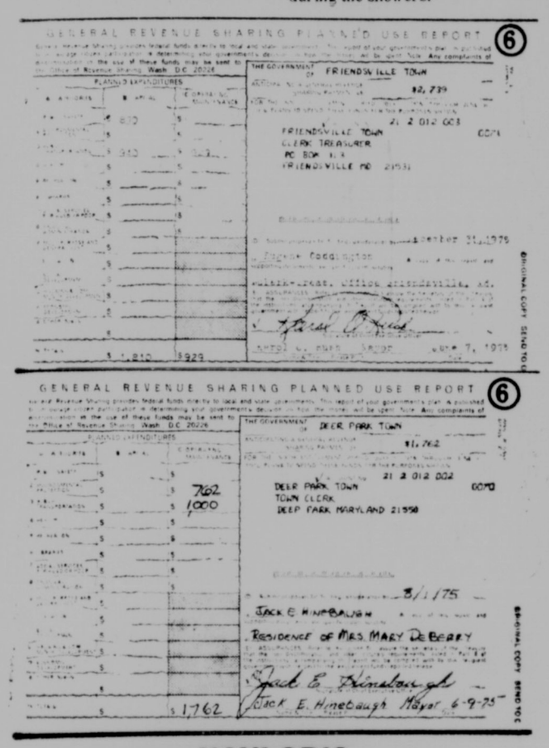
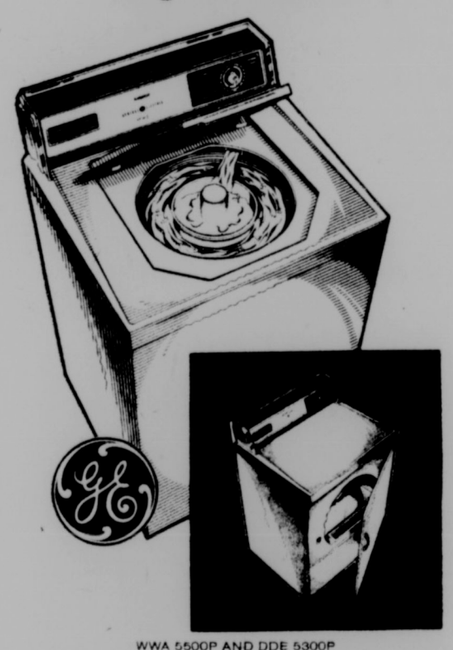
The past week's weather has been cool with mostly cloudy skies except Monday's and Tuesday's sunshine. There were thunder showers Thursday afternoon and Friday night. Sunday and Monday were quite breezy. In spite of what seemed a lot of rain, only .82 inch fell. The normal for a week in June is 1.17 inches.



Daytime mercury readings averaged 69.3 degrees or 8.4 degrees below normal. The highest was 75 degrees last Thursday afternoon. Morning lows averaged 49.4 degrees or 2.6 degrees below normal, with the lowest being 41 degrees Monday.

The May weather summary follows, with a surplus of temperature and rain.



There was some rain on every day but six during the month. A total of 5.57 inches fell during the month which is 1.86 inches above normal. Wettest day was the 29th with 1.12 inches and next the 4th, with 1.06. There was a ten-day succession of rain, an 8-day and a 7-day which took care of all but the six days without rain.

Temperature-wise the month was 2.9 degrees above normal. Highs averaged 71.9 degrees or 1.6 above normal. The highest was 84 degrees on the 21st. It was 80 or above on four other days at the same time of the month. Coolest day was the 5th when the mercury got up to only 57. Lows averaged 47.5 degrees or 4.2 above normal. Lowest was 34 degrees on the 8th. Mildest morning reading was 58 degrees on the 30th. The mercury dropped into the 30s on six days.

Thunder showers occurred on five days, distributed over the month. Winds were mostly calm to light, but occasionally brisk during the showers.

Sermonette

June is "Marriage Month" for many people around the country...a time to celebrate the occasion of our wedding days.

Peter Marshall said that when two people commit themselves to each other as husband and wife, they are entering "the highest halls of human happiness." Most of us yearn for that state within marriage, and some of us reach moments in our marriages which approach that point of "high joy," but for the most part we do not live in the extreme state of ecstasy. Nor could we. Nor should we.

"Happiness," said C. S. Lewis, "is an American dream. It is not necessarily Christian." Christians are not "happiness seekers." They are givers of happiness. We are happiest when we've made someone else happy. Happiness in marriage is not so much to be sought as to be shared, to be given. When two people work at giving themselves to each other, they are on their way to happiness. Too many marriages fall apart because the thrill is gone, the romance isn't there. So one partner or the other seeks for thrill and romance elsewhere. That's the detour.

When we married, our vows were in terms of commitment, not romance. Commitment through thick and thin, through sickness and health, through poverty and wealth, for better or for worse. And in commitment there is responsibility to work at love, forgiveness, and romance.

We were brought together by God. In His name we decided to say "Yes" to each other. We need to continue saying "Yes" to each other day by day. Let's say "Yes" again during these June anniversary days...so that our marriages might find God's blessing and that we might find again..."the highest halls of human happiness." I commend to your reading that beautiful writing in the Old Testament for a new spark in your marriage, "The Song of Solomon."

Awards were presented to the winners of the first annual rocket contest at Dennett Road School last Friday morning. Principal Clark Sharpless made the awards presentations.

Winners were Dave Callas, first, with a Red Max rocket which amassed 77 out of a possible 100 points and traveled 195 feet high.

In second place was Robert Shahan, whose Gobbler traveled the highest, 783 feet, and amassed 76 points.

Susan Snyder was the only girl to place in this year's contest. Her Gobbler traveled 498 feet and gathered 75 points.

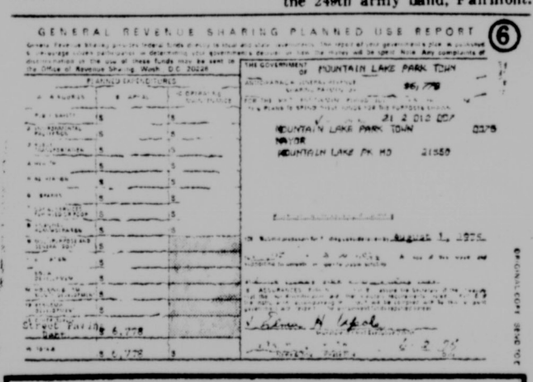
Vincent Lambert's Renegade gained a fourth place for him by traveling 357 feet and winning 75 points.

Roger Naylor and his Andromeda were in fifth place, with 74 points and 300 feet in altitude. Randy Reckner was sixth with 72 points and 783 feet.

Group winners were Gary Heginbotham, Sincle Brown, Gerry Alvero, Mike Layton, Perry Rhodes, Roger Naylor and Paul Warnick. Their Javelin scored 79 points and traveled 210 feet.

Prizes were model rocket kits donated by Arts n' Crafts Centre in Oakland. The first place winner got a complete model rocketry field operations kit with launcher.

Judges for the contest were Clark Sharpless, Bill Lovett, Doris Opel, Leora Larue, and Lenora Schrock, fifth grade teachers, and Lynn Fraley, physical education instructor. Les McDaniel figured altitude with the aid of an altiscope.



Rockets were judged in five categories, each worth 20 points. Categories were appearance, including paint and construction; flight path; electrical efficiency; altitude; and recovery.

IN MEMORIAM

A Father's Day tribute to the memory of Charles Rush, who passed away July 9, 1969.

Death is a Gateway we all must pass through
To reach that Fair Land where the soul's born anew.
For man's born to die and his sojourn on earth
Is a short span of years beginning with birth.
And like pilgrims we wander until death takes our hand.
And we start on our journey to God's Promised Land.
A place where we'll find no suffering nor tears,
Where TIME is not counted by days, months or years.
And in this Fair City that God has prepared
Are unending joys to be happily shared,
With all of our loved ones who patiently wait
On Death's Other Side to open "The Gate!"

So dearly loved and so sadly missed by His Wife,
His Children, and
His Grandchildren

—Adv. 15-1t.

IN MEMORIAM

A Father's Day tribute to the memory of Charles Rush, who passed away July 9, 1969.

Death is a Gateway we all must pass through
To reach that Fair Land where the soul's born anew.
For man's born to die and his sojourn on earth
Is a short span of years beginning with birth.
And like pilgrims we wander until death takes our hand.
And we start on our journey to God's Promised Land.
A place where we'll find no suffering nor tears,
Where TIME is not counted by days, months or years.
And in this Fair City that God has prepared
Are unending joys to be happily shared,
With all of our loved ones who patiently wait
On Death's Other Side to open "The Gate!"

So dearly loved and so sadly missed by His Wife,
His Children, and
His Grandchildren
—Adv. 15-1t.

Happy 100th

Her papa was a carpenter and helped work on some of the buildings still standing around Oakland. He worked on the house constructed by Gustavas DeLauder near the Lutheran church, and was the only carpenter in town at that time who knew how to construct dormer windows. He also helped with the "gingerbread" trim on the B & O Railroad station in town.

In October, 1882, Miss Leary began attending school at the Oakland Grammar School in Miss Head's class. She can still recall the picture on the cover of her first primer, although she was so advanced that she moved rapidly out of the first primer and up to the third reader. Her older sister Elizabeth had taught her how to read before she began attending school.

She attended school regularly until she was ten, when she returned to Downsville for six months. She returned to Oakland and finished her formal schooling in 1893, after which she relied on summer schools for further education.

Since summer schools required tuition, Miss Leary swept at Oakland Elementary School with the janitor to help earn money for lessons.

She also vividly recalls her joy when she was about eight years old at receiving a whole quarter for a day's gardening work for Mr. Hayden, since that was the first quarter she ever had earned.

In 1890, Miss Leary was one of the participants in the first Decoration Day observance held in Oakland, sponsored by Crook Post, G.A.R. Miss Leary read a selected poem during the program.

When Miss Leary was 11, she and her friend Olive Breen were enticed to the Yough river west of town to see the elephants being watered there and were offered an elephant ride by one of the keepers. They accepted, but had ridden only as far as Shirer's Tin Shop before her grandfather spotted them and ordered them to dismount. Miss Leary almost got a spanking on the way home, since "young ladies do not ride elephants."

Her teaching career actually began at age 13 in Mr. Fringer's private school where she helped younger children to learn to read.

At age 15, she worked for a DeShields family in Cumberland and went to summer schools ten weeks each summer. She remained with them for three years as governess to their three children and then William Hinebaugh requested her to go to the Mt. Lake School. At that time there was no privy for either sex at the school, and Miss Leary boarded the evening train back to Oakland after her first day and insisted to the Board that a privy be installed, and so it was. She worked there for three weeks, then that same year she opened a school at Shield Run near Bayard. Out of her $25 a month she had to pay room and board. To help with expenses, she worked as a bookkeeper for John Paugh, with whose family she boarded. At that time she taught 19 children in the one-room school. Some of the pupils were old enough for the first year of high school but had had no schooling. She got to go home to Oakland Thanksgiving day but did not get home for Christmas that year.

In regard to boarding with the families of children she was teaching, Miss Leary says, "You could not be a snail or a sneak" when you lived with them.

She was at Shield Run one school year before going to work as governess to children of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Johnston, Washington, D. C. While in their employ, she also attended Berlitz School of Languages and obtained her certificates in German and French.

With them, she traveled to their summer home in New Castle, N. H. and then stayed to teach fifth, sixth and seventh grades for one year, returning home in 1901.

In 1902 her grandmother died and she went to Washington county where she taught one year at Spring Grove School with 29 pupils.

In 1904 she began a year's term at Red House where she taught grades one through seven and had 39 pupils. Thursday nights four boys would stay after school for tutoring in algebra and geometry.

In 1905 she taught at Fairview school where she had all grades in a one-room school, then she returned to Red House for three years.

A move to Hutton was made in 1910, when she taught for two years as a teaching principal. Her grandmother Carney became ill at this time and she spent four years taking care of her in Fairmont until her death. In 1916 she taught school in Oakland Elementary school, beginning with 32 third graders and adding 20 more when another teacher left and her children were moved into Miss Leary's room, which is now occupied by Mrs. Pat Bray at Center Street School.

A serious operation slowed her down temporarily in 1916, when her sister Bets took over her teaching chores part of one year.

A trip to Colorado for a two year teaching sojourn in Dillon and Kremmling took place in 1918, and is one of the highlights of her life. Miss Leary loved the country and its people, and says it was all "just grand." She clearly remembers her little mare she rode the two miles to school, and recalls that the horse would not stay tied and often would come peer in the schoolroom windows.

Between 1920 and 1937 she taught at Oakland Elementary school. In 1923, she became teaching principal and held that position until 1933 when she taught seventh grade.

In '34 she began working with a special class consisting of third grade repeaters, fourth graders who were accelerated and fifth graders who needed to make up work to maintain their fifth grade level.

Even after retirement in 1937, Miss Leary worked tutoring children for many years.

In addition to local summer sessions taught by teachers in this county, Miss Leary also attended Keymar Institute in Hagerstown, Frostburg State College school, Towson college and Johns Hopkins summer schools.

Her time since retirement has been spent "about the house, keeping house," working in the yard, visiting relatives, watching television, and playing canasta with baby sister Ann Miesenbach, who is 92. Although lately Miss Leary spends most of her time on the second floor of their Center Street home, she is still spry and takes care of her personal hygiene and her own room, even signing her own checks and handling finances. On Sundays, the sisters take turns reading a Bible lesson and doing prayers. Formerly a devout Presbyterian, Miss Leary is now a member of St. Mark's Lutheran Church and looks forward to Pastor Richard Seaks bringing her communion.

Her dedication to her job, church, family and community has been a fine example for former students for many years, and each year since her 95th birthday she is presented with a money tree in remembrance by a group of ten. She is truly an inspiring woman to have earned such dedication, and knowing her is a joy not to be forgotten.

Happy birthday, Miss Leary!

How Negro Mt. Was Named Is Related

How Negro Mountain in this county received its name is recounted in Sunday's Centennial Edition of the Cumberland Evening Times of June 8.

It related:

"Although a prominent black man or woman was never figured in its history, Garrett County has a Negro Mountain. The mountain took its name from Col. Thomas Cresap's slave, Nemesis by name, who was killed on it in an engagement with Shawnee Indians.

"Tradition relates that Nemesis was included in a party of settlers in pursuing a war party of Shawnees who had been raiding settlers in the Western Maryland, West Virginia areas following Braddock's ill-fated expedition on Fort Duquesne.

"The party had followed the Indians to the area west of the present-day Grantsville when Nemesis saw one Shawnee poised to kill Cresap with a rifle shot. The black man jumped into the line of fire when the Shawnee's flintlock boomed, with Nemesis taking the ball in his chest to save Cresap.

"Ever since the mountain on which the black slave sacrificed his life has been known as Negro Mountain."

Local Baseballers Lose To Keyser

Everett split a doubleheader with Romney Sunday afternoon, winning 2 to 1 and then losing 4 to 2 to cling to the top spot in the Pen Mar baseball league.

In the other doubleheader Keyser evened its record at 4-4 by sweeping a twinbill from winless Oakland 5 to 4 and 5 to 3.

At. McHenry Pazzalo doubled in a pair of runs and Mark Tysinger and Jerry Mahoney shared four hits as Keyser used a two run sixth inning to top the Mountain Top nine in the opener. Ernie Shotwell doubled and singled for the losers.

In the second game Stan Safran and Tysinger stroked a double and single each and Mahoney turned in a seven hitter for the sweep.

Speicher, Chuck Igram and Jim Bosley rapped a pair of hits each for Oakland in the second game. Paul Lewis, in relief in the first inning, allowed just two hits over the remainder of the game but the four run first inning had secured the victory.

Shotwell and Ingram pitched in the first game. Brady and Lewis pitched in the second.

This Saturday the Oakland nine will play a double header at Everett, and on Sunday the team will play Mt. Savage on the local diamond at Garrett Community college, McHenry.

Dividing With The World

Current news tells us that one billion dollars yearly has been pledged by our presidents as a beginning fund for food in needy nations. At last, a leader has virtually pledged himself to charitable principles. As Kissinger went on to clarify the promise, "A world order in which tens of millions starve and millions more are undernourished will never be accepted as just."

Josue de Castro, who wrote "The Geography of Hunger," agrees that we can naturally defeat hunger. He rebels against the theory of Malthus, that at one time the world will be overpopulated and so, consequently, hungry. He advises readers that it is the skeletons of advanced societies which are marked with signs of hunger and lack of proper diet, not the bones from groups which have been regarded as less affluent. From this we see that man's collected wealth and the problem of distributing it, not the struggle to obtain riches, ultimately brings on the problems similar to those now being sensed by international concerns. De Castro defines the solution in a basic concern and sharing of privileges by the earth's people; in this manner, we can eliminate true hunger.

But this may be a concept long in learning, for we know how difficult is the task of real unselfishness. We give a child a carrot or piece of jelly bread, and then we laughingly say, "Give me a bite," and interpret his refusal to share as selfishness. However, we must theorize and admit that the child has a basic animal behavior and must be trained to give a portion of his food to another.

Roberto Acuna, a Chicano who was interviewed by Studs Terkel for his book on working people, brings home the fact that it is actually de-humanizing for people to refuse to share. He says that his family, one of vegetable harvesters, was asked to bring vegetables to a church bazaar. He then elaborates, "After we got the stuff there, the only people havin' a good time were the rich people because they were the only ones that were buyin' the stuff."

The desire for being generous to fellow humans is one which lies latent unless one motivates himself to action. And this always brings to mind some days in western Maryland when it was not possible to have all the treats one wanted. Such a good sharing it was, each Tuesday when factory workers were paid, and a generous lady in our family brought home a pint, not a half gallon, of ice cream, so that we each had a valued portion. That dessert was more appreciated than fancy peach parfaits of today.

Perhaps the world is awakening to the real value of ethics. And one day will come the comprehension of Sir James Russell Lowell's idea of what embellishes giving. "Not what we give, but what we share, For the gift without the giver is bare."

SPORTS Go-Round

by Larrie Weaver

The rule with Greek Wrestlers was to secure three throws before the victory was decided. The wrestlers were accustomed to rub their bodies with oil in the belief that they secured a greater pliancy of limb, and doubtless also to check excessive perspiration. Of course, it was difficult to grasp each other firmly, owing to the coating of oil, so they were required to roll in the dust of the stadium, or to be sprinkled with fine sand kept for that purpose at Olympia.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I am a mother of five children who have been and are being educated in the Garrett public school system and I can no longer sit back and listen to the anti-groups and persons who continually harass the School Board and the Committee on Family Education without coming to their defense. These people are very much interested in the welfare and good of the school system. No specific church group has a monopoly on "heaven". All are concerned with betterment of our county and our children. I can't understand why so many citizens are against everything progressive and spend their time fighting instead of doing constructive work. Granted Communism can be a threat, but we would all be better off if we would stick to Christ's command to "go forth and spread the gospel".

I have read ads and letters which I feel are misinterpreted and misconstrue facts. Since returning from the National PTA convention, we had better hear some statistics presented there; that three of every four teenage marriages end in divorce, plus numerous pregnancies and abortions among young girls. We don't need to leave the county to find that this is true. They didn't learn these things in our schools. Their education sex-wise started in first grade when some ill informed eager first grader took them aside and told them what all they knew. Why don't we wake up to the fact that we need some education in this line to help prevent these unfortunate situations. Ignorance is no excuse.

I feel fortunate in having raised our children on a farm where they could learn first hand about breeding and birth of animals. They learned about God's wonderful nature. Many children have not had this opportunity to learn about the beautiful part of reproduction but have only had second-hand dirty information which can be more harmful than any class taught in any school.

We should keep in mind that committee members working on this facet of education are also interested in all of the children. Let's start thinking positively about our schools and county and stop being "anti" everything.

Mrs. Robert (Ruth) Glotfelty

When you know how to use the new long distance rates, talk is cheap.

There are some things that take only a minute to say. Happy birthday. Hello. I miss you.

And now when you take just a minute, you also save.

Because now with the new interstate rates, you're charged for just the minute or two you actually use. Instead of the first three, like before.

What it means to you is this:

During the day you can call all the way to Los Angeles, talk for a minute, and pay just 56¢.

Talk for two minutes, and it's just 96¢.

Or save even more by calling at night or on the weekend.

Then one minute is only 22¢. Each additional minute, only 16¢.

When everything else seems to be costing you more, you can still save.

Just keep this coupon handy, take a minute, and dial direct.

OPERATOR-ASSISTED THREE-MINUTE RATES

STATION-TO-STATION Full rates apply at all times. First 3 minutes $1.95

PERSON-TO-PERSON Full rates apply at all times. First 3 minutes $3.55

Additional minutes cost less than the first minute.

Dial-direct rates apply on all interstate calls (excluding Alaska) completed from a residence or business phone without operator assistance. They also apply on calls placed with an operator from a residence or business phone where dial-direct facilities are not available. For dial-direct rates to Hawaii, check your operator. Dial-direct rates do not apply to person-to-person, coin, hotel-guest, credit card or collect calls, or to calls charged to another number, because an operator must assist on such calls.

A PITTSBURGH MAN failed to stop for a red light at Third and Alder Streets in Oakland Friday about 6 p.m. and crunched into the car in the center of the above photograph. Anthony J. Hoelzle, Pittsburgh, was headed south on Third when he struck the car operated by Willard Thornton Sheally, Route 1, Oakland. There were no injuries. City police Sgt. Hobart Shillingburg investigated.

Three Hospitalized In Sunday Wreck

Three persons were admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital after the pickup in which they were riding struck a tree on Paradise Point road late Sunday.

Charles Harvey, RD 4, Deer Park, one of the passengers was listed in satisfactory condition yesterday morning at the hospital. Kenneth P. Niner, operator of the pickup, and the other passenger, Jeffrey Gosnell, both of Star Route, Oakland, were discharged previously.

Niner was headed east on Paradise Point road near the Zeddock Miller road about 5:15 p.m. when he noticed an oncoming vehicle. Due to the narrow road the operation went off the right side, lost control and struck a tree near the road. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater charged Niner with operating an unsafe vehicle.

Mark Douglas Bylan, Deer Park, driving south on Sand Flat road near the Pergin Farm road, came out of a left hand turn in the roadway, lost control of the car, went off the right side of the road and struck an embankment and tree. Tfc. Broadwater charged him also with operating an unsafe vehicle.

At Church Workshop

Four members of St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland, attended a training workshop last week for a forthcoming GIFT program to take place in the parish this coming fall.

GIFT stands for Growth In Faith Together. It is primarily an adult religious education program.

Attending the workshop last Friday and Saturday were: Rev. Martin E. Feild, pastor, Chairman and Executive Secretary of the program; Miss Margaret Boyle, Reflection Group Director; Joseph Shorb, Catechetical Director, and Benjamin B. Thorn, Continuing Response Coordinator. Clarence Stem, Publicity Director, was not able to attend the workshop, which was held in Sparks, Md.

Two Are Bitten By Dogs Last Week

Members of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department answered two dog bite calls during the past week.

On June 8, James Garner, Jr., 11, of Rock Lodge Road, McHenry, was bitten by a German Shepherd dog and was taken to the hospital for treatment.

Deputy John Leitz located the dog and owner, Blair Buckel, also Rock Lodge Road, on June 10 and the animal has been tied up for the next ten days to determine whether he might possibly have rabies.

Mrs. Elsie Green, Marsh Hill Road, was bitten twice on the backs of her legs by a dog Tuesday, June 10. Mrs. Green was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment and that dog, property of George Parker, also has been incarcerated for ten days.

Chief Deputy Frank Finch advises anyone who is bitten severely by a dog to contact the sheriff's office so that the dog may be located and penned for ten days. He also advises that owners are liable for damages to clothing and for hospital fees incurred by their pets.

Some jobless say pet food is good nourishment for them.

Educational Grants Now Available

The U.S. Office of Education recently announced that the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant will be made available to part-time as well as full-time students, according to J. W. Janssen, Dean of Students, Garrett Community College, McHenry. The BEOG is an outright grant of money by U.S.-O.E. to eligible students for meeting the costs of college and associated living expenses.

The grants are awarded on the basis of income level. Generally persons with an income of $12,000 or less are eligible. The lower the income, the higher the grant amount. The grants may range from $200 to $1400 depending upon income level, educational costs, and numbers of hours for which enrolled.

Dr. Janssen stated that the BEOG could be used to cover educational expenses for the GCC Summer Session and or the coming Fall and Spring semesters. Applications should be submitted as soon as possible. BEOG aplications are available at the high school counseling office or at GCC. The forms are mailed by the applicant directly to an agency for processing. The only application cost is that of a stamp for mailing.

Members of Cub Scout Pack 70, Mt. Lake Park, sponsored by Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias, held their soap box derby Sunday afternoon, June 8, at 1 o'clock, at Southern High School. Others participating included Curtis Jenson, Chris Callis, Billy Reall, Scott Germain, Chris Bentley and Chip Rowan.

Members of the Southern Rescue Squad stood by during the race, and Paul DeWitt, county roads administrative engineer, also assisted.

Board To Hear Teacher Grievance

A hearing was set for this afternoon, Thursday, June 12, before the Board of Education on a teacher grievance filed February 19, according to Tom Shaffer, MSTA field representative for Western Maryland.

The grievance hearing is in accordance with the negotiated agreement between the County Teachers Association and the School Board.

Shaffer said that around February 12 the teacher made some verbal remarks in the school corridor that prompted a conference with the school principal that same day.

He said several matters were discussed, including the principal's judgment that such remarks were detrimental to teacher morale in the school.

Mr. Shaffer represented the teacher at a conference with Dr. William Buser, county superintendent of schools. The case was then appealed to the Board of Education.

Representing the teacher at the board hearing this afternoon will be James Whattan, attorney for the Maryland State Teachers Association. Superintendent's counsel will be W. Dwight Stover. Attorney for the school board is Ralph Burnett.

Mr. Shaffer did not state the name of the teacher involved. When Dr. Buser was contacted he said since Mr. Shaffer had not named the teacher he preferred not to mention it either and preferred not to make any additional comment until after the hearing.

Further appeal to the State Board of Education is provided by Maryland State School law, if that action is desired.

For centuries men have been using nets to reap the rich harvest of the sea. There is a classic rhythm to the saga of the sea and fishermen. It is a tale filled with danger and persistence—success and failure. Indeed, it is very much akin to life itself.

You may not have to wrest your living from the sea, but you can learn a lesson from those who do. Fishermen the world around are, for the most part, devout folk. They've learned the meaning of faith. They know God. Seldom will you see even the smallest harbor town without a church. There men—and the women who wait for them—go to pray.

Have you been to your church lately?

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

KOINONIA

Lesson for June 15, 1975

Background Scripture: Jeremiah 26:1-6; Luke 24:13-27, 44-49; John 20:30-31; John 1:1-4, 14.
Devotional Reading: John 5:39-47

In the Greek New Testament there frequently occurs a word for which there is no adequate equivalent. The word is koinonia (COIN-o-NEE-uh) and most often it is translated as "fellowship," although that term is quite inadequate. The word "koinonia" implies partnership, sharing, friendship, mutual participation, communion, and relationship. As William Barclay puts it, koinonia "is that bond which binds Christians to each other, to Christ and to God."

Rev. Althouse

"...Fellowship with us..."

In a sense, the Bible is a koinonia. The writer of I John speaks of his epistle in this manner: "...that which we have seen and heard we proclaim also to you, so that you may have fellowship (koinonia) with us..." (I John 1:3).

Each of the various writers of the Bible had experiences in which they encountered God. Their biblical writings are an attempt to express and share with us those encounters. Their purpose is not just to tell us about those experiences, but to help us enter in to their experiences and encounter God for ourselves.

When the writers of Genesis write of creation and the story of Adam and Eve, they are attempting to help us to feel the same sense of awe and wonder in God's presence which they felt. When the writer of I Kings tells us an episode from the history of Israel, he wants us to experience, just as he does, the presence of God working in the affairs of men.

"...That you may believe..."

When the Psalmist sets down his testimony of faith, he wants us to share personally in his moment of inspiration. When the prophet records his warnings to the people of Israel, he wants us to feel the same sense of God's judgement that he feels. When the writer of one of the gospels records for us the words and actions of Jesus, he does so that we might encounter the Lord for ourselves.

This is what John says about the purpose of his gospel:

Now Jesus did many other signs in the presence of the disciples, which are not written in this book; but these are written that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing you may have life in his name (John 20:31).

The writer of John, therefore, wants to share his experience with us, not just that we may know about it, but so that, in a sense, we may live it with him. The purpose is not to teach us history—what dates and events—nor is it to lay us rules, regulations, or even a philosophy. The purpose is to give us an opportunity to let God speak to us about our problems, our concerns, and our lives.

The term "The Word of God," then, is not simply what we receive when we read a book, but the living experience of God himself, who speaks through our koinonia with those who produced the book we call the Bible.

When Baby Goes On Vacation

Packing for vacation probably isn't high on anyone's list of "like to do" — and a baby may seem to complicate matters. However, being organized and refusing to take more than is needed will simplify both packing and traveling.

First consider where you are going, for how long and how you will get there. Then make a list by categories of things baby will need. Try to put items aside in advance. Keep a separate list of things to pack at the last minute, such as vitamin drops and a favorite toy.

Purchase containers of powder, lotion, cream, cotton and other necessities — enough to last the whole trip. Discuss with the doctor any medications you should have on hand and prepare a "first aid" kit for baby. Be sure to include a thermometer and baby aspirin — just in case.

Taking clothing that is comfortable, washable either in a basin of suds or at a launderette and requires no ironing. Doing mini-laundry frequently is better than packing many outfits.

Generally speaking, it is wise to use the same products on the road as at home to avoid any possible reactions. This is especially true with formula and food. Plan to take an adequate supply for baby to allow for any unforeseen delay in arriving at your destination. if traveling light is a factor, try to check in advance if the brand of formula is available at your vacation spot.

Disposables — diapers in particular — are a boon to traveling with a baby. Moist towelettes are also useful.

Pack a diaper bag or large over-the-shoulder type bag with the things baby will need for the trip itself. Include changes of clothing along with diapers, medications, toiletries, food, a toy or two, waterproof pad and "burp"-cloths.

Traveling by car allows space for extras, such as a portable crib. However, be sure you have and use a safety seat for baby. If traveling by air, alert the airline in advance. They generally make special efforts to help with boarding and deplaning as well as providing feeding and changing facilities. For train and bus travel, ask about accommodations and rest stops.

Back To Bible Preaching

The spoken word is a powerful instrument. That is why freedom of speech is found in the Bill of Rights. The truth, freely spoken, is an instrument of righteousness so great God can use it as His power of salvation (Rom. 1:16).

Evangelists are the men God has provided to proclaim His will (Eph. 4:11), and to them He has one order: "Preach the Word" (2 Tim. 4:2).

God has placed His saving power in the Gospel. Faith in it is necessary and obedience to it is demanded (2 Thess. 1:7-9).

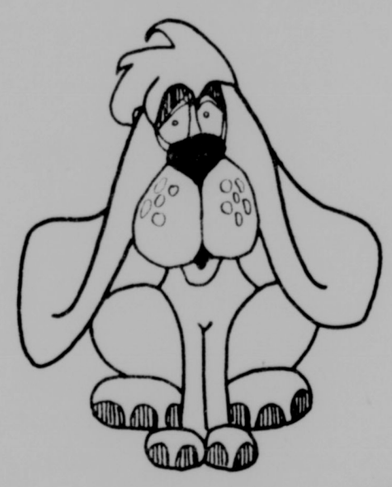
God has ordained that this saving power be exerted through preaching (Mark 16:15). So thorough were the efforts of early Christians that Paul wrote in Col. 1:23, "the gospel has been preached in all creation under heaven."

Through their preaching the apostles became the most powerful figures in their day. But preaching soon failed when the apostles died. A church liturgy grew up that stifled preaching. It was not until the early part of the 12th century that men began to do the kind of preaching that is attributed to the seed sowing that led to the reformation.

Toward the end of the 19th century American pulpits were aflow with Scripture quotations by men who believed they could justify their doctrines by the Bible.

In the 20th century modernism moved into the pulpit, destroying the power of the pulpit message. This hyper-critical attitude began to question the authority of everything without weighing the evidence.

The social gospel took the place of the gospel of salvation. Preachers laid emphasis on help in the here and now because they had strong doubts about life after death. What preaching that is heard from these pulpits never deals with such things as sin, the blood of Christ, salvation and the deity of Christ - except to deny them.



Another type of preaching that is a departure from the gospel is political preaching. The modernists uses political themes for what he calls "social betterment". Using subjects of world characters, they move from one to another, as each one fails, to herald the approaching day of Christ.

If we are interested in feeding the souls of men we MUST get back to Bible preaching. We must realize that the truth is only to be found in the Gospel. The church of Christ stands squarely on the Gospel of Christ, obedient to His mandate to preach the Gospel, and that gospel alone (Mark 16:15; I Cor. 2:2-5; Gal. 1:8-10; 2 John 9).

WHY should we limit ourselves to Bible preaching in the pulpit? First, there are other times and places when political integrity and social betterment can be taught. Second, people are HUNGRY to hear the Bible. Very little Bible is used in the pulpits of our land today. We should feed the soul properly, by preaching exactly what the Bible says.

Modernism and traditionalism will pass away, but the Gospel of Christ will remain (Matt. 24:35).

W. Md. Sites Added To National Register

Four Western Maryland historic sites have been added to the National Register of Historic Places, according to the Maryland Historical Trust, an agency of the Department of Economic and Community Development.

One of those is in this county, two in Allegany and one in Washington county.

Listed for this county is "Hoye Site," a prehistoric Indian village occupied from ca. A.D. 1000-1500. This is the southernmost late prehistoric village known in the Youghiogheny drainage area. This site is the only known late woodland occupation in this county which has not been extensively disturbed by construction or excavations.

The three other sites listed: Barton Indian village, Allegany county; Shawnee Old Fields village, Allegany county; Elliott-Bester house, Washington county.

By
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks:

What is the status of the Emergency Unemployment and Special Unemployment Assistance Extension Act.

The measure has passed the House of Representatives and is currently pending before the Senate.

As a member of the House Interior Committee, perhaps you can tell me how I go about obtaining a conservation yearbook?

The Department of Interior Conservation Yearbook Series is now in its tenth year. During this time the publication has served as a means of informing the public about various environmental issues from grassroots efforts in conservation to reports on minerals, land and water. The latest Yearbook examines our dependence on natural resources and some of the choices America must consider in the years ahead. You may order your copy by sending a check for $4.95 to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. 20402.

Could you please use your column to encourage employers with job openings to list their available positions with the local Maryland Department of Employment Security office?

In order to aid Sixth District residents currently seeking permanent or part-time employment, employers may list their job availabilities at these Employment Security locations: Allegany County—239 North Mechanic Street, Cumberland, Telephone 722-1930; Baltimore County—311 East Pennsylvania Avenue, Towson, Telephone 823-3300; Carroll County—25 Liberty Street, P. O. Box 270, Westminster, Telephone 848-9440; Frederick County—22 West Church Street, P. O. Box 700, Frederick, Telephone 662-2166; Garrett County—216 East Alder Street, P. O. Box 208, Oakland, Telephone 334-2183; Howard County—Joseph Square, Columbia, Telephone 730-1985; Washington County—401 East Antietam Street, P. O. Box 1099, Hagerstown, Telephone 733-0100.

How do you size up the feeling in your district as far as gas rationing goes?

My last questionnaire showed a 2-to-1 opposition to gas rationing by Central and Western Maryland citizens.

I applied in March for social security but was told that I would not get my check until June. Do I still receive that $50 special payment?

Yes. Under the Tax Reduction Act of 1975 you need only have applied for social security before April 1 and have received a check for the month of March no later than August 31.

Senior Citizens Planning Picnic Wed., July 16

A picnic will be held for Senior Citizens in Garrett County Wednesday, July 16, at Herrington Manor State Park.

Senior Citizens over 60 will be admitted to the park free, provided they display the canary yellow discount card or one of the State Park passes.

The picnic luncheon, prepared by the staffs of the county's hot meals program headed by Mrs. Vivian Tasker, will be served at noon.

The picnic, planned by the county's Senior Citizens Program, sponsored by Garrett County Community Action Committee and the Commission on Aging will include various entertainment throughout the afternoon including a musical concert, hiking, nature programs and fellowship.

A similar picnic last year drew nationwide attention for Garrett County because of the outstanding cooperation of the state park headed by Superintendent Charles Thomas who freed his staff that day to assist.

W. Dale Ellis, director of Senior Citizens Programs, said some 500 Senior Citizens are expected to attend but he pointed out that reservations must be made at one of the hot meals centers, Crellin, Jennings or Kitzmiller or through a form published in the June 12 edition of The Republican. The deadline for reservations for the picnic must be made by June 30th.

Ellis explained that reservations are needed to determine how much food to prepare and the number of activities to hold.

Bowser-Wolford Nuptials Exchanged Saturday, May 10

Weding vows were exchanged by Bonnie Sue Wolford and George Henry Bowser II on Saturday, May 10, at 2:00 p.m.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Issac K. Metzler, grandfather of the groom, in Glade Mennonite Church near Bittinger. Organist was Miss Sheila Buckel, playing selections chosen by the bride and groom as well as the traditional marches.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Wolford, 412 Park St., Frostburg. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George H Bowser, route 1, Accident.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore the traditional wedding gown of re-embroidered Chantilly lace and crystal sheer. The bodice of lace had a scoop neckline and Bishop sleeves. The A-line skirt of crystal sheer swept to a chapel train. The elbow-length veil made of triple layers of bridal illusion and affixed to a Juliet cap of Venice lace trimmed with pearls and crystals. The bride carried a bouquet of seven cascading gardenias with the center gardenia as a liftout corsage.

Mrs. Hazel Gaumer, sister of the groom, Greensburg, Pa., was matron of honor. Her full-length gown of yellow crepe was flocked with white daisies. She carried an arm bouquet of daisies. A headpiece of shoulder-length yellow bridal illusion was worn to match the dress.

Bridesmaids were Miss Donna Pope of Finzel and Mrs. Mary Jane Wiland of Cresaptown. Their dresses of green flocked crepe and headpieces matched those of the matron of honor. The flowers of both bridesmaids were also arm bouquets of daisies.

Wayne Gaumer, Greensburg, was his brother-in-law's best man. Ushers were Harry Wolford, brother of the bride, Frostburg, and Harry Stephen, cousin of the groom, Bel Air.

A reception immediately following the ceremony was held in the church basement. Mrs. Lenny Michaels and Mrs. Bess Miller, aunts of the bride, served the cake. Mrs. Adeline Wolford, another aunt of the bride, served punch. Helping with the coffee was Mrs. Wanda Richardson, also aunt of the bride. Assisting in the kitchen were Mrs. Janet Brenneman and Mrs. Anna Yoder.

For a trip to West Virginia the bride wore a light blue pantsuit with matching accessories.

The bride, a graduate of Beall High School, was employed by D. J. Fabrics in LaVale.

A graduate of Northern High School, Mr. Bowser is employed by M. F. Fetterolf Coal Company.

The couple resides at Rt. 1, Box 153 B, Grantsville.

New Telephone Directories Are Being Delivered

More than 10,000 new telephone directories for Garrett County will be delivered during the next two weeks.

A. W. Meyer, C&P Telephone manager, said that as a paper-saving measure each household will receive one directory. In the past, the quantity corresponded to the number of phones in the home.

Customers who need more directories may request them by returning the postcard left with their new books, or by calling their local C&P business office. Businesses will continue to receive one directory for each telephone, or a quantity agreed upon with the customer.

"We're trying to tailor the distribution of directories to meet the needs and desires of our customers," Mr. Meyer said. "At the same time, we have to face the reality that we cannot continue to obtain supplies of paper at our former rate of consumption."

Mr. Meyer reminded customers to check the phone book for important up-dated information.

"When you need a telephone number or you want to know something about your service, turn to your phone book," he suggested. "You may actually be surprised at how much it can help you."

Here are some of the items in this directory: Revised emergency numbers and the addition of a number for the Poison Control Center listed on the inside front cover; Space for a personal number list on page 1 of the Call Guide; A new location listed for paying telephone bills; Updated information about several important aspects of telephone service in the Call Guide; Tips on how to use the white pages to find listings more quickly and easily.

The cover story tells how the black and orange flower came to Maryland.

ACP Signup Deadline Nears

Sign up deadline for county farmers for the 1975 Agricultural Conservation program has been set at Friday, June 27, according to Granville P. Halterman, director.

Cost shares are from 50 to 75 percent of the cost of carrying out approved soil, water and woodland conservation practices. ACP helps farmers solve conservation problems in several broad practice groups, he said. He listed these as: establish protective cover; improve existing protective cover; conserve or dispose of water; improve stands of forest trees and meet special county conservation needs. The ACP also helps provide required technical service for certain practices.

He said funds were still available for conservation needs. Detailed information may be obtained from the county ASCS office on U.S. route 219, North of Oakland.

2 Bear Sightings Reported In Area

The bears are roaming again.

Two reports of black bear sightings have been made this week, one at Rock Lodge Road and the second at Bradley Lane, Oakland, to Members of the Natural Resource Police.

The first sighting was about 4:45 p.m. Sunday on the Rock Lodge Road, reported by James Garner. The bear probably came from the Cherry Creek cove area and was seen near the state by-water area.

There was also a report of a bear in the area behind Bradley Lane early Monday afternoon, but wildlife officers were unable to catch sight of either animal.

Residents along Bradley Lane saw the animal go across a lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ruckert and onto the town Property and up into the woods again.

Natural resource police advise citizens who spot a bear to leave the animal alone and not attempt to feed, pet or otherwise disturb it.

The Natural Resource Police also were called to inform a nude swimmer in the Hooppole area of an imminent arrest unless she put on a swim suit, and to search for a man reported missing at Deep Creek State Park at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Park rangers had conducted a search until 8:30 p.m. and were planning to call an all-out search effort when they were informed that the "lost" man, Richard Anderson, had returned to his home in Martinsburg, W. VA., without advising other members of his camping party.

Three Teachers Are Listed As "Outstanding"

Three teachers from Center Street Elementary School in Oakland have been selected as Outstanding Elementary Teachers of America for 1975.

Chosen were Linda Kay Fearnow, Mary Martha "Pat" Bray, and Helen Sollars Friend.

These three are now in competition for one of five national outstanding Elementary Teachers of the Year awards. Each national winner will receive a $506 grant and an award commemorating their selection.

Guidelines for selection for this honor include an educator's talents in the classroom, contributions to research, administrative abilities, civic service and professional recognition.

A complete biography and record of achievements of each outstanding teacher is presented yearly in the awards volume, "outstanding Elementary Teachers of America."

Agreement Reached In Teacher Grievance Suit

An agreement was reached between the parties involved in a teacher grievance suit heard last week before the Board of Education.

H. Lynn Fraley, teacher at Dennett Road School.. had claimed that a letter to him from Clark Sharpless, principal at the school, reprimanded him, which is against the rules of the negotiated agreement between the County Teachers Association and the school board.

In the agreement reached last Thursday, the grievances listed were to be withdrawn in return for the letter from Mr. Sharpless being placed in a sealed envelope which may be opened only with the concurrent approval of Mr. Sharpless, Mr. Fraley and the superintendent of schools.

LOST CHILD LOCATED — Two-year-old Michael John Wenham, Joppa, was found about 7:30 p.m. Friday after being lost in the woods near Lake Forest Campgrounds for five hours. A coordinated effort by four fire departments, the sheriff's department, Maryland State Police, two rescue squads and Natural Resource Police culminated in the successful rescue effort when Don Ringer, a Northern Rescue Squad member, found the child. Pictured above are Jim McCartney, member of the Deer Park Volunteer fire company; Terry King, also a member of the Deer Park crew, little Michael, and Sheriff John Evans, Jr.

School Budget Cuts Hurt, Buser Says

The announcement by the Garrett County Commissioners last week on the Board of Education Budget will cause budget cuts that "hurt," according to Dr. William H. Buser, Superintendent of Schools.

Herbert Harman, Board of Education President, indicated it would be very difficult to cut an additional $348,110 from a school budget which has already been cut about $513,000 by the school board and staff.

In response to the cut the school board adopted the following resolution at their meeting Thursday, June 12.

"The Garrett County Board of Education FY 1976 Budget Request of the County Commissioners from the local appropriation was $818,110 adtracted expenditures. Based on the Board's feeling that the an increase in the local appropriation of $470,000. This action in effect means the Board of Education will be cutting its FY 1976 Budget by Approximately $348,110.

"With the magnitude of this cut the Board directs the superintendent to make major cuts in supplies, materials, equipment, number of employees, and contracted expendituress. Based on the Board's feeling that the employee salary requests were reasonable and established in good faith with them, the Board directs that the salary reductions for employees be kept to a minimum. The salary cuts for employees should reflect the principles used in evolving the original salary schedules."

Daily meetings have been in progress with the Board of Education staff looking for ways to implement the cuts. A meeting has been held with the leadership of the Garrett County Teachers' Association and special Board of Education meetings will be held to best plan the utilization of the additional available funds.

Currently it appears that cuts will be made in additional administrative and supervisory requests and a number of teaching vacancies will not be filled. The Board of Education will also need to weigh the amount of reduction in personnel as opposed to funding salary packages of employees as planned.

Dr. Buser said he felt this backward step was being brought about by (1) the failure of the State to maintain its percentage share of funding, (2) the authorization by the County Commissioners last year to spend Board of Education reserves that are not available this year, and (3) the unwillingness of the County Commissioners to grant additional local funds.

Women Voters To Hold Meet Monday

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County will hold two meetings Monday, June 23.

The 9:30 a.m. meeting will be held at the home of Jane Ducoli on Lake Shore Drive and the evening meeting will be held at 7:30 at the home of Patricia Peck on Tenth Street, Oakland.

The discussion will focus on the succession of the offices of President and Vice President of the U.S. and will be led by Mary I. Love, chairman of the Representative Government Committee, and members of the committee, Dorothy Janney and Eugene Straub.

Both meetings are open to the public and interested persons are welcome to attend.

Roads Group To Decide On Route 42 This Summer

The State Highway Administration is hoping to have a decision sometime this summer on what it will do to improve Maryland Route 42 in this county.

John D. Bushby, district 6 engineer, said the alternatives being considered for the project are now being reviewed.

A public hearing which would affect Route 42 from its point at U. S. Route 219 to relocated Route 42, south of Friendsville, was held at Friendsville elementary school in April. Following the hearing two state legislators and the County Commissioners asked the SHA to merely upgrade the highway rather than select a new alignment.

The request was made to Mr. Bushby by Sen. Edward J. Mason, Delegate DeCorsey E. Bolden and commissioners Don S. Bender, George C. Edwards and Wayne B. Hamilton.

While a decision on the project still has not been made it appears likely that the SHA will decide to abide by the legislators' request and improve the road rather than build a new stretch.

Mr. Bushby pointed out that the project is in the SHA's five year program but if a new alignment is decided on it would be after 1980 before the project would actually be funded. If upgraded widening and shoulders and straightening some of the more severe curves would probably be started much sooner.

Friendsville Mayor Karol Rush has asked that the SHA construct the new road which he feels would benefit the area more than the repaired road.

Area Gets More Sunshine During The Past Week

More sunshine was noted in the area during the past week than in recent weeks. Temperatures have been near normal with Summer officially beginning Saturday.

Following last Thursday's .76 inch of rain there has only been small amounts late Saturday and early Monday. Skies have been clear to partly cloudy.

Daytime temperatures averaged 77 degrees or .7 degrees below normal. The highs were 83 degrees on Sunday and Tuesday. Lows averaged 53.1 degrees or 1.1 above normal. The lowest was 47 degrees last Saturday.

Summer begins with the Summer Solstice, Saturday, June 21, at 8:34 p.m. DST. Saturday is the longest day of the year. Days then will start to become shorter until the first day of winter in December.

Other grand lodge officers will participate at the ceremony set for 2:30 p.m. that day.

Potomac Lodge No. 5, of Washington, D. C., will furnish the famous "George Washington Gavel" for the grand master to use in laying the cornerstone. This gavel was used by George Washington to lay the cornerstone of the United States capitol building on September 18, 1793.

Members of Oakland Lodge No. 192, and members of other Masonic bodies will take part.

Deer Park Man Pleads Guilty of Larceny Friday

A Deer Park man pleaded guilty of larceny of shrubbery at a trial in Circuit Court last Friday before Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill, Jr.

Charles Paugh pleaded guilty to larceny of 165 pieces of shrubbery from the Arborvale Corp., Oakland, last February, valued at $825. A charge of receiving stolen goods was dismissed at the trial. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

Cash bond was paid May 23 and is being continued pending the investigation.

Two Juveniles Heard Yesterday

Two juveniles were heard in Circuit Court by Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., yesterday. One was found to be in need of supervision and another a delinquent minor on two charges.

A 16-year-old male was found to be in need of supervision by reason of being disobedient, ungovernable and beyond control of his mother. The court sentenced him to the custody of the Department of Juvenile Services until discharged by due process of the law.

A 17-year-old male was charged in two counts of being delinquent. One was for breaking and entering and the other was possession of a dangerous, concealed weapon. The court committed him to the Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene until released by due process of the law. The office of the Secretary then will assign the youth to the appropriate juvenile institution.

County Holds Tax Levy At $2.73 For 5th Year

For the fifth year in a row, Garrett County commissioners kept the $2.73 tax rate on each $100 of assessed valuation, it was announced yesterday morning.

The commissioners had spent the past several weeks concentrating on various proposed budgets of the various county agencies.

Formal approval for the budget of $7.1 million is expected when the board holds its regular weekly meeting next Monday.

The budget is roughly a $1 million increase over last year's expenditures. Despite that, the commissioners were able to keep the tax rate the same, partly through increased property assessments and partly because of severe pruning of county department requests.

Biggest appropriation in the budget will be for the Board of Education which will receive $2,555,727 next year, a 22 percent increase over the current budget.

The second highest budget allocation is for the highway department, which will be getting $1,837,000 as its share of the new budget. That figure is roughly the same as last year.

Another sizeable expense for the county is the Health Department with $179,000 being allocated there, a slight rise from last year.

The commissioners noted that there are only two new programs in the new budget: $8,044 for the Early Childhood Development program, and funds for construction of a new animal shelter. The childhood program was formerly operated by Community Action agency but is now functioning under the Garrett Community college. A total of $21,000 had been requested from the county for the program but that amount was reduced by nearly two thirds by the commissioners.

Some county departmenta and agencies actually will be getting less revenue this year. Community Action agency's county revenue will drop from $32,000 to $10,000 and the planning department and sheriff's budgets were also reduced. The sheriff's department budget will be $119,838, and the county wil appropriate $9,695 for opration of the county jail.

Garrett Community college's allocation will increase from $220,000 last year to $295,000. County Commissioners' office budget will remain the same except for a slight increase needed for office personnel salary increases. The commissioners' budget represents about one percent of the total county budget.

Also provided for in the new budget are funds for a new asphalt plant needed to continue road improvements. The commissioners said they would like to get a grant for the plant but if that is not possible they still intend to find money to purchase the plant.

The Savage River bridge project which may cost nearly $100,000 more than anticipated, is still not settled. The state is studying the single bid received for the project and a recommendation is expected soon.

The entire levy will be published in the near future.

Lost Child Found Unharmed Friday

Two-year-old Michael John Wenham was found unharmed Friday afternoon following a five-hour search by local fire departments, rescue squads, State Police, the sheriff and Natural Resource Police departments.

The youngster, who will be three next month, had apparently wandered away about 2:30 from Lake Forest Campground where his parents, Frank and Wendy Wenham, of Joppa, were camping.

Firemen from Accident, Deer Park, Deep Creek and Oakland turned out to aid members of the Southern and Northern Rescue Squads on a search mission through the woods. Members of the Maryland State Police also assisted in the search and brought in their K-9 bloodhound from Cumberland, although he was not used.

Don Ringer, of the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad, found the child about 7:30 p.m., approximately one-fourth of a mile from Route 219 and the campgrounds in the vicinity of the Deep Creek Information booth.

The child was in considerably better shape than his parents when found, except for hunger. He had spent the time divided between playing and calling for his mommy. The Wenhams have one younger son.

Browning Heads Election Board

At a reorganizational meeting of the Board of Supervisors of Elections for the county on Tuesday, June 10, George M. Browning was re-elected president. Mr. Browning, Oakland, and William R. Bever, route 1, Swanton, were recently reappointed by Governor Mandel as Democratic members, and Thomas W. Hetz, route 1, Lonaconing was reappointed as Republican member. They will serve a two year term.
